Bell Telephone Bill Land Over Member For South York Leads Fight In House Till General Legislation Gets Thru

Monopoly Enjoys By Company
Defended by Government Supporters, While Others Support Proposal to Compel Interchange of Business.

Ottawa, June 25.—(Special).—The telephone monopoly had an uncomfortable day in the house. W. F. Maclean (South York) compelled the supporters of the Bell Telephone Co. bill to allow their measure to stand over until the general legislation was disposed of. In committee tonight there was a long debate upon the proposition that telephone companies should be compelled to interchange business.

Messrs. W. F. Maclean, Foster, Conmee, Bristol, Sproule, Campbell, and others pleaded against the monopoly, which in turn found strong defenders in Hon. Mr. Fisher and Messrs. Bureau and Gallher.

Mr. Emmerson failed to make good his promise to lead the fight for popular rights in the house. His amendment to the committee report did not improve it a particle. It virtually denied all interchange of business except in impossible cases.

Before the house recessed at 1 o'clock, W. F. Maclean again requested the first minister to permit the bill to stand until the telephone amendments to the Railway Act were disposed of, and warned the government that he and other Conservatives would hold up the bill in committee indefinitely. This led to a conference at the noon-hour, and at 3 o'clock the Bell Company bill was reported, but the same must stand for third reading until the house has passed the general telephone legislation.

General Bill First.
At the morning session, W. F. Maclean objected to the bill being taken up until the house disposed of the pending telephone legislation. The special committee had reported, and he warned the government that he and other Conservatives would hold up the bill in committee indefinitely. This led to a conference at the noon-hour, and at 3 o'clock the Bell Company bill was reported, but the same must stand for third reading until the house has passed the general telephone legislation.

Mr. Fisher insisted that it was best to have the telephone business "under on hand."
Mr. Maclean said parliament could no longer rely upon the assurances of the government. Sir William Mulock, who had made certain pledges and had appointed a special committee which had taken a vast amount of testimony. The premier had repeatedly promised that the telephone legislation now being introduced was not ignoring these assurances.

Mr. Emmerson presented an amendment that but slightly improved, if at all, the one reported by the select committee. It limits the right to interchange and connection between the lines of the same city, town or village.

Dr. Sproule made an earnest appeal for the rights of the farmers and of the rural telephone companies.
Favors Monopoly.

LAURIER AN OPPORTUNIST WIELDS TO PRESBYTERIANS

La Patrie Says Liberty of Subject is Disregarded in Sunday Bill.

Montreal, June 25.—(Special).—La Patrie is out hotfoot against the Sunday observance bill.

"We hope," writes Hon. Mr. Tarte, "that such a Draconic measure will never be adopted. Never has the liberty of the subject been so disregarded. As a matter of fact such a bill would not be accepted in a country governed by the most autocratic methods. There is no government or public man capable of carrying such a measure into force. We are asked how Sir Wilfrid Laurier ever consented to become the champion of so retrograde a measure. We believe that opportunism is one of the things which the prime minister believes in most. A violent pressure has been brought to bear on the cabinet, and particularly upon the prime minister by the alliance. The Presbyterians, who constitute a numerous and respectable element in Ontario and the lower provinces, have dictated to the Liberal party."

Hard to Lead.
"Nothing is so difficult as to lead the Liberal organization in Ontario, and the papers that speak on its behalf to adopt a clear-cut, definite policy on any difficult question. The lack of success of Sir Wilfrid Laurier's partisans in our sister province is due to the fact that they refuse to meet a difficult question face to face. When their opponents question them closely they give way to the disastrous instinct of retreat, which, in their opinion, offers less peril than a hand to hand conflict."

Laurier's Influence.
"And when the fact remains that they are able and diplomatic men in Sir Wilfrid Laurier's entourage who, taking advantage of the influence which he exercises over his constituents from Quebec, exact things which they would never dream of had he less prestige and influence. They think they can make the French Canadians follow him at all times and wherever he chooses to lead. Armed with this conviction they seek the triumph of their particular notions. We are not obliged to cede more than necessary to have equity and equality of rights. The concessions cannot all be supported by the same shoulders."

Won't Do.
La Patrie says that to declare the proposed legislation inacceptable and contrary to all notions of liberty and true citizenship, and should never be inscribed on the agenda of the cabinet. Hon. Mr. Tarte adds that, while they give the promoters of the bill credit for good faith, this measure will never be tolerated."

GETS NOTICE TO QUIT.

License Inspector for West Peterboro Dismissed From Office.
Peterboro, June 25.—(Special).—Geo. Cochrane, for the past twenty years, license inspector for West Peterboro, has received notice from the license department to quit his office on July 1. The Dundee Advertiser says the announcement that the two new C.P.R. boats and the two Allan turbines are to carry mails makes it necessary to have a quicker way of delivering mail. They can be delivered quicker by water. In tonnage, speed and accommodation for passengers the Canadian mail is no longer in subordination to the American.

MURDERED IN ROOF GARDEN FOR "DESERTING THE GIRL"

Prominent New York Architect is Shot Down by Member of High Pittsburg Family While Enjoying Performance—Ruined Girl and Disappointed Life at Bottom of It.

New York, June 25.—Stanford White, the eminent architect, a member of the firm of McKim, Mead & White, was shot to-night and almost instantly killed by Harry Thaw, a member of a prominent Pittsburg family, during the performance of the musical extravaganza, "Mam'selle Champagne," on the roof of the Madison Square Garden. Mr. White died before an ambulance could be summoned, and Thaw was arrested immediately after the shooting.

The Madison Square Roof Garden, which has been closed for several years, was crowded to-night with a fashionable audience. While Harry Thaw, who fills the principal comedy role in the piece, was singing a comic song and the garden was echoing with the laughter and applause of the audience, a series of shots rattled in the rear of the auditorium, and a man in evening dress was seen to fall across a table, at which he was sitting with a party of friends. The man who had fired the shots fled in hand, toward the nearest exit, where he was seized and disarmed by a policeman. Instantly the great audience was thrown into a panic and a wild stampede occurred, during which chairs and tables were overturned and men and women fought with desperation to escape from the roof.

How It Occurred.
Persons in front of the auditorium where the tragedy occurred say that they saw a man, sitting with a fashionably-dressed woman in the rear, suddenly walk down towards a table in front. The first intimation of the trouble came when, walking in front of his seated victim, the man exclaimed: "You've deserted this—you're married!" and drawing an automatic pistol, fired three shots. The first two took effect, but as the third was discharged, the pistol was struck up by a friend on duty in the theatre and the bullet went skyward.

The woman who had been sitting with Mr. White sprang to her feet and, rushing up to his assailant, who was struggling with the fireman, threw her arms about his neck, exclaiming, "I'll stand by you."

Married Actress.
Pittsburg, Pa., June 25.—Harry Kendall Thaw is about 36 years of age, and is the son of the late Wm. Thaw, who was vice-president of the Pennsylvania lines west. He was a graduate of the Western University of Pennsylvania, and when in Pittsburg made his home with his mother at Lyndhurst, Beechwood, Boulevard, in the west end of the city. Since his graduation from college and the attainment of his majority, Thaw has lived little in Pittsburg. Much of his time has been spent abroad, and it was while in Paris that he met Evelyn Nesbit, an actress, whom he afterwards married. Thaw is a brother of the Countess of Yarmouth, who was Alice Thaw.

MAKE CLAUSE MANDATORY BLAKE'S STRONG APPEAL

Debate on Education Bill—Denominations Want Privileges Stated, Not Made Optional.

(Canadian Associated Press Cable.)
London, June 25.—In the house of commons debate on clause 4 of the educational bill giving extended facilities for denominational teaching on a four-fifths vote, Edward Blake (Nationalist) strongly supported the appeal to make the clause mandatory. Catholics and other religious bodies, he said, demanded the definite right of specific religious teaching in schools not at the caprice of a majority, but on the basis of a mandate of parliament itself. The most extraordinary provision was that in cases in which the four-fifths facilities were granted no rent should be paid. He could only characterize it as a mean and shabby arrangement. Rather than go without facilities for Catholics, he would pay an extortionate price. The cardinal objection of the Catholic was that there was no declaration making it obligatory to give these facilities.

TO REPEL PENSIONS.
Hon. W. S. Fielding Will Introduce Bill on Wednesday.

Ottawa, June 25.—(Special).—Mr. Fielding on Wednesday will introduce a bill to repeal the pension grab. It is entitled "An act to repeal the act respecting annuities for certain privy councillors." It will then be up to the government to explain why it voted down a bill to the same effect introduced by W. F. Maclean (South York). Mr. Fielding's bill will probably meet with no opposition as the three pensioners, who have seats in the house, are all excused from voting upon a measure in which they have such direct financial interest.

A STRATEGIC NECESSITY.
(Canadian Associated Press Cable.)
London, June 25.—E. B. Osborne has a long article in The Morning Post on the expansion of Canada, especially in the great northwest. He declares the construction of a railway to Fort Churchill, on Hudson Bay, is a strategic necessity, essential in aiding the effort to defend Canada.

INSPECTOR DID NOT SEE EVERYTHING IN ABATTOIR

Man Who Was in Cutting Room—Three Weeks Describes What He Saw.

The World prints to-day a story by a man who spent three weeks in the cutting room of one of the city abattoirs. Unsolicted, he relates his experience, not to shock the public and add to their horror, but merely to call attention to the need of more rigid abattoir inspection. The World is not yet in a position to deny or to confirm the statements made, but is prepared to give as great prominence to a denial as it does to the accusation.

"I got employment in one of your abattoirs early this spring," said the man who spent three weeks in a cutting-room. "It was during week season. We handled 6000 calves. Most of them were dekins, which is a term we use to describe an animal that is under age and weight and whose flesh, according to the best medical opinion, is not good to eat. Most of these calves when dressed would not weigh 60 lbs. At Night.

"These calves would arrive alive in cartloads, 4 or 5 double deckers at a time. When they were shipped from the cars they would disappear until the inspector had gone away. They were slaughtered by the butchers and were run into the cutting-room during the night. A watchman and another man did this, when the cutting-room staff was not about. In the cutting-room we cut up and boned about 500 in an afternoon. Many of them were taken off the cars dead, because they could not be fed. They were the most miserable looking lot of animals I ever saw, and apparently they had been shipped from a long distance, but no matter how poor they were, they always reached the cutting-room just the same. When the carcasses were boned they would not weigh more than 15 or 18 lbs. apiece.

"The secrecy about our work made me think that all was not right. Ten or fifteen of us worked in a room 15 to 18 feet wide by 45 to 60 feet long. It was a regular combination icebox and safe and was kept at a temperature of from 45 to 50 degrees. When we went to work in the morning we were locked in and no one could get in after the bolts were shut without the password. It was changed every day. One day it would be two kicks and a whistle; perhaps the next day it was two whistles and a kick. I had never run up the big abattoirs across the line as a cattle buyer, but I had never run up against the password business before.

It was a regular combination icebox and safe and was kept at a temperature of from 45 to 50 degrees. When we went to work in the morning we were locked in and no one could get in after the bolts were shut without the password. It was changed every day. One day it would be two kicks and a whistle; perhaps the next day it was two whistles and a kick. I had never run up the big abattoirs across the line as a cattle buyer, but I had never run up against the password business before.
