SCHOOLS RE-OPEN

In a couple of weeks and the chances are that many parents have neglected giving their children's teeth proper attention.

ONCE SANG HERE; HER DEATH MOURNED

Mme. Fabbri First to Present Opera in St. John—Coleman Choir Supplied Chorus

While to most people in St. John the announcement of the death of Mme. Innes Fabbri Mueller in San Francisco, this week, was read as but a news item of the passing day, there are those to whom it recalled a time when Mme. Fabbri—in her day a prima donna—sang in this city.

Among these is George McSorley Esq., of west end, who was one of a local chorus supporting Mme. Fabbri in what was the first opera or operatic scene given in St. John.

Mme. Fabbri and her concert party, in which Mr. Adams, then the leading tenor of the American stage, was a member, and M. Mueller was pianist, gave a series of concerts in the old Mechanics' Institute—now the Nickel Theatre—and as a special feature of the programme, the choir of the prison scene from Verdi's Il Trovatore, the members of the company singing the principal parts and the Cathedral choir, under the direction of H. S. Coleman, singing the principal parts and the Cathedral choir, in what was one of the dressing rooms under the old arrangement of the theatre, and so well did they do their part that they were from M. Mueller the highest praise. "Magnifique, magnifique," he cried, as he greeted the local singers after the performance.

As for the audience which filled the Institute auditorium, it was the first gathering in St. John to hear an opera, and for fully three minutes after the last note had ceased to sound, stillness reigned, to be broken then by a grand outburst of applause, both showing how impressed were all by the new form of musical entertainment and the excellence with which it was presented.

The Coleman choir was probably the most proficient ever connected with a St. John church. While few members of it are in the city, those who are here and the musical people of the day who attended the Fabbri concert will recall with pleasure that scene from Il Trovatore and wish that it could be heard again as sung by Mme. Fabbri and her company and the Cathedral singers.

LOCAL BOWLERS IN BIG PLAN

New Association to Affiliate With Boston Organization

A plan of much interest to local followers of bowling, a pastime which has grown much in popular favor here of late, is now being worked out and will likely be definitely decided on at a meeting to be held in the city on Tuesday evening next at 8 o'clock.

The idea is to form a local association in affiliation with the Dual and Gendepia Association of Boston and follow its rules and regulations, but have control of its own affairs—in fact to be a Canadian branch of the Boston organization.

In the preliminary talk over the matter, it is learned that practically all the members of last season's local commercial league favor the project. The social feature will enter into the new organization with a monthly special event for members. It is expected that next Tuesday's meeting will launch the scheme successfully.

McLENNY IS COMMITTED

Sent up for Trial on Charge of Breaking Car Seal in I. C. R. Yard

In the police court this morning Joseph McLehenny was committed for trial by Judge Ritchie on charge of breaking the seal of an I. C. R. car on August 21.

The evidence of Detective Killen was taken this morning. He said that he and Policeman Joseph Scott went to the I. C. R. yard and met the night watchmen, Messrs. O'Neil and Reid, who told them about the seal having been broken. They said they saw two men whom they later recognized as the prisoner and a companion. O'Neil was brought to the place and identified him as one of the men whom he had seen breaking open the car. The other man got away.

WILL SEND OUT WEATHER REPORT

Telephone Company Adopted Plan at Meeting Yesterday

At the meeting of the New Brunswick Telephone Company directorate yesterday afternoon it was decided to furnish all outlying exchanges with daily weather reports from the Meteorological Bureau here. The idea is to more popularize the service. At the same time it will be of great benefit to farmers who will be able to ascertain early in the day the weather forecast and be thus enabled to govern themselves accordingly.

The scheme is carried out throughout the western states and is popular. An announcement as to the successor to Mr. Robinson may be made this afternoon.
