reason of bad stream driving or other causes logs were hung up, payment had to be carried over until they did come down. Today credits are shortened and business is done chiefly on a cash basis. During the winter season, from the closing of navigation until the opening in April, very little business was transacted. Supplying of the country districts in winter depended upon teams and sleds. At Christmas and New Year farmers within fifty to seventy-five miles brought their products to the city in teams and returned loaded with supplies.

half a century ago largely depended upon water communication. Today railroads penetrate all districts through-out the provinces. I recollect when the first sod was turned for the construction of the railway between St. John and Shediac. There was a great demonstration, and all sorts of prophesies were made about the great prosperity which would attend the opening of the country by this railroad. A few years after I commenced business the railroad was extended westward to Bangor. My own business, during the winter months after this road was opened, more than doubled in volume. "Many names come to my mind of those who in the past were hardware clerks. Some entered into business on their own account only to pass in a few to the past were hardware clerks. The death of Elizabeth Stewart, wife of Robert J. Wilkins, occurred Saturday evening after a short illness. She was a daughter of the late James and Jane McDade and is survived by her husband, three daughters, Catherine, Jean and Margaret, all at home; four brothers, Harry V. McDade, of this city; Joseph S., of Boston; Wesley and John, in Western Clanda, and two sisters, Mrs. T. L. Irvine, of this city; and D. G. Waterbury, of Brooklyn, N. Y. The funeral will take place tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock from her late home, 80 Gilbert's Lane.

Speaking of the St. John fire in 1877, Hon. Mr. Thorne said in the article he wrote, that he was on the Bonaventure River in Quebec fishing when he heard of the fire. He broke camp immediately and crossing the Bay of Chaleur in a fishing smack reached Moncton in a freight train. Here he obtained a copy of The Daily Telegraph and from it learned of the loss of his property. The Daily Telegraph had been published in Moncton that day because of the loss of its plant in St. John. He reached home two days after the fire and immediately prepared to again commence business.  prepared to again commence business. Don't Spoil Your Child's Hair by Washing It

If you want to keep children's hair in good condition, be careful what you wash it with.

Do not use prepared shampoos or anything else that contains too much free alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo (which is pure and entirely greaseless), is much better than anything else you can use for shampooing, as this can not possibly injure the hair.

Simply moisten the hair with water and rub the Mulsified in. Two or three teaspoonfuls will make an Watkins on the package.
