This valuable property situated on Salmon River, near the dividing line of St. John and Albert Counties, was purchased last year by an American Company, of which Mr. Eastman is the Manager. The Moneton Times informs us that the Company " have since erected a new store and wo new dwellings, and built a dam 25 feet high across Salmon River, and erected the frame of a large mill. It is said that two gangs will be in operation in this mill early next season, and many teams are now in the woods getting timber. A Drawback to Honest Industry. The late sleet storm did a considerable amount of injury to the ship building interest It did not, like the Saxby gale, destroy the forest trees of which spars and timbers are constructed, nor did it wreck the shipping at sea like the hurricane; but with the utmost coolness it covered the frames and timbers of vessels on the stocks with an icy coating that has considerably retarded work on most new vessels. Her construction reflects great credit on Mr. Kennedy, the foreman of the yard, to whom is due the extra fine finish which gives her so fine an appearance. Her owners intend her for the general trading business. She is chartered to load deals for Swansea.

Of late years, a new and curious profession has come into vogue. We allude to that of "experts" in handwriting. These gentlemen's services have for some time been repeatedly called in request in England, especially in disputed will cases, but they seldom made much impression either on Judge or jury until there arose a master in the craft, Mr. Chabot. It was through a case which occurred a few ber for the general trading business. She is chartered to load deals for Swansea.

The Fisk Murder.

Some of the New York newspapers are not satisfied with the delay that occurred in the Coroner's Jury finding a verdict in the Coroner's Jury finding a verdict in the case of Fisk's murder. Although the evidence was of the plainest character that could possibly be imagined, the Jury deliberated for three hours,—a Jury, too, composed of leading citizens. The following is their verdict:—

The jury find upon the testimony subscribed at this inquest that the deceased stribed at this inquest that the deceased to James Fisk, Jr., came to his death at the Grand Central Hotel in the City of New York on the 7th of January, 1872, at the hour of 10 50 A. M., in consequence of a wound or weands inflicted by a ball or balls, from a pistol from the bands of Edward S. Stokes, discharged by him in a deliberate manner at the said James Fisk, Jr., at the Grand Central Hotel, about 4 o'clock, p. M., on Saturday, 6th of January, 1872.

The World points out that the Jurors on third that the act was "feloniously" committed; it is dissatisfied with the wording of the verdict, as well as the extraordinary deliberation that attended its preparation.

It is a satisfaction to know that there is a new York at least one journalist who ation.

It is a satisfaction to know that there is in New York at least one journalist who does not go into ecstacies over the personnel of "the Mansfield woman." The New York correspondent of the Boston Post writes:—

Surely the woman who can command such resources by a smile and compel a duplication of such luxuries by a frown, must be a marvel such as the first of her name who asked and received the life of a nation for her love. That there is a fasci nation for her love. That there is a fasci nation in Mrs. Mansfield's presence none who have witnessed her demeanor and its effect in court can hesitate to assert even if its source is a mystery. A flourish of her delicate lace handkerchiet has been known to soften the heart of a judge; a kear has melted a frigid cross-examiner; a tear has melted a frigid cross-examiner; a toss of her lauhtr jockey hat has been an-
