SETTLEMENT IN MANITOBA.

The superior character of the immigration pouring into Manitoba and the North-West for years past has been a frequent subject of favorable comment on the part of our visitors, and we are glad to see that Principal Grant has proved no exception in this respect. He also notices the great public improvements in progress, paying special attention to our great national railway undertaking, of which he speaks with warmth. From this and other quarters, says the London Free Press, "we learn that the road is pushed forward with unexampled activity. The central section through a great part of its course presents but little difficulty of an engineering kind, and from the number of hands employed, and the zeal and enterprise of the Syndicate, a comparatively short time will see the line at the foot of the Rocky Mountains. This is not any more encouraging than the fact the country will become studded with villages and homesteads and cultivated farms as fast as the road progresses. The rush for the acquisition of lands is wonderful, and evidently this is only beginning, and the Canadian North-West is not yet the rage it is destined to become ere many seasons have passed. As far as the settlement has gone, the country may well be proud of the character of the people who have rushed in to secure and occupy the lands. On this point Professor Grant assures us that no other country has ever been settled with a class of pioneers so wealthy, intelligent and enterprising as those who are now making their homes in the North-West. Such men as these will not be content without the usual auxiliaries to civilization and refinement, to which they have been accustomed in the homes they left behind them; and, therefore, churches, schools and municipal institutions will follow in the wake of settlement. It is equally encouraging to find that the country seems to realize all the expectations of those who have been most sanguine, and who have taken the most active measures for the opening up and settlement of these vast fertile sections."—The Times.

ROCK LAKE NOTES.

(From the Rock Lake Herald.)

Wm. Baker, of Crediton, Ont., has purchased considerable land in the vicinity of Crystal City.

Stewart Bros., of 1-12, threshed on Monday. Their outs averaged 42 lbs. to the bushel. How is that for yield? Next.

Fourteen covered carts passed through town on Monday. They belonged to half-breeds who were going West to settle.

We understand there will be a semi-weekly mail established between Mountain City and here sometime during the coming fall. This is a step in the right direction, and will prove a great boon to the settlers.

Sportsmen from Rock Lake report the fishing A 1. The Mountaineer says the editor of that paper and some more Nelson-villenes will be back to try his luck shortly. Come right along, old man. We'll show you where the "good holes" are to be found.
