

Copyright, 1970, the chevron

THE ROCKY MOUNTAINS

Situated here until the late Nineteen seventies, when their removal was accomplished by strip mining through the efforts of Kaiser Coal Corporation and many other resourceful entrepreneurs with the co-operation of the British Columbia Government. No further vestiges of the fabled "resources" remain, though they are revered in ballad and song.

State Board of Records and Monuments

Erected October, 1984, Department of Tourism, State of British Columbia