slope. All the valley flowed with light, and the limped waters reddened, and the lamped waters reddened, and the fair young women shone and the naked children glistened.

But the finest sight of all was to see those haughty men striding down the causeway darkly, reckless of their end, but resolute to have two lives for every one. A finer dozen of young men could not have been found in the world perhaps, nor a braver, nor a vider one.

Seeing how few there were of them, I was very loath to fire, although I covered the leader, who appeared to be dashing Charlie; for they were at easy distance now, brightly shown by the fire-light, yet ignorant where to look for us. I thought that we might take them prisoners—though what good that could be God knows, as they must have been hanged thereafter—anyhow I was loath to shoot, or to give the word to my followers.

But mp followers waited for no word; they saw a fair shot at the man they abhorred, the men who had robbed them of home or of love; and the chance was too much for their charity. At a signal from old likey, who levelled his own gun first, a dozen muskets were discharged, and half of the Dones dropped lifeless, like so many logs of fire-wood, or chopping-blocks rolled over.

Although I had seen a great battle before, and a hundred times the carnage, this appeared to be horrible; and I was at first inclined to fall upon our men for behaving so. But one instant showed that they were right; for while the valley was filled with howling, and of Dover, rang me up on the telephoto tell me that he had just received letter from Dr. Lake asking why letter from Dr. Lake asking why the operation he had advised was not proceeded with, warning him at the same time that the slightest delay was attended with great risk. I was able to reply on the telephone: "My son is healed; he hears quite well; I will bring him to you to-morrow (May 24th), so that you may examine him." On Tuesday, May 24th, Dr. Howden examined the boy, and pronounced his hearing by conductivity to be normal, and that he could hear the ticking of a watch at the distance of three inches from the left ear. On June 2nd the boy was examined by Dr. Murphy at Dover, who gave his certificate in these terms:

24 Waterloo Crescent, Dover, Master Boothman was under my care until the 4th of May last, suffering from chronic otorrhea, with almost complete destruction of left drum.

I have to-day examined him, and find the ear dry and free from suppuration, and the hearing immensely improved. C. F. Murphy, F. R. C. S.

As he handed me the certificate, he said: "The case is indeed wonderful I zongratulate you; but you must undestand that a recrudescence is possible." I answered: "Doubtless; but it would be equally possible were the healing the result of human science."

Convent of the Sacred Heart Queen's Avenue, London, Canada

The Religious of the Sacred Heart give to their pupils an education which will prepare them to fill worthily their place—both in the world and in the home. Their special object is to train the characters of their pupils and ground them in solid religious principles. At the same time, they spare no pains to cultivate their minds and to teach them the various accomplishments required by their position in society.

The foreign languages are carefully taught by native teachers. Conversation in these languages is made a specialty.

The Convent Grounds are large, and so laid out as to afford a variety of backful everying.

The Convent Grounds are age, the convent of the healthful exercise.

The Class Rooms and Dormitories are spacious, well lighted and well ventilated. Everything that can conduce to the happiness, welfare and progress of the pupils has been amply provided.
