The tenth convention of the Catholic Mutual Benefit Association of Canada opened in Ottawa on Tuesday, Aug. 25, and continued its labors for three days. About three hundred delegates were present, and included clergymen, judges, lawyers, doctors, and business men, many of whom are well known throughout the Dominion.

The first duty of the delegates was to attend Mass in the Basilica, and this they did to the number of five hundred. The sermon was preached by the Rev. Canon McCarthy. Assembling at the Opera House at 8:45 o'clock, the delegates formed in line and marched to the Basilica, forming a parade many blocks in length.

MRS. GEORGE SHEEN.

The death, on Tuesday, August 4, 1896, of Mrs. George Sheen, at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. A. J. Dickson, 612 Fairfield avenue, Chicago, removes another good pious woman from this world. Mrs. Sheen had been ailing for about three weeks, but her death came to her husband and daughter and friends quite unexpectedly. The deand friends quite unexpectedly. and friends quite unexpectedly. The ladies of the church of Our Lady of Sorrows, where she belonged, and the Confraternity of the Souls of Purgatory showed every kindness to the one they loved and esteemed. Mrs Sheen, was for twenty five years a resident of Stratford, and during her sojourn here she was one of the best known and most highly respected ladies of Stratford. Her many Stratford friends will, I am sure, regret to hear of her death. FROM ST MARY'S.

The Forty Hours devotion was observed here this year with special solemnity at St. Mary's Church, beginning on Sunday, Aug. 23. The exercises opened with High Mass of exposition, sung by Rev. Father Brenuan. Farmer's Mass in B flat was reredered by the choir, under the direction of Miss Grace, organist. At the offertory Miss Handrahan sang the "Redemption" with fine effect. Father Kealy, of Dublin, preached an eloquent sermon on the institution of the Blessed Eacharist; after which the procession of the Blessed Sacrament commenced. In the evening musical Vespers were given, at which Father Kealy again preached, taking for his text, "I am the living breach, etc." On Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday Masses were celebrated at 5, 7, and 90 clock, at each of which large numbers approached the Holy Table. On Monday evening Father Gnam, of Hesson, delivered an impressive discourse on "Sin," and on Tuesday evening Father Kealy preached on "What doth it profit a man, etc." These services concluded with Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament. On Wednesday, the closing day of the exercises, High Mass was sung by Father Gnam, Fathers Kealy and Fogerty (Park hill) occupying seats in the sanctuary, Leonard's Mass in E flat was sung by the organ. At the close of the Mass the Litany of the Saints was chanted; after which the sulprocession of the Blessed Sacramen proceeded through the church and around the spacious grounds, Father Gnam bearing the Sacred Host. The procession was headed by little girls (attired in white robes and crowned with wreaths and veils), carrying three beautiful banners; then the choir, the altar boys, and the clergy; while the congregation remained in the rear—the whole making a grand and imposing sight. # THE BEATIFICATION OF JOAN

The beatification of Joan of Arc comes nearer and nearer. The following decree has been issued in con sequence of one stage of the proces making for her beatification having been successfully completed : DECREE FOR ORLEANS.

DECREE FOR ORLEANS.

Cause of beatification and canonization of, the venerable servant of God, Joan of Arc called the Maid of Orleans.

The fame of the venerable Joan of Arc's sanctity was already so great before the decree of Urban VIII., of holy memory, that it was necessary at that epoch to suppress the many signs of religious honor that were being accorded her. This, notwithstanding the fame of her great sanctity, has continued to spread itself further and further, and far from diminishing has enormously increased, above all since our Holy Father Leo XIII. has authorized the introduction of her cause. For this reason Rev. Xavier Hertzog, procurator General of the Society of St. Sulpice and Postulator for the cause, has humbly entreated our Holy Father to grant for this cause the dispensation from the regular process relatively to the general reputation of sanctity.

Upon a report presented to him and signed

Gaetano Card, Aloisi Masella, Prefect of the Sacred Congregation. Luigi Tripepi, Secretary of the Sacred Congregation.

A word of explanation about the echnical bearing of the decree. Joan of Arc was one of the persons enjoying fame for holiness when Pope Urban VIII. (1623 1644) regulated that the declaration or formal approval and served to the Holy See, even in regard to the fama sanctitatis. In conse quence of his decision two things became necessary hereafter - the reservation of judgments on such points to the Holy See, and, secondly, the establishment of a non-cultus declaration in sacred processes. Hence, while the enjoyment of a fame of holiness in an informal way might accelerate, as it here does, the completion of a process it became necessary that such fame should be unaccompanied by sucl marks of reverence as the Church deemed right should be countenanced only after her decision had been given -Roman correspondent of Catholic Standard and Times.

TRIALS OF LEO XIII.

A Touching Utterance by the Vener

In a recent audience given to Signo Scala, director of an important Catholic newspaper of Turin, the Holy Father was exceedingly free and communica-tive. The Catholic press is a work very close to his heart, and he neve loses an opportunity of welcoming its exponents and of encouraging them to go on in the good endeavor. From what Signor Scala relates of the conversation it was touching to a degree The venerable Pontiff's allusions to his situation are highly pathetic. Signor Scala had brought a sum of Peter's pence, gathered as a testimonial of gratitude for the Pope's action with regard to the liberation of the Italian prisoners. The conversation readily fell on captives in general, especially as Chains. Smiling, the Holy Father repeated the beautiful antiphon of the second Vespers of the feast: "Solve jubente Deo terrarum Petrie catenas," etc., and went on to recount the his tory of the great Apostle's liberation. He seemed in great joy as he looked back to the days of the first Christians, and appeared to rejoice with the infant Church at the freedom of its chief. Then gradually his manner changed.

In fact, the nimeteenth has now begun since I am here in imprisonment, a Zola's Novel "Rome" Condemned. noble imprisonment, if you like, but still a real imprisonment. For eighteen years I have not been able to get a glimpse of the streets of Rome or of its holy basilicas. I have had a new apse constucted in St. John Lateran's, and yet it has been impossible for me to see it. Nor, indeed, is this all. If I wish to name bishop I have the difficulties and delays that the formality of the Placet and the exequator imposes. Bishops in their own dioceses cannot appoint their parish priests without submitting to the visto and to the exigencies of the fiscal authorities. Add to this the per-versity of an evil press, which distorts and maligns one's every act and in-tention. What more? On the slope of the very Vatican hill, quite close to my abode, they have raised a statue to Garibaldi, to him who called the Papacy the cancer of Italy.' And, indeed, if I am free at this moment to speak and to write it is simply because it would not do for them to come into my room and prevent me. One thing greatly consoles me in spite of all this, and it is the universal attention given to the Pope's voice. I write encyclicals and all give ear to them. Even concerning the recent one-Satis Cognitumon that subject, the union of the Churches, which I have so deeply at heart, much matter for satisfaction has already been given me. These words, spoken in a moment of open-mindedness, were at once deeply interesting and significant.

ROYALTY IN THE PRIESTHOOD.

A Nephew of the King of Saxony to Labor in London Siums.

There was an unprecedented attendance Sunday at the little German Catholic Church in White chapel, London, where the nephew of the King of Saxony made his first appearance as a priest and preached at High Mass. There are four lives between Prince Max and the throne, so there was no dynastic objection to his following his vocation and taking orders which he did some months ago, but why he wanted to come to England and do rough mission work in the East End of London is not understood. It appears that both his family and some at least, of the British priesthood dis couraged the idea, and the Leipsic and Dresden press pointed out that Saxony was an extremely good field for missionaries, but the young man had

The news of the death of the Very Rev. Jean Theodore Wagner, P. P. of Windsor, has been received.
