

Think before you strike any creature that cannot speak.

"When I was young, and lived up in the mountains of New Hampshire, I worked for a farmer and was given a span of horses to plough with, one of which was a 4-year old colt. The colt, after walking a few steps, would lie down in the furrow. The farmer was provoked, and told me to sit on the colt's head, to keep him from rising, while he whipped him 'to break him of that notion,' as he said. But just then a neighbour came by. He said, 'There's something wrong here: let him get up and let us find out what is the matter.' He patted the colt, looked at his harness, and then said, 'Look at this collar: it is so long and narrow, and carries the harness so high, that when he begins to pull it slips back and chokes him, so that he can't breathe.' And so it was; and but for that neighbour we should have whipped as good a creature as we had on the farm, because he lay down when he could not breathe.

Boys, always remember that all animals are dumb, and cannot make their wants known. Think before you strike any creature that cannot speak.—Geo. T. Angell, in The Children's Friend.

DR. CHASE'S CURES CATARRH AFTER OPERATIONS FAIL.

Toronto, March 16, 1897.

My boy, aged fourteen, has been a sufferer from Catarrh, and lately we submitted him to an operation at the General Hospital. Since then we have resorted to Dr. Chase's Catarrh Cure, and one box of this medicine has made a prompt and complete cure.

DOLLS OF ANCIENT DAYS.

After more than twenty centuries, the ruins of Babylon and Nineveh have been unearthed, and most frequent among the treasures brought to light have been small terra cotta figures and many beautiful carvings in ivory, which were most likely the fascinating dollies of little Assyrian ladies. The puppets with which Greek and Roman children amused themselves in ordinary had their being in clay. Their arms and legs were jointed and attached by threads, and were to dangle about

A Simple Catarrh Cure

I have spent nearly fifty years in the treatment of Catarrh, and have effected more cures than any specialist in the history of medicine. As I must soon retire from active life, I will, from this time on, send the means of treatment and cure as used in my practice, FREE, and post paid, to every reader of this paper who suffers from this loathsome, dangerous and disgusting disease. This is a sincere offer which anyone is free to accept. Address Professor J. A. LAWRENCE, 114 West 32nd St., New York.

Vapo-Cresolene Cures While You Sleep Whooping Cough, Croup, Colds, Coughs, Asthma, Catarrh.

During recent years an important change has taken place in the treatment of certain diseases of the air passages. While formerly it was the custom to rely almost entirely on internal medications in this treatment, the importance of direct applications of medicines to the diseased parts is becoming more and more generally recognized. Of this method of treatment, Cresolene is the most largely used, the most successful in its results, and the most convenient way of medicating the air passages.

on the doll being shaken up and down or on a thong or string being pulled from below. Dolls of ivory and wax were not unknown, but these, no doubt, were the playthings of the richer classes. Before marrying these maidens of classic times would make a sacrifice of their dolls to Venus or Diana, but if they died as children the dolls were buried with them, and most of those that we now possess have been discovered in tombs.

The origin of the name "doll" has baffled some of the wisest and most learned, the majority of whom have at least come to the conclusion that it comes from "Dolly," the diminutive of "Dorothy," a favourite name for girls in England two hundred years ago. The word "doll" is not found in common use in our language until the middle of the eighteenth century, and as far as one can discover, first appears in The Gentleman's Magazine for September, 1751, and the following quotation: "Several dolls with different dresses, made in St. James street, have been sent to the Czarina, to show the mode of dressing at present in fashion among English ladies." Prior to this the word used to describe the favourite plaything of all girls in all countries and in all ages was "baby," which is to be found together with "poppet" or "puppet" in this sense in the works of most of the great earlier writers.

The English "babies" were of rags or wood. The latter were stiff, unjointed things in which the arms were only roughly indicated, and the legs, in most cases, not at all. The way we arrived at the wax, china and more expensive sorts generally is curious. In the middle of the seventeenth century there were no ladies' fashion papers as now. Consequently, in order to show what was most being worn on the continent, dolls were accurately dressed up and sent round to the various European countries, and from the models orders were taken for costumes by the foreign milliners. The dolls themselves rather than their dresses, attracted people, so that large numbers of the little figures were imported from abroad, and the majority and the best of them, coming from the Netherlands, were called "Flanders babies." A "Bartholomew baby" was a special kind sold at the old fair of that name, and was celebrated for the quantity of ribbons and mock jewellery with which it was decked out.

Talking and eloquence are not the same: to speak, and to speak well, are two things.

—A true, earnest, Christian life has its disappointments and its chastisements; but it has its blessed surprises also. Heaven will have some glorious surprises for thousands of hard-working, ill-paid Christians who never made any prominent figure in this world.

—We not only need to be converted radically from sin, but fruitfully unto righteousness in every particular view and purpose that make our lives; and among the greatest of all marvels is the slowness and uncertainty of this process.

THE BABY BOY COVERED WITH ECZEMA AND CURED BY DR. CHASE.

Mrs. Jas. Brown of Molesworth, Ont., tells how her boy (eight months old) was cured of torturing Eczema. Mothers whose children are afflicted can write her regarding the great cure, Dr. Chase's Ointment. Her child was afflicted from birth and three boxes of Dr. Chase's Ointment cured him.

—Blessed is the man who has the gift of making friends, for it is one of God's best gifts. It involves many things, but above all is the power of going out of one's self and seeing and appreciating whatever is noble and loving in another man.

—It is not darkness you are going to, for God is Light. It is not lonely, for Christ is with you. It is not an unknown country, for Christ is there.

—Consider well what your strength is equal to, and what exceeds your ability.

—Discretion in speech is more than eloquence. When you doubt, abstain.

—A man is little the better for liking himself, if nobody else likes him.

Linseed and Turpentine are not only popular remedies, but are also the best known to medical science for the treatment of the nervous membranes of respiratory organs. Dr. Chase compounded this valuable Syrup so as to take away the unpleasant tastes of turpentine and linseed.

Mothers will find this medicine invaluable for children, it is so pleasant to take, and will positively cure Croup, Whooping Cough and Chest Troubles.
