THE NEW TAXES

A Liberal member in the Federal House has raised some doubts as to whether the new Budget taxes can be carried out. He would have been on safer ground had he questioned the sanity of the measure as a whole. In the first place any tax that interferes with the trade and business of the country is a mistake. The result of the new tax will be to lessen production, to interfere with almost every branch of trade, and to place the burden of taxation upon the shoulders of those least able to bear it.

The only justification offered by the government for its outrageous proposals is that extravagant living and indulgence in luxuries must be curtailed. This is all very well, but heaven help the people of Canada when the definition of luxury and extravagance is left to a needy government. Just to take a few examples for a suit of clothes they are extravagant, and they are forthwith mulcted in a ten per cent fine. In other words the Canadian people have the alternative of dressing in the shoddiest of clothes or of paying a Budget tax to the government. What is the object of the government? Does it seek to stimulate the production of shoddy goods? Is it ready to risk the dislocation of the clothing trade of the Dominion, and in order to get ready money into the treasury, endanger the prosperity of big and vital industries? It has with one hand spent thousands of dollars in public campaigns to stimulate production, and now with the other it is deliberately interfering with production.

And surely its ideas of what constitutes a luxury are peculiar. Certainly we strenuously deny that music is in any sense a luxury. It is a recognised part of modern life, is found in the curriculum of even the public schools, and should be encouraged in every home. The effect of the new Budget is to place a ban on music. Why should the father who is willing to place a mortgage on several years of his earnings in order to get a musical instrument into the home for the enjoyment and instruction of his family, be made to pay twenty per cent of the retail price of the instrument to the government? Surely a tax of this kind is as outrageous as it is shortsighted.

Summed up in a few words it means this. The government says the people are too extravagant and are spending too much money. It then proceeds to reason that if the people have all this money to spend then the government is entitled to some of it. Next it frames up a Budget which leaves the working man the choice of living like a Siwash on a reservation, or coughing up all his loose change to the government. This apparently is the best the people of Canada can get from a government which was elected to put down profiteering. Not only has the government surrendered to all the big profiteers of the Dominion but it is now profiteering on the daily needs of the people. Most assuredly if the country will submit to taxation of this kind, there is a royal time ahead for the needy politicians who are only waiting for an official certificate of the decrease of the present government.

NEW INSTRUMENTS HERE

The new instruments for the Silver Cornet Band have at last arrived after a nine months wait. The instruments are of the famous Besson make, and are of the very latest models. For a few days the instruments will be on view in the windows of the Western Mercantile Company. They were purchased from the proceeds of the concert put on by the band, aided by a handsome contribution by the Canadian Western Fuel Co., Ltd.

COMMUNICATION

Editor Daily Herald—Dear Sir—Would you allow me a small space in your valuable paper to see if it is possible to find out why we went to fight. This seems to be the burning question in the minds of many men today. What have we been fighting for? What is it, after all, that took the Dominion troops to the battlefields of Europe and the other continents touched by the war? It was not a lust for fighting, nor was it greed of gain. It was not even thought that was strong, and it was not yearning for adventure. I believe it was that in the faith in British ideals lay the true hope of civilization. Above all other motives, all other desires and hopes, men went to fight for civilization. Men died for it, and many more bear in their bodies wounds received for it. Those who did not die have returned, and they find the same old program, for things are no better, but are gradually getting worse. But don't you think the time has fully come when things should

The Friendly Smoke

THERE is something mighty comforting and satisfying about "OLD CHUM" Tobacco; a sort of soothing restfulness that pipe smokers have come to associate with this friendly smoke.

"OLD CHUM" is an old, old chum with all pipe smokers.

It has the perfect tobacco taste—the mellow richness—and men know that they can be chummy with "OLD CHUM" all day long and that the "good night pipeful" will be as sweet and cool as the one enjoyed just after breakfast.

For years and years "OLD CHUM" has been Canada's favourite pipe tobacco and today is more popular than ever.

be put in their proper place. The great song during the war was, "When the Boys Come Home We Will Put Things Right." Now the boys are back, and if the truth was spoken, why not begin to act, for actions always did speak louder than words. Are you not sick of being deformed into a state of insensibility? Let us rid our minds of all cant and unrealities, begin at the beginning, and see exactly what we will do with gas that is not congenial for the toiler of today. Mock Parliaments are all right in their place, and they help to develop the mind, and, I believe, bring out a great deal that otherwise would lie dormant. But, believe me, there is something more to be done, and I believe we have the power to make the road lighter, if not for ourselves, for the boys and girls that are coming on after us. I notice all around Nanaimo the whole of the fruit trees are looking good for bearing fruit. But don't forget the whole life of the tree has been at work to bear fruit. The sap crept up the stem, the leaves drank in the dew, the roots grasped in the earth. The bud, the blossom, in fact the whole life of the tree has one object, and that is fruit, and boys, if we want results, we, too, will have to have one object. I will say no more this time, thanking you for the same. I hope this short note will influence some of the boys to express themselves as to why we went to fight.

Believe me to be one with you, A MAN FROM THE FRONT.

BRITISHER.

CARD OF THANKS

Mrs. C. W. Pawlett and family wish to extend their heartfelt thanks to the kind friends who sympathized with them in their bereavement. They also wish to especially thank the choir and organist of St. Paul's Church for the part taken by them in connection with the church service and the members of the Silver Cornet Band for the mark of respect shown by them in attending as an organization at the funeral services of deceased husband and father.

DOMINION THEATRE

"The Woman in the Sultana" is a real tale of everyday life—how a resourceful girl averted disgrace from her father and won her own happiness—a story with an appeal for everyone. Under the direction of Thomas H. Ince there is nothing lacking so far as beautiful settings and artistic scenes are concerned. The picture is an entertaining slice of life, with Enid Bennett at her best. William Conklin is convincing as the father and Dorcas Matthews makes an alluring "vamp." Roland Lee is the young man. The story is one of the most fascinating in which Miss Bennett has been seen in many a day. The current chapter of "The Black Secret" is fully up to the promise of last week's opening episode and Pearl White has never acted with greater dash and daring. The Snub Pollard comedy is very funny, and rounds out a fine programme.
