HICHEST QUALITY, BEST VALUE.

Horwood Lumber Co'y,

women in my acquaintance are earning about the same salarvery different ways.

One of them possible on her daily needs. She walks to save car-fares; she eats at cheap places; she denies erself any amusement which costs anything; she thinks twice before she spends a quarter; she is always sayng she cannot afford this or that little thing and she religiously jots down every penny in her account book With the money that she thus accunulates, she buys very expensive big things—a handsome set of furs, a costly vacation trip, a mahogany dresser for her room, etc. People are always saying: "What a lot Mabel es get out of her money!" The other girl always has plenty of noney for little things. She goes to the theatre or to some lecture almost every week; she gratifies her love for pleasant surroundings by eating in one of the most attractive restaur ints in town, despite her friend's hor rified protest that everything costs five ten cents more there. She never thinks about car fare or any of the little expenses, and she despises account books. Consequently, she never has big things like her friend. She has only enough to help her family, save a reasonable amount and buy fairly presentable clothes. The peoole who praise her friend are always saying: "Isn't it strange that Lucy cesn't have more to show for her oney with the good salary she has?" Now this point of view is so familiar is to be a truism, but there are times when I quarrel with it. May I recall right use of money is to accomplish

what you wish with it." Presumably both these girls wan the largest amount of happiness pos ies, but they use sible for their money. The question their money in is: which gets it? The first girl is always tied down to thoughts of money. Spending a quarter bothers her. She scrimps herself and denies spends as little herself to save a dime. She gets big things for her money and is proud of it and boasts of it, but is it worth while? If some of the money which she put into that mahogany dressershe scrimped for it six months-had been distributed over that six months as oil to make the machinery of her daily living run more smoothly wouldn't she Mave been happier on the whole?

> The second girl never thinks o money. She allows herself plenty to oil the machinery of daily life and she gets as much as she can out of the rest, and is content. To be sure, she has an oak bureau in her room instead of a mahogany dresser, but I wonder if her peace of mind and her freedon from money worry do not make the balance pretty nearly even Now please do not think I am ac vising you to spend all your money on little things. I'm not advising any extreme. I'm just trying to get the opposite point of view from the cor ventional one. It is good to get the full value your hard earned money, but in try ing to do that, do not forget that peace of mind and freedom from money worry are some of the precious things of life, as well as costly furs and mahogany dressers.

Remember that there is such thing as thinking too constantly o saving money and consequently chairing yourself down to continuous thoughts of money. To my mind, nothing but duty or necessity can make that worth while.

NATURE'S ESSENCE. -- Extracted From Forest Plants.

Nature's laws are perfect, but disease follows if these laws are not obeyed Go straight to nature for the oure, to the forest; there are mysteries here that we can fathom for you. Take the bark of the wild-cherry tree, the root of mandrake, stone, Oregon grape root, queen's root, bloodroot and golden seal, make a scientific, non-alcoholic extract of them with just the right proportions and you have Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

The pitcher i

Every successful pitcher has a vind-up that resembles a rat terrie with the duplex vertigo. It takes some pitchers so long to wind up that the batter becomes dizzy and can't hit anything but the intervening atmosphere or a wild pitch. Some pitchers rely upon headwork, while others put their trust in a spring of perennial and night-blooming hope. This latter class usually fade away about the third inning and back into the brush league, where there is plenty of company. The most discouraging moment in a pitcher's career is to have somebody who couldn't hit the water if he was thrown off a bridge connect up with a wild pitch and tie the score.

Chest Pains of Bronchitis

T is the tendency of every cold to develop into bronchitis, consump tion or some form of lung trouble, Bronchitis is most dreaded, because it has a tendency to become chronic and return again and again, until the In patient becomes worn out.

If the cough is dry and hard; if there is pain, soreness or tightness in the chest; if breathing is difficult and causes pain in the chest, you have every reason to suppose that you have bronchitis and should promptly begin the use of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine.

Cough mixtures that may help an ordinary cold have no effect on bron- to myself or to Mr. Wm. J. Smith, There is quite a penchant for blue chitis and asthma, but Dr. Chase's in millinery circles at present, chiefly Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine comes light-headed and can't tell the plate from a swinging target. This carry around deep, perpendicular dents in their port side. According to the government reports, the head of a pitcher who leads the league will assay only 4 per cent ivory, while the cranium of a twirler who throws three cut curves in succession is the neares approach to an elephant tusk this side of the African jungle. Every pitche has a collection of curves which he lets go of with a plaintive and sepul chral grunt. The most deceptive curve is the spit ball, which never knows where it is going until it has removed a few hard-pine splinters from the batter's physique. Next to this is the fade-away, which staggers up to the plate in a trance and whisles for air at the crossing. Between rings the pitcher writes articles for the magazines and conveys the idea that the umnire is a low-browed crook with a deep-dved criminal record. In the winter he indulges in some light occupation like uttering vaudeville sketches or driving a dray, in the panwhile dressing like a butterfly of aration that cures Indigestion and Dyspepsia in all its forms.

It is quite a daily occurrence to hear a person say: "Oh, what a feeling of distress I have after meals, fulness of the stomach, heaviness and neadache. I feel too tired to do anything. I have no heart to exert my self, and at times I care for nothing. I often have a pain in the pit of the stomach after eating, that is (if I am able to eat). My heart beats rapidly ing (even worse) than when retiring at night. I often awake in my sleep and imagine that I am going to suffocate, and very often afraid to go to sleep again. I have to take particular good care of what food I eat. All
