OFFICIAL.
LONDON, May 4.
The Governor, Newfoundland:
In the Dardanelles during the nights of May 2nd and 3rd, the enemy launched strongly determined attacks in mass against our positions, constantly bringing up fresh troops. The Allies repulsed every attack, inflicting enormous losses. They assumed the offensive and drove the enemy from their positions, and are now advancing into the interior of the Peninsula.
The French Government report the German attacks on the British front on the night of the 2nd, and the evening of the 3rd of May, repulsed. Some ground has been gained in the Aronne.
The Russian Government reports a desperate battle developing in Galicia, since Saturday, on the front from the Lower Nida, as far as the Carpathians.

CHINA AND JAPAN.
TOKIO, May 4.
The Yomiuri, in an extra edition, declares that elder statesmen, after discussing to a lengthy explanation from Premier Okuma and Foreign Minister Kato, have approved of a project to send an ultimatum to China. Information reaching Japan, this paper says, leads to the conviction that the nature of the last Chinese answer obliges Japan to resort to this logical diplomatic step.

FIGHTING AROUND YPRES.
PARIS, May 4.
German troops are maintaining their fierce attacks on the blood-soaked soil of Flanders, but without success. It is officially asserted that in the bloody area where the southern point is Ypres, they are still endeavoring to rout the British from their positions. Two night attacks by the Kaiser's troops have been repulsed.
The French War Office announced this afternoon also, that the French troops have gained ground near Bagstelle in the Argonne. All reports, both official and unofficial, agree that German assaults about Ypres have resulted in no loss of ground by the Allies, but continued fighting has resulted in heavy casualties on both sides.

LLOYD GEORGE PRESENTS BUDGET.

LONDON, May 4.
In presenting the Budget to the Commons to-day, the Chancellor of the Exchequer estimated that if the war lasted during the whole fiscal year, Britain's expenditure, in that time, would be $5,882,170,000. Mr. Lloyd George said that if the war should last six months, instead of a year, Britain's estimated expenditure would be $3,952,290,000. He estimated that the total revenue for the year 1915-16 would be $1,350,910,000. This is an increase of $218,190,000 over the total of last year. On the basis of a six months' war, the Chancellor continued, the expenditure for war, apart from advances to the Allies of Britain, would rise to two million pounds daily, and the net deficit would be $514,346,000. On the basis of a twelve months' war, the net deficit would be $862,332,000.

ST. JOHN'S SOLDIER WOUNDED.

OTTAWA, May 4.
In a casualty list issued this afternoon, the name of Harry Grant, of St. John's, Nfld., appears amongst the wounded.

BRITISH TROOPS ADVANCING.

LONDON, May 4.
British troops are now advancing into the interior of Gallipoli Peninsula, according to an official statement issued in London this evening. During the night of May 1st and 2nd the enemy launched strong and determined attacks against our positions, bringing up fresh troops. Not only did the Allies repulse every attack, but we assumed the offensive and drove the enemy out of their positions, and are now advancing into the interior of the Peninsula.

BRITAIN MAY RETALIATE.

LONDON, May 4.
Walter Runciman, President of the Board of Trade, announced in the House of Commons to-day that the British Government had requisitioned the entire supplies of meat from Australia and New Zealand. Those supplies that were not needed for the Army, he added, would be marketed for the benefit of the civil population, in order to prevent such an increase in price as would arise from a shortage of supplies.
In the Commons to-day, H. J. Tennant, Parliamentary Secretary of the War Office, said that Britain had under consideration the question of employing similar expedients against the use by German troops on the battlefield of asphyxiating gases. The speaker admitted that as far back as April 6th, the British eye-witness had said that the Germans were preparing for this method of attack, but notwithstanding such rumours the British authorities found it hard to believe that any signatory of the Hague Convention could violate its fundamental principles and adopt methods which might have such far-reaching effect in modern warfare.

TURKS LOSE HEAVILY.

PETROGRAD, May 4.—(Official.)
In Khorie Dilmán, region of Caucasus, our troops, after two days' fighting, opened a determined offensive against the Turkish Corps under Khalil Bey, and completely defeated the enemy. The Turkish losses may be estimated by the fact that more than 3,500 Turkish dead were found on the battlefield, 900 of whom were picked up in the central section of the battle line along a front of 800 paces. At Dilmán we captured a Turkish hospital, together with its entire staff. Pursuit of the defeated enemy continues.

NEGOTIATIONS OF SURRENDER.

LONDON, May 4.
In a despatch from Athens received by the Exchange Telegraph Co., the declaration is made that the Val of Smyrna has entered into fresh negotiations with the Allies for the surrender of the town.

BRITISH OFFICIAL COMMUNICATION.

LONDON, May 4.
The British War Office to-night made public the following official communication: The loss of ground which resulted from the expected use of asphyxiating gases by the enemy last week, necessitated a readjustment of our line in front of Ypres. This readjustment, which has been in progress the last few days, was successfully completed last night. The new line runs west of Zonnebeke.

During the last 24 hours the situation has been normal along the whole front with the exception of one half-hearted attack by the enemy north-east of Ypres last evening. It was beaten off.

GERMAN ATTACK REPULSED.

PARIS, via St. Pierre, May 4.
A German attack yesterday evening to the north of Ypres, on the British front, has been repulsed by our Allies. In the Argonne, near Bagatelle, we made an attack, and gained ground.

TRAWLERS SHELLED.

GLASGOW, May 4.
It is reported here that a trawler named Cruiser, was shelled off Aberdeen by a submarine, four men being killed and four others wounded seriously. The wounded men together with three other members of the crew, are said to have been picked up by a collier.

Aberdeen, May 4.—The trawler Scottish Queen has been torpedoed and sunk by a submarine fifty miles off Aberdeen. The crew landed here. The rescued men say they were given fifteen minutes to leave the vessel, but subsequently were permitted to return to her to procure provisions.

PREMIER ASQUITH ON RECRUITING.

LONDON, May 4.
Premier Asquith, addressing a meeting of the committee formed to encourage recruiting among employees of the wholesale and retail distributing trades of the country, to-day, said that out of 790,000 clerks, commercial travellers and other workers of these trades, 430,000 had joined the army.

The Premier stated that enquiries were being made with regard to recruiting in the cotton trade, biscuit manufacturers, hotels and other branches of industry, with a view to making a further appeal.

Mr. Asquith proceeded to point out what women have done to release the men for the Army. Up to April 24th more than 50,000 women had enrolled on the war register initiated by the Board of Trade. In one of the largest engineering works at Newcastle, in the department devoted to manufacture of shells, he saw three or four thousand women at work. If that could be done in an occupation so far removed from normal activities of women, it ought to be a far easier task in other trades. The Premier insisted that the people recognize the gravity of the war, and do not have to be flogged and goaded by rhetorical incitements, before they could be induced to obey the call to duty.

"Never in the history of any nation has that recognition been more clear and universal, or that obedience more prompt and more unselfish." He said, "We have made a magnificent beginning. We have stemmed the aggression, and men have shown the spirit worthy of the best traditions of their race. I would say to the nation proceed in the same way and in the same temper. Every breach of our first line has been made good, but there are still in reserve, unused and, to the enemy, unsuspected resources, which you must mobilize and organize to the full. I am not the least ashamed to call myself an optimist, not that I underestimate the prowess of the enemy, or the gravity of the struggle, imperative need for the unsleeping exercise of our national qualities, patience, constancy, resolution and fortitude. I am an optimist, because I believed in the righteousness of our cause, because I am confident that by personal and corporate effort and self-sacrifice that there is nothing that we shall leave undone to bring that cause, be the struggle short or be it long, to a decisive glorious issue."

Charming Contest.

FRIDAY NIGHT.
To the hundreds who spent such a pleasant evening last Friday at the contest, this Friday is going to be more interesting still as there are a good many names, and this time several young ladies; last week the young ladies who appeared both got prizes. There is a brother and sister who put down their names and will appear in feats of strength; an old gentleman will show Rossley how to dance and Mrs. Rossley is eagerly looking forward to Friday night. Another young lady says she can do the skipping rope dance better than the British Belles ever knew how, so at least this contest is going to have lots of talent. After six competitions have taken place, the winners of the six first prizes will again contest for a large money prize or a week's engagement at a good salary. Don't forget that Friday night will surpass all the contests. Everything conducted in first class style. See the great Black Face Sketch.

"What Are You Doing for that Eczema?"

"Nothing; I've about given up trying to cure it."
"That is not wise. Do as I did and you will probably be cured in a short time. I used Zylex and Zylex Soap with it and my Eczema began to improve at once. A couple of boxes cured me. You can get Zylex at your druggist's."
Zylex, 50c. a box; Zylex Soap, 25c. a cake.

Prospero Goes North.

The S.S. Prospero has taken up the northern route and is now taking freight and passengers, sailing at 10 o'clock to-morrow. She will go as far north as ice and weather conditions permit. On her return trip she will bring along a shipment of the seals that were killed by the landmen during the Spring. Some of the seal pelts will be brought along in schooners.

"OURS" IN THE WEST END.

That the public know what they want and how to appreciate it when they get it is shown by the crowds who nightly attend the cosy Little Theatre in the West End; always a good show of the best pictures that all can enjoy and the two little singers in their sweet songs and dainty dresses receive great applause. There is also a fine show at Rossley's East End Theatre and all should try to see Miss Madge Locke as Topsy from Uncle Tom's Cabin. Hear Mr. Ballard Brown and Miss Madge Locke in their charming songs and sketches—a great novelty never seen here before.

It is impossible to have children's dresses too simple.

Action of Canadians

WAS RAPID AND DARING.
London, April 26.—"The Canadians showed on the Yser Canal the same quality that marked their work at Hill 60—the quality of quickness," writes the Daily Mail's correspondent. "First," he says, "their retreat was quick when their left was found to be in the air owing to the necessary withdrawal of other troops. They had no time to attempt to get their 4.7 guns across the water. The guns were unusually far up and the German attack was rapid and in great force."

Brigades Followed Poison Gas.
"Nothing more 'slick,' if the word may be used, has been seen than the Germans' first and final success across the canal. That is, on the left bank they brought up behind a cloud of yellow-green smoke that emptied the trenches before them and confused the French attack. A quantity of ready-made bridges, 25 to 30 feet in length, were rushed on, and with great courage, in spite of the destruction of the first lots, they placed reserve bridges in positions and finally crossed the canal, occupying the village of Lizerne and several other positions.
"A really great achievement was all this. It was away to the left of the Canadians, but it left their position untenable, and the 4.7 guns had to be abandoned.
"But Canadian officers and indeed the men had the Wellington touch, the touch of the man who never lost an English gun which he did not recover. What Wellington did in the Pyrenees the Canadians did on the flattest plain in Europe. Within four hours they turned round and advanced. They endured every sort of difficulty, mental or mechanical. They saw men terribly sick, half-blind and weak in the limbs from fumes let loose by the Germans. They had to face shrapnel, rifle fire and machine gun fire in a country absolutely defenceless. They were wounded by every sort of engine by bayonet, by gas, by bits of metal of every shape and size, but they charged home against all rules of war as understood in German text books.
"Their charge and advance did more than regain one position and recover the lost guns. It enabled the cohesion of the whole Allied front to be re-established. The issue of the battle is not yet. There are still German outposts, few and weak, on either side of the canals and rivers, but the Allied counter-attacks are regaining lost ground under the Canadians' left."

AUSTRIA HAD BETTER BEWARE ITALY; TRIBUNA.
Paris, May 1.—The Tribuna to-day publishes an article giving some interesting impressions of a prominent man who has just returned from Vienna. He says that the attitude of Austria can be understood when it is known that the ruling classes at Vienna, notwithstanding the concentration of Italian forces at the frontier, the threatening language of the most authoritative Italian newspapers and warnings from Prince Von Buelow the German Ambassador to Italy, think that all this is a mere bluff, as the Italian Government would not go to war.
Commenting on his statement the Tribuna says that Austrian Government circles are much mistaken and will soon realize their short sightedness, and further, that they will learn of the compactness, unanimity and discipline of the Italian people.
