The Greek Frontier Question.

A PROBABLE SETTLEMENT OF THE DIFFICULTY.

Vienna, Oct. 15.—There seems to be a fair chance for cessation of the unprofitable discussion by the Turco-Greek Frontier Commission, comprised of Italy, Germany, and Austria, have advised Greece to accept the Turkish offer to take the 15th parallel of the Treaty of Berlin as a basis for negotiation.

Has been thoroughly furnished to supply a long felt want in the village. Good stabling attached by the largest hotels. Luggage attended to free of charge. Commercial rooms on ground floor. Clifford

Parnell.

London, Oct. 16.—A well-informed correspondent estimates that 15,000 persons were present at the Bodkes meeting. Parnell's speech was of the usual violent character. He said the English Government had remained indifferent, though it knew that the distress approaching would be as bad as that of the famine year, 1847.

The Anti-Rent Movement.

London, October 15.—A great anti-rent meeting has been summoned at Enniscorthy for the 26th inst.

London, Oct. 15.—At a late meeting of Home Rulers a resolution was passed declaring that at no time of history Ireland was in want of a native Parliament more than at present. The cause of it is the present alarming distance, and by the continued and deliberate legislation of the English Government to Irish prosperity, and that the remedy must be a peasant proprietary. It was the only practical and final solution of the land question. Disturbances were expected at the meeting for the encouragement of the strong feeling of the Orangemen against Parnell, but no trouble is reported.

A "Dude-Talker" in Trouble.

London, Oct. 15.—Rosenberg, editor of Town Talk, charged with libelling Mrs. Langtry and Mrs. West, appeared in court to-day. The prisoner made abject apologies to the ladies. He denied that there was any malice in what had been reported. The court refused to reduce the prisoner's bail, and he was remanded for trial.

An Advance in Iron.

London, Oct. 15.—The Pall Mall Gazette mentions, as an evidence of the sagacious of the American demand for iron, that one of the principal railways has just sold to American cousi 30,000 tons of old iron rails at £4 per ton, or at about the price new rails recommanded two months ago.

Export of Bullion.

Meeting of Miners.

London, Oct. 14.—A conference of delegates, representing 140,000 miners, was held to-day at Leeds. A resolution was passed in favor of a national emigration scheme to lessen the competition amongst miners. The scheme consists of a system of small weekly subscriptions, the subscribers after a certain time to ballot for chances to emigrate. Those going to America will receive £6 and passage money; to Australia or New Zealand, £12 and passage money.

Aquatic.

London, Oct. 15.—Boyd is willing to accept the terms proposed by Elliott, with the exception that he refuses to be bound to row against Hanlan in the event of his being victorious.

GERMANY.

Alsace and Lorraine.

Berlin, Oct. 15.—Field Marshal Von Moltke reports to the Emperor, as the result of the inspection in Alsace and Lorraine, that a considerable increase of military defences will be necessary.

It is stated that Parnell, in response to several pressing invitations, will go to America in November, after the termination of the session in Parliament for the year.

Berlin, October 15.—Prince Bismarck is suffering from neuralgia. The doctors advise entire rest.

Berlin, Oct. 15.—A correspondent telegraphs that all the reports stating that Bismarck has concluded the secret treaty with Austria should be received with caution, if not incredulity.

RUSSIA.

The March into Central Asia—Sufferings of the Troops.

Berlin, Oct. 15.—The Russian press is very impatient about the dearth of news from the seat of the expedition, especially as no effort has been made to counteract the evil conditions in the two official reports of the recent action at Geok Teppe. A letter from Merv says that grave apprehensions are felt for the safety of the expedition. The letter describes the horrible men are arriving at Baku as being in a miserable plight, and says that great numbers have died of dysentery and scorbutic diseases. Our medical arrangements are inefficient.

Ignorance of the Country.

Berlin, Oct. 15.—The truth about the Geok Teppe affair is gradually leaking out. The assault on Dengil Tepe, earthworks was made on the Plevna pattern. After an ineffectual bombardment the Russians made a rush with fixed bayonets, but were repulsed, and retreated in disorder. The Turcoman cavalry attacking the Russian flank and rear created such confusion that when the vanguard reached the main force in reserve the latter was unable to stem the tide of retreat, and was compelled to retire forty miles before order could be restored. According to private intelligence received at St. Petersburg, the Russian loss is much greater than the official reports admit.

SPAIN.

The Reported Coalition.

London, Oct. 15.—A Madrid despatch says it is officially announced that the intelligence concerning the Spanish Liberal coalition, sent from here, is incorrect. Senors Martos, Morenco, Morlo, Morios, Margius, of Sandoval, and the Democrats and Radicals, have arranged with Zorella and Salmon to give up their old intransigent attitude and adopt a broad programme, as near as possible to the constitution of 1869, with universal suffrage, to conciliate the Moderate Republicans and Federals of the Fi y Margall party, who command a majority in the towns and southern provinces, and to start an agitation in favor of political reforms. Castellar and his friends hold aloof, because they are disappointed at the alliance with the Federals.

British and Foreign Grain Trade Review.

Mark Lane Express Weekly Review.

London, October 14.—The Mark Lane Express says:—Agricultural advices are still most discouraging. Quantities of wheat and barley still afloat are deteriorating from sprouting, damp and discoloration. Turnips and potatoes are in bad condition. Hops are a total failure in many districts. In Kent preparations for the autumn sowing are retarded by a diversion of labor, in consequence of the anxiety of the farmers to get some of the present harvest to market while high prices are current. The supplies marketed show an increase, but are mostly unfit for milling. Such as are in good condition readily brought two shillings advance. The best lots of malting barley realized forty two to fifty shillings. Most of the new crop is badly discolored. The arrivals in London of all articles except oats have been moderate. Last Monday's list showed only about 29,000 quarters of foreign wheat, chiefly American, and subsequent imports up to Friday amounted to 61,120 quarters. Prices again favored sellers to an extent of fully two shillings at the beginning of the week, but with only a retail demand at the attraction, as large millers and speculators hesitated to follow the rise, which during the past few days has been maintained with difficulty. Fine American cods and such varieties of white wheat as could be used in place of English wheat, have been in fair request, but it is probable Russian descriptions will shortly come in favor, when the supplies of home grown increase, as the condition of last new crop seems to necessitate a large admixture of hard foreign wheat to render it suitable for milling. There has been no excitement in the trade, neither have the week's sales been large, but steadiness prevailed, as sellers were by no means impatient to realize. The recent marked rise in the price of wheat has not served to nourish the opinions of holders, as it is due to the most perfectly legitimate influences that can affect values, namely, supply and demand. As far as can be seen at present there appears to be no valid reason why wheat should not advance another five shillings. Business still rests on a firm clearing that at no time of history Ireland was in want of a native Parliament more than at present. The cause of it is the present alarming distance, and by the continued and deliberate legislation of the English Government to Irish prosperity, and that the remedy must be a peasant proprietary. It was the only practical and final solution of the land question. ### Alsace and Lorraine.

Berlin, Oct. 15.—Field Marshal Von Moltke reports to the Emperor, as the result of the inspection in Alsace and Lorraine, that a considerable increase of military defences will be necessary.

In consequence of the rise in the price of breadstuffs, it is doubtful if Germany will begin levying the new grain duties on the 1st January, as provided by the tariff bill passed in July.

Berlin, October 15.—Prince Bismarck is suffering from neuralgia. The doctors advise entire rest.

Berlin, Oct. 15.—A correspondent telegraphs that all the reports stating that Bismarck has concluded the secret treaty with Austria should be received with caution, if not incredulity.

As far as can be seen at present there appears to be no valid reason why wheat should not advance another five shillings. Business still rests on a firm basis, although it must be admitted that the increased supplies of home-grown wheat will probably check the advance temporarily.

Maize attracts a good deal of attention, and owing to the scarcity of spot, sellers have been enabled to establish an advance of 1s. on the week.

Grinding barley, beans and peas moved quietly at former rates.

Continued heavy supplies of oats again reduced prices 1d to 2d.

Wheat for shipment has been in large request and extensive business was done, principally in California and red winter American, at 1s advance. Cargoes descriptions also participated in the advance. Arrivals of grain laden vessels off the coast have been small. Wheat has been in good request and advanced 1s to 1d, but the inquiry for shipment subsequently slackened.

Maize ruled firm at 6d advance. There has been a very large though somewhat irregular business transacted in forward wheat, especially red winter American, for which quotations indicate an advance of fully a shilling. Maize met with a fair inquiry at steady prices for cargoes in passage and for prompt shipment, but for November and December an advance of 6d was paid.

London, Oct. 15.—Rosenberg, editor of Town Talk, charged with libelling Mrs. Langtry and Mrs. West, appeared in court to-day. The prisoner made abject apologies to the ladies. He pleaded ignorance of the writing in question about Mrs. Langtry's husband, the name of which the journalist who had written the paragraphs. He denied that there was any malice in what had been reported. The court refused to reduce the prisoner's bail, and he was remanded for trial.

The Hanlan-Courtney Race.

Preparations for the Great Race To-day.

Appearance of the Men.

Maysville, N. Y., Oct. 14.—In spite of the heat Hanlan went out for a forty minutes' gull in the morning. Most of the time he contented himself with gently paddling, but for half a mile he hit the Lord Dufferin some good ones, and sent her along at a great rate. Eph. Morris, who was watching, declared he was going as well as ever, and confidently asserted that on the 16th it would be Hanlan first and Courtney nowhere. Ward, however, is not so sanguine, and thinks the champion will get there, but that it will be a hard race. No stone will be left unturned to bring him to the post in good condition, but there can be no doubt he is not so well as he should be. His eyes are sunk too far back, and there are darkish rims round them which, to say the least, do not appear right. In his face, too, there is a nervous look, as if he were strung too high or trained too fine. This, Morris, on whose opinion as a veteran oarsman considerable reliance can certainly be placed, attributes to the fact that the Barrie affair has opened his eyes and compelled him to recognize that he cannot walk away from Courtney as easily as he thought he could at least in some sort of form. The Pittsburger declares the Riley business has done him good. It has brought him to his senses. It is true that before coming down here, until within the last few days before he left Toronto, he was rather disposed to be over confident, and to be overboastful, but now that has all gone, and the boy looks in earnest, works hard, and evidently feels he has a task of some magnitude ahead in trying to disgrace of the giant carpenter from Union Springs, who is taking most excellent care of himself and receiving every attention from Burt Brown, his trainer, Feauchy Johnson, Robert Larmon, his coach, and J. B. Bridger, his backer. Ward, Conlon, Abell and a couple of reinforcements from the mouth of Lake Ontario are equally energetic and painstaking in the champion's preparation, and although wonders have been wrought with him in the last few weeks, yet they say it has been an uphill task. Barrie mustered his nerves, and in place of that certain-of-victory air he used to wear before his race he now looks as if he dreaded defeat. This morning when he came in, although the pull had not been inordinately long or fast, he looked jaded, so much so that an acquaintance meeting him remarked it, and said, "Why, Ned, you look tired." Still he says himself he feels well, and if a raving appetite is any criterion it is safe to say he is speaking the truth. At midday he took a good spell of rest, and about 4 o'clock was once more afloat, this time in the Toronto, to which he ingenuity attached, and will probably row the race in. He pulled leisurely over the course, now and then hitting her a down, but very seldom, and when he did there seemed a halt in the boat's career when the stroke was spent, which need not to be so. When he came in at the lapse of an hour, however, he did not appear quite so tired as in the morning, when probably the s an had a good deal to do with his weariness. Courtney is not fond of rowing in the glare of Old Sol, and consequently contented himself with remaining quietly in the boat house all the morning. After a noon-day dinner, he went to sleep, and about three o'clock had his new paper shell launched, and, like his rival, rowed leisurely over the course, pulling nearly all the time as even 28 strokes. He asserts that he never felt better in his life, and, if he does not win this time, he will never tackle Hanlan again, no matter how great the premium brought o bear, or how heavy the tempting purse hung up at the end of the five miles. He looks splendid, and a perfect specimen of a big athlete. His skin is clear, his eyes are bright, and his muscles as firm as rocks. There is only one fear, and that is he may have brained too long and be down a trifle too fine. He is now a very little below his regular rowing weight, and Hanlan is fully three pounds less than he should be, although when he passed where your correspondent had taken his stand he was moving gently, still it could plainly be seen Courtney's style had been improved He always did row something like his opponent, but now it is more than ever perceptible, his movements are freer, his arms play better and less stiff than they formerly did, and he makes more use of his legs. Altogether, it may safely be said he is a better man. It is a singular thing, in spite of all, that he cannot regain the confidence of his fellow-countrymen, who, as one of them said to-day, appeared to have irrevocably soured on him. No one scarcely talks of backing him, and when a wager is mooted odds on Hanlan are invariably asked. This may be because nearly all Pittsburgers here are Canadians, and our American cousins have learnt from past experience that if they only ask they will receive. It is not so in the present case, however, for so far every Torontonian has declined to put his money up except on even terms, and as that generally elicits no response, very little betting is reported.

Strangers are gradually flocking hither, but there are more Canucks than Americans here at present. To-morrow we are promised the arrival of battalions from many points in the States, but where they will come remains to be seen. Up to now there are few signs of them. Every arrangement has been made for the entertainment of the throngs that are expected, so that nobody will go away hungry. Among the latest arrivals are John A. Kennedy and M. F. Davis, of Portland, and as other oarsmen are reported to be coming to-morrow, there will be quite a gathering of the profession. Mr. Blake has withdrawn his absurd veto on a press boat following the contest, and the big Ottawa has been engaged expressly for the pencil slingers, with the understanding that she keeps in the rear of the referee's vessel.

A few pools were sold to-night, with Hanlan favorite at 50 to 36.

Crowd of Visitors.

Maysville, N. Y., October 15.—The afternoon trains brought large numbers of people intent on witnessing the race to-morrow. Both men, this afternoon, rowed over the course, Hanlan being unaccompanied, while Johnston accompanied Courtney. The quarters of the contestants was visited by a large number of friends during the day. Both are in excellent spirits. Confidence of Courtney's friends is shown in betting odds of $100 to $60, and $95 is being taken freely. The restrictions placed upon selling pools have been removed, and a number were sold this afternoon.

Pools.

Last pool selling was 500 on Hanlan to 300 on Courtney. Arrangements are all completed. First gun to go ready, at three p.m.; next, to come on the lake, at twenty minutes to four, and the race to be started as soon after four as possible. Should there be any reason for postponement after five p.m. it will be postponed until Friday. The indications now are that the weather will be as favorable as to-day's, which was as fine as could be wished, there being at sunset hardly a breath of air, while the lake was as smooth as glass.

Prof. Torrance in the chair. Hitherto this work has been in the charge of societies.

Special Reporter for the Free Pre s.

Quebec Oct. 15.—The dinner given to-night to Sir John A. Macdonald by the citizens of Quebec on the occasion of his return from England, was one of the most brilliant ever held in the Manic Hall of this city. About 300 gentlemen sat down to the dinner, which began shortly after 7 o'clock. Ten tables in all were laid—six down the entire length of the room; one across the front of the stage, and three at the upper end of
