In Memoriam.

Died,

In Charlottetown, Prince Edward Island, British North America, on the 3rd March, 1865, of congestion of the lungs, Samuel Wentworth Stevenson, Esquire, late of Her Majesty's 6th Dragoon Guards, (Carbini-ers), aged 30 years. [The deceased served with distinction in the Confederate army, and was engaged in the battle of Shiloh. The hardships which he endured greatly undermined his constitution, and doubtless led to his premature death.—Editor Canada Freeman.]

Requiescat in Pace.
