To the Editor of the Catholic Register.

Dean Six—Kindly correct your statement in last Registers that it was Sanator Ferguson, of Welland, who delivered the address at the St. Patrick's Day colobration in Ottawa. It was Senstor Ferguson, of Prince Edward Island, who was the orator of the occasion, and he acquitted himself most creditably. Senstor Ferguson, although a Scotchman, and proud of it, as he declared in his address, has all his life lived among Irish neighbours, and for many years enjoyed their confidence as their representative in the Provincial Legislature he has always been a Home Ruler and a supporter of Catholics when their educational interests have been concerned. A Subscottser.

Although they might not realize the amount the government would desire, being exempt from taxes and producing nothing, the city would be greatly benefited, as the purchasers would be liable to taxe; and from the amount that would be realized a considerable reduction of the heavy tax we are paying at present would follow.

Death of Col. Amyot.

General regret has been expressed in Ottawa on account of the untimely death of Col. Amyot, M. P. The member for Bellechasse was found dead at his residence on Monday morning. He belonged to one of the oldest French-Canadian families, its founder, Philip Amyot, having come to Canada in 1635.

Sending a New Bell to Ireland.

The Henry McShane Manufacturing Company of this city, cast a large bell yeaterday for St. Malachy's Church, Castlewellan, County Down, Ireland, Rev. Joseph O'Connor, rector. The weight of the bell is nearly 4,000 pounds, and the fact that the boll was cast on St. fatrick's Day made it an event of interest. The bell will be fully mounted and shipped as soon as possible.—Baltimore American.
