

- Cross-promotions to encourage users of paper-based products to adopt electronic products; and
- Incentives, such as higher prices for paper products than diskette versions and free on-line time, to encourage trial of electronic products.