

GENERAL RULES

- ✓ (1) Candidates for admission for the study of a degree shall hold at least second class honours or the equivalent of second class honours from McGill in the subject or subjects which they propose to study. Candidates who cannot comply with these requirements shall spend at least one preparatory year devoted mainly or wholly to advanced undergraduate study in these subjects at the University.
- (2) Candidates for a higher degree, and especially candidates who intend to follow University work after graduation, should, so far as possible, be kept in touch with all the principle methods of university training, including lectures, seminars, and laboratory and library research.
- ✓ (3) Candidates should, when possible, be given an opportunity to conduct classes or conferences of their own, and the department or departments in which they are working should note their aptitude for this kind of work.
- ✓ (4) All departments should have full liberty to recommend their students to follow classes in other departments, either as part of the work of their own departments or as additional work. They may also recommend their students to attend classes in other departments, either with or without examination.
- ✓ (5) All departments should make careful reports from time to time of the work being done by students in their departments as these reports may be of great value to the University and to the student in the future. Such reports should be made to the Dean of the Faculty, and kept on file in his office.
