

T H E

for Paris, whence I was ere I remained, till early d Vicar of our Convent
rived there on the 25th e I had left it, sixteen in sending me to that years' stay in my native ore me, after the hard-avels. I had conceived t quite the reverse; my the food of that part; I ew constitution; repose to accustom myself to it cit from my Superiors an e air of which suited me y province. They were est, and when I was pere chaplain in the French shal Maillebois.

he account of my voyages i will be better satisfied you first. You may rest hing that is not in accord-e, indeed, that the rumors ome foundation; I should abracing you at Frankfort, I am, and shall be all my hip, dear brother,
onate brother,

U E L C R E S P E L, Recollect.