

YORK COUNTY AND SUBURBS

HYDRO POWER ENGINEER FINDS JUNCTION NEEDS

Visits Factories and Will Report to Council—Committee to Choose Pavements.

Toronto Junction, April 2.—The town council met to-night. The clerk stated that Mr. Richards, engineer of the Hydro-Electric Power Company, visited the factories and will report to the council the amount of power required. The dump on Willoughby-avenue again occasioned some discussion. Mr. McEwen made complaint and this was backed up by some remarks from Mr. Hall, who lives within a few yards of the dump. Some of the councillors expressed the opinion that the residents in the vicinity were kickers, but it transpired that these councillors had not seen the dump. Mayor Baird said it was not necessary to see it. A person walking with his eyes shut would know when he had come up and the members of the special committee that went to Chatham and Windsor were heard. A committee was appointed to look into the merits of various pavements and report at a special meeting of council next Monday night.

Work will commence to-morrow on the building of the Bank of British North America on the vacant lot west of the postoffice, the building to cost $30,000 and will be completed some time in July.

W. D. Staples, M.P. of Macdonald, Manitoba; Mr. Taylor, Miss Greer of Peterboro; Mr. and Mrs. Gunn and son of Bradford, have been spending a few days in Toronto. Mr. and Mrs. A. Evans, 62 Pacific-avenue.

North Toronto: A petition was passed and referred to the proper officer for a foot-cement sidewalk on the north side of Sherwood-avenue at last night's council meeting. The board of works committee recommended that a four-foot cement sidewalk be laid on the south side of Sherwood-avenue on the initiative of the petitioners. The petition will not sign the petition for such improvement, which, however, was referred back to the committee. The tender for the Orange Hill property was also referred back to the finance committee. Owing to the increase of population in Davisville, the ward was divided into two separate polling subdivisions. Dr. W. Jeffs was appointed medical health officer, in place of the late Dr. R. S. Richardson, at a salary of $40 per annum, and is prohibited from practicing his profession in any licensed boarding house in the ward.

A burning match thrown unthinkingly into the dry grass on the corner of St. Clair-avenue and Forest Hill-road caused the destruction of a large portion of the fence yesterday.

W. W. Edwards of Eglinton-avenue east, who has been ill for the past week, is improving.

Bill Davey returned to his home in Toronto yesterday after a four-week trip of nearly three months' extension in the United States. Mr. Davey has returned much improved in health, and is looking in the best of condition.

DOCTORS EXCITED OVER OLD THEORY

A "New Theory" That Was Discovered a Quarter Century Ago by Great Scientist.

The Toronto General Hospital has been making a series of tests of a "new theory" in medical science, which they claim will revolutionize the theory and practice of medicine. The system is: Find the germ of any disease, then by a method of increasing the patient's ability to digest or kill off the microbes by increasing the white corpuscles of the blood, and filtering it with a serum that is as effective as possible. This is in reality Dr. T. A. Slocum's theory of thirty years ago. Dr. Slocum devoted his life to the working out of this problem. When, after innumerable experiments thru days and nights and months and years of patient labor, he discovered that wonderful remedy, Psychine, he exclaimed "Eureka." "I have found it." For a quarter of a century this remedy has been doing exactly the work the authorities at the General Hospital are at present racking their brains to accomplish. Psychine is exactly what they are looking for. It enables the white corpuscles of the blood to overcome bacteria and disease of every kind. It quickly cures La Grippe, and all its train of after-effects, coughs, colds, catarrh, bronchitis, pneumonia, chills and fevers, night sweats, insomnia, loss of appetite, dyspepsia, and all stomach, throat and lung troubles, including consumption in its early stages. Speaking of a number of cases that came under their personal observation, J. R. Andrews and Co., of Bishop's Crossing, say:

"The party whose case was most remarkable, having been given up by several doctors, among them consulting experts from Montreal, and who, so far as can be determined, was restored to comparatively good health by the use of Psychine, now which I supplied, I have to direct you to my new home in Edmonton, Alta., formerly Cookshire, Que. This is my past and only speech except a whisper, was only given ten days as a possibility; friends had been to say goodbye, and so forth, only remedy, so far as I know, was used. Well-known case, prominent family, well-to-do also. Yours in haste, (Signed) J. R. ANDREWS & CO., 173 King St. W., Toronto.

EMMERSON DENIES

"Mr. Speaker, with the indulgence of the house and with your permission, I would like to say one other word. In common with every other member of this house, I recognize the fact that gossip has caused more mischief in the world than have the decrees of tyrants; and, while I have been aware, coming to me as they have come from time to time, that slanderous statements were being made against me, yet they were not made in any such tangible way that I could take cognizance of them before my peers and my fellows.

"In a way, I feel relieved to think that this matter has come to a head, that it has reached a point where I will at least be in a position to meet my traducers face to face.

"I do not know, Mr. Speaker, whether or not it be a fact that every man in this house is willing to have his private life exposed. I do not know if there is any man within the sound of my voice, indeed within this country, who is in a position to say that he has done no wrong.

"I admit that I have had my weaknesses. I have had my follies. Until this matter reached the point which it has reached, I had not thought that it was a subject matter for parliamentary discussion or for parliamentary investigation.

"I had felt that at least, sir, that the man who was without sin should be the man to cast the first stone; but, while I stand here, I do before the public opinion and as within a very few days I will stand before the courts of justice, I must tell the truth and the whole truth. I do not ask to be judged by the standard of 'you're another' or 'I ask no mercy from that standpoint.'

"The standard that should be the standard of the people of the country shall govern me and, if I am unkind and unworthy of recognition by that standard in this house or in this country, I am willing to go down.

"But, sir, when and when that question has been fought out and determined, there is one other question that members of this house will ask themselves, and that the people of this country will ask of this house, and it is this: 'Are there others?'

"I want to be understood unmistakably as saying that those charges against me are unqualifiedly false and that anything I have ever done, either in the City of Montreal or under any other circumstances, I did it to protect the innocent, and I have never been in any way, Mr. Speaker, for I make them with the full knowledge of the solemnity of the occasion and of the dignity of my position, I have never been in a hotel in Montreal in my life with anybody of ill-repute.

"I shall take occasion, sir, to show the accusation to be untrue and the protection which I have at all times afforded to the innocent, I will not abandon in order to build up myself upon anybody else's downfall.

"Mr. Speaker, it must be recognized as a crime in any man's life, and statements of this kind are paraded before the country and, while I almost feel a sense of relief and gratification to know that I am now placed where I can and will meet my traducers, I have been in the position during the recent discussions in this house of not knowing whether certain insinuations and innuendoes were aimed at me or not.

"There was nothing tangible, nothing that I could seize upon, nothing that I could take hold of. But the thing is in the air, the thing is here, and I hope to be able to seize this opportunity, so that every man who heretofore has been able to grasp my hand as a friend and an equal will be able hereafter to feel that he can still grasp my hand and welcome me as heretofore as a friend.

"So far as my political opponents are concerned, I have no word to say. 'Political life has its difficulties, its troubles and its struggles. I have known it for over a score of years. I have not these difficulties. I have surmounted these obstacles, with all my weaknesses and with all my follies.'

"Possibly all other members of the house are free from human frailty. I hope so. I hope they are within the sound of my voice; but, with all that whatever may be mine—and I have them in common with humanity—I have a strong element of human nature about me and I think it has been a sympathetic and warm-hearted human nature.

great esteem in which I hold my colleagues.

"I would sacrifice myself, tho' it meant eternal sacrifice, in order that my great and noble leaders, and not only our own Canada, among Canadians, but equally honored throughout the world—may go to the conference in London in no sense dragged down by any sense besmirched because men have seen fit to make statements with regard to myself, statements I can prove to be untrue; but yet statements that have been bandied about in hope of injuring me.

"Why, sir, I know of devoting their time to the duties for which they are paid, have gone to room No. 4 (the Conservative headquarters), to circulate untruths, damnable untruths, with respect to myself.

"This I can prove out of the mouths of men in this house, and I look at this moment. And this has been going on unfairly to myself, tho' it has not come to my knowledge until a few days since. These things truly are kept from everybody who is particularly affected by them until they have done their mischief.

"Gossip is the weapon of the coward and the coward seeks out victims whom he thinks he can reach, and if I am not a saint, I am at least a decent citizen.

"I have said all I should say, and probably more than need to be said, but I speak in justification of myself as a man. I propose to remain here as a member of this house, and I propose to conduct myself as a member of this house ought to do, and, if those who stand against me wish to take action, and they must take action, now that they have gone so far as they have gone.

"In what I do I am actuated by a sense of duty first of all to myself. I am actuated in the second place by a sense of duty to my honored and honored colleagues in the government and to my colleagues, the members of this house.

"But higher and above them all is the sense of duty that I owe to my constituents, that I owe to the people of this country, and that the members of this house owe to the people of this country. I think I have a right to ask, appealing merely to their sense of duty, and to await the verdict, and, if then I am convicted, and if then these words are proved to be untrue, I shall not regret, and I shall be glad to have my name struck from the roll of my fellow men, and I shall be glad to have my name struck from the roll of my fellow men, and I shall be glad to have my name struck from the roll of my fellow men.

"I have had more letters of commendation, more letters of approval, and of fault-finding than I ever had of congratulatory approval.

"But I demand suspension of judgment until I can meet face to face those who have been striking me, and who are stabbing me in the back. In meeting them, I have this confident assurance that I shall be able to vindicate my name, and I shall be able to vindicate my name, and I shall be able to vindicate my name.

"Reputation is nothing; character is everything. My course will be to vindicate my character, and I will vindicate my character, and I will vindicate my character.

"I came into this house a poor man; I go out of this house a poor man; I do not want to live who can say ought to the contrary.

"If I had devoted my life to my profession, I think I could have gone on laying the foundation of at least an independence. I have given my life to my country. I have given my life to my country. I have given my life to my country.

"I have endeavored to treat all men as my equals, and I have endeavored to treat all men as my equals, and I have endeavored to treat all men as my equals.

"I leave the government from a sense of duty. I am here yet as a duty to my family, and I have eliminated them from any remaining duties of my duty to others in the past. I hope I may be able to discharge it in the future.

"Mr. Emerson was frequently interrupted by Wilfrid Laurier, who now and then Sir Wilfrid Laurier joined languidly.

"A few moments later E. L. Borden asked the prime minister, 'If there was any further information of the minister of public works, he said the present was not the proper occasion to enter into a discussion of the circumstances, but he thought there should be some statement from the prime minister when there should be some finality about the matter.'

Hundreds of New Overcoats

OVER 300 NEW CITIZENS LOCATED BY THE BUREAU

Over Twenty Thousand From Old Country Expected in Two Weeks.

New arrivals from the motherland continue to flock into The World Welcome Bureau. Over 300 have been located since the bureau was started. The subscription is but $1 a year; that dollar will help greatly. Over twenty thousand new citizens will arrive within a few weeks. The British Welcome League desires they shall have a good reception, find employment speedily, and get quickly settled in their new homes.

As soon as the membership of the league warrants it, a permanent office will be opened for the purpose of locating new arrivals as to where they can secure work.

The committee also desire to start a home for the temporary accommodation of our friends from the motherland. Those who can afford to contribute more than a dollar should send same to the president, treasurer, secretary, or pay it in to the credit of the league at the corner of York and Queen-streets. Cut out and fill out the form below and send it along with your subscription.

The committee hope to have the receipt-books from the printers to-morrow, when all amounts sent in will be acknowledged.

I desire to become a member of the British Welcome League, and enclose $1 subscription for the ensuing 12 months:

Name ..... Address .....

Send to Albert Chamberlain, president, 84 Victoria-street; Mayor Conisworth, treasurer, 100 St. George-street, Toronto; or Imperial Bank, corner of Queen and Yonge.

Ordinary Corn Cures are Dangerous. Because they contain acids, but Purman's Corn Extractor is entirely vegetable in composition. It is perfectly painless, safe and sure to cure.

Claim Contempt of Court. In single court at Osgoode Hall yesterday morning Justice Riddell reserved judgment on a motion by W. N. Tilley of Thomson, Tilley and Johnston, to commit to jail for contempt of court in refusing to answer certain questions on examination for discovery, and in refusing to produce certain documents, J. S. Lovell, Massey Morris and E. J. Wright, Aylesworth, Wright, Lios and Thompson.

CROWN WILL SEND MAN TO UNRAVEL MYSTERY OF ELLIOTT'S DEATH

Inquest on Death of Grand Turk Sectionman Will Be Resumed at Port Credit To-Day.

Port Credit, April 2.—(Staff Special.)—The crown has at last decided to take a hand in the unravelling of the mystery surrounding the death of the English sectionman, Edward Elliott, who met his death two miles west of here early on Good Friday morning.

At the inquest to-morrow a member of the provincial detective staff will be in attendance to watch proceedings and follow up any clue which may be unearthed. It is certain that evidence will be produced to prove conclusively that Elliott came to his death as a result of foul play.

Dr. Sutton, who performed the autopsy, is ready to swear that the wound in Elliott's chin was caused by some sharp instrument, either a knife or a stiletto, and that the gash on the back of the head was in all likelihood inflicted by a blow from a shovel.

County Constable Peer made a trip into the city to-day to subpoena Jas. Batty, the conductor of the way freight who found Elliott alive by the track and brought him into Port Credit.

He arranged with Michael Basso to act as interpreter for the four Italians known to have passed the spot shortly before Elliott was picked up. Harry Gallagher, the man with whom Elliott left the section camp at Clarkson to come into the city, will be brought here to-morrow from Hamilton to testify, and Constable Peer is of the opinion that this man will be able to throw some light on the matter.

Dr. Sutton will open the enquiry at 2 o'clock to-morrow, assisted by High Constable Broddy of Brampton and County Constable W. H. McFadden of Peel County, at the Wilbur House.

LIKE PORT CREDIT MURDER. Editor World: I see some account of a murder of a railway workman last week. A similar tragedy took place here, four or five years ago, when the watchman at the railway bridge of the G. W. Railway, three miles west of Port Credit, was one morning found dead, evidently murdered. The guilty person was never found. A man arrested as a tramp on suspicion of having been before Mr. R. Cotton, then the resident magistrate at Port Credit, who remanded the man to Toronto jail, but no result.
