

TIE KITTEN TO DOOR
OF CATS' NEMESIS

Practical (?) Jokers Try to Pester Man Who Would Rid City of Wild Cats.

W. L. Saunders recently declared war on "wild domestic cats" in London and asked the city council to aid and abet him in his task. It now comes to light that a day or so after Mr. Saunders made his proposal his family was rudely disturbed by a terrible racket on the front porch. They waited until Mr. Saunders returned home and sent him to ferret out the cause of the trouble. He opened the front door and a terrible bedlam greeted him. It turned out to be nothing more than a little kitten tied to his doorknob with a piece of string.

"I have no objection to killing cats in a decent way, but to take advantage of a kitten is a different thing," said Mr. Saunders. He stated that he cut the string and liberated the pest. He has had no further visitors.

PTE. CLIFFORD CHADWICK KILLED IN AIR RAID

Raid on British hospitals by hostile aircraft was thought to have been responsible for the death of Pte. Clifford Chadwick of this city.

Word received by his wife, Mrs. Effie Chadwick, daughter of Utilities Commissioner E. P. Mitchell, simply informed her of his death, but owing to the fact that the date of death was corresponded exactly with that on which one of the Hun air raids took place, it is thought that he met his death in that way.

Casey Chadwick, as he was known to his friends, went overseas last August with a draft from the Army Medical Corps. Training Depot here, and after a short stay in England went to France to serve with No. 1 General Hospital.

His friends in this city were many, and he was well and favorably known to a large circle of acquaintances, having come in contact with many Londoners in his position as treasurer of the Majestic Theatre.

He is survived by his father, at one time a member of McClary's shipping department, and now of Detroit, two sisters, also of Detroit, and one brother in the employ of the London Shoe Company here.

MARGUERITE CLARK SCORES GREAT HIT AT THE MAJESTIC

The Sweetest Girl in Pictures in Her Latest Success.

"RICH MAN, POOR MAN"

Noted Screen Star at Popular Playhouse Again Today.

Conveying in no uncertain language the message that riches without love is a mockery, "Rich Man, Poor Man," the latest Paramount picture, starring that charming screen star, Marguerite Clark, was received with marked manifestations of approval by an audience that tested the capacity of the Majestic Theatre Monday. Both the star and picture sustained themselves with the dignity that attaches to superiority, and the interest of the audience frequently manifested itself in hearty applause.

Here is a photoplay that, because of its powerful theme, capable direction and the individual efforts of an exceptionally fine cast of players, is well worth anyone's while to see, not once, but several times. Aside from the excellent characterization of Bob Wynne by Miss Clark, who is justly termed "the sweetest girl in motion pictures," that of Frederick Ward, who essayed the role of Beeston, a crusty, crabbed and heartless multi-millionaire, was distinctly a work of art eminently worthy of the last of the old school of tragedians whose practice is fading with time, but whose influence for good in the cinema world never will diminish.

Based upon the novel by Maximilian Foster, the story of "Rich Man, Poor Man," is a dramatic and the various scenes held the interest as by a spell.

The story of this admirable picture deals with the fortunes of Betty Wynne, a charming girl, who after many years spent in a boarding house, enters the home of John K. Beeston, a cold-hearted and selfish millionaire, who is her grandchild. Although a rich man, Beeston is a poor man in everything else, for he loves no one, and everyone who spises him for his eccentricities and erratic temper.

Betty brings love and sunshine into his life, and he refuses to permit her to leave him, even after he discovers that she has been raised upon himself through the forgery of a man whose sole desire was to make Betty happy.

Betty is the central figure in numerous thrilling scenes, and finally finds happiness in the arms of a young man who really is the grandson of Beeston.

A Lee-Moran comedy and a news weekly are shown in conjunction with the feature photoplay. The Majestic concert orchestra renders a special overture. This program will be repeated again today.

PATRICIA

Alma Hanlon, regarded as one of the most beautiful young women in the film world, is featured in the Patricia Theatre again today and Wednesday in a comedy-drama, "When You and I Were Young." The story is laid down on the farm and the scenes are characteristic of rural life. A pretty romance runs through the play that is as enthralling as a screen presentation as seen here in some time.

In vaudeville Bill, Hazart and Gert present a comedy acrobatic and dancing act. This act is one of the best of its character seen here in months.

The Patricia bill for today and Wednesday is deserving of a high rating. It is in keeping with the high standard being maintained at this theatre.

100 MORE BILLETS NOW REQUIRED FOR GENERAL ASSEMBLY

Committee Starts Arrangements for Housing Commissioners.

Meeting last evening, the committee in charge of the billeting of the commissioners to the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada held here, decided to make a special appeal for the present to bill only those who have made application for billets, and to leave others who do not send in their names until their arrival in the city.

However, it will be necessary to be prepared with a sufficiently large number of billets and as a hundred have not yet been billeted, it is possible that some of the names of more hostesses are required. Names of those who will entertain the commissioners are being collected by the committee.

ANOTHER PRESENTATION MADE TO LIEUT. STEWART

N.C.O.'s and Men of Staff Stables Give Him Steamer Trunk.

Lieut. D. A. Stewart, popular veterinary officer of this district, who has been transferred to Petawawa artillery camp, and who leaves in a few days, was again pleasantly surprised Monday afternoon when, on being called into the Army Service Corps quarters, he was presented with a handsome steamer trunk by the N. C. O.'s and men of the staff stables. Lieut. Stewart, expressing his appreciation of the capable manner in which he has administered his duties in their sphere and his interest in them, Lieut. Stewart replied suitably, thanking the men for this token of their esteem.

Lieut. Stewart expects to proceed overseas with the Petawawa and while regretting the fact that he must sever his association with so many good friends here, welcoming this chance to serve at the front. Both officers and men at Carling Heights speak most highly of Lieut. Stewart, he being one of the most popular officers in the district.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

SUNDAY MOTOR DRIVING.

To the Editor of The Advertiser: In reference to the discussion as to the driving of motor cars on Sunday, might be permitted to add a brief note. It happens that for more than a year my business has kept me occupied from ten to twelve hours a day. When I get home my children have been put to bed and I am able to get very little pleasure out of my motor car. It is a pity that it happens that the pastor of my church has a car and this he drives six days a week, and on Sunday he drives it to the church. I am able to get out for a jaunt in the car on Sunday. Does my minister expect me to give up my car and to leave it to the church? I am able to get out for a jaunt in the car on Sunday. Does my minister expect me to give up my car and to leave it to the church? I am able to get out for a jaunt in the car on Sunday. Does my minister expect me to give up my car and to leave it to the church?

LET TRUTH PREVAIL.

To the Editor of The Advertiser: If the cartoonists were to depict the G. V. V. A. as having thrown its hat into the ring for the purpose of making the friends of the Y. M. C. A. as trying to push it out with a long pole of sarcasm, they would be hitting off a very true thing.

No one in the home town will deny the privileges extended to khaki-clad men, during the absence of her husband overseas, went to Ottawa to meet him on his arrival there some weeks ago. They have been on a motor trip through Ontario during the past fortnight, stopping over at different points to visit relatives. Last night they spent in Clinton, in the home of Col. Gunn's uncle, Gen. Gunn.
