HAMILTON

SCHOOL TEACHERS WILL NOT GET ANY INGREASE

Exception Made in Case of Three Collegiate Teachers - Found Lead Mine Near Beamsville.

HAMILTON. June 2-(Special.)increase in salaries that they asked for. The special salary committee of the board of education to-night brought in its report at a meeting of the internal management committee, and it advised against an increase. C. R. McCullough put up an eloquent plea for increases, but could get nothing but sympathy from his fellow-trustees. Exceptions were made in the cases of three collegiate institute teachers, Misses Emsley, Hills and Ewing, who are not on a regular schedule like the public school teachers. Their cases were referred back to the sub-committee.

The technical school committee which met afterwards, also decided against granting any increases.

Soft-faced Spiritual Prigs. In the course of an address on the place and need of a young people's society, John Reebles, Hamilton, said there were too many long-faced, softvoiced spiritual prigs among young people to-day. He had heard young boys congratulating a minister on his preaching an old-fashioned gospel-sermon, and others regretting the lack of spirituality among older people. This kind of young man was disgusting. Young people's societies were mostly mamby pamey institutions, and young people were slipping away because they could not find a laughing, hearty realization of religion in the church-

TRENTON, June 2.—(Special.)— Speaking on church union at to-day's session of the Bay of Quinte conference. Rev. Dr. Carman, who expressed his pleasure at being able to attend his home conference, declared that the policy of the Methodist Church would be to follow the constitution of the church. First the general conference and then every quarterly board and congregation would discuss it. Then let the will of the church be considered as the voice of God on the question. "Methodism," he said, "had a precious heritage of evangelism and conversion, and the negotiating churches had theirs likewise. They were honored brethren, with a precious history at their back, which must be an elemin the situation to be remembered. 'We, on our part," said Dr. Carman "cannot give up some things of Meth-odism for all the unions under the sky, nor do we anticipate any need for giving them up. If we abide in prayer and faith, wait upon God, leaving self out of our opinions, we shall seek to enter with a view only to God's glory. "Shall men of finance dictate the policy of the church?" he asked. "It is policy of the church? he asked. It is my sealed conviction that in the local churches or in the courts of our church, these men of mighty means must not destroyed the principle of the itimer-
