SEARCH FAILED

Joseph Doherty, father of Pilot Robert Doherty, who has been missing for the last three weeks, and who is supposed to have been drowned, called upon Commissioner Russell this morning and said that he thought the body of his son might be under McLeod's wharf, and asked that an endeavor be made to find out if such was the case.

Not every maid combines the aptitude for blundering and the talent for ingenious explanation that characterize the young woman about whom the United Presbyterian tells this diverting story:

"What do you suppose has come over my husband this morning, Sophia?" exclaimed a constipated little bride to the new servant. "I never saw him start down-town so happy. He's whistling like a bird."

"I'm afraid I'm to blame, miss. I got the packages mixed this morning, and gave him birdseed instead of his regular breakfast food, miss."

Simpler Code. "In the olden days a gentleman used to call upon a lady with much formality and stately ceremony."

"Well, he merely drives up and honks for her to come out."

EULOGY OF KAISER IN CHICAGO SCHOOL BOOKS

Chicago, Aug. 6.—The page in the Chicago public school speller which eulogizes Emperor William of Germany probably will be in the book when school opens in September, it having been found impossible to prepare a new one in time, as has been ordered.

A movement has been started to designate an hour on the opening day of school for the children to tear out the leaf containing the eulogy, and Anthony Carneci, of the board of education, announced today that when the board meets tomorrow, he will introduce a resolution providing for elimination of the page.

A Tribute To Canada And Her Part In The War

At the intercessory service in the Cathedral on Saturday, Rev. Patrick Casey, S.J., of Boston, delivered a telling sermon, addressing his remarks chiefly to the large body of returned soldiers present. He said:

"I don't know how long this sermon will be," he is in opening, "because of the feeling that arises in me when I stand and watched you men file into the church, as I heard the music of the band, as I heard the music of the band, as I heard the music of the band..."

"We have been forced on our knees," Father Casey said, "to pray to the Lord God of Battles, in whose hand lies victory. There is but one A. B. C. in religion, just as there is but one in literature, and that is that you must learn first to seek the kingdom of God, for whether it be king or kaiser, or president, all are fools if they forget their God. The infidelity of Heidegger; the amassing of riches—now there are other sounds besides the whining of the shells, today's heard the whining of the shells, the exploding of the bombs; the dead are there; you men have had the dead for your companions; you have seen sights at which we may not look. You know what it is to suffer pain, and how weary and the loneliness of sleeplessness and the loneliness of sleeplessness..."

DAMAGE TO CROPS. Fifty acres of potatoes and several large fields of wheat were ruined Thursday by a hail and rainstorm at Goodrich, six miles from Fort Fairfield, Maine. The high wind which accompanied the storm prostrated telephone poles and wires and mowed a swath a quarter of a mile wide in the woods, breaking down or uprooting trees. Several houses and barns were damaged by wind and lightning. The total damage was estimated at $20,000.
