

PROBING WORK AT LANCASTER

Statement of Expenditures Without Orders in Council

Matter Taken Up at Session of Local Government in City Today

The meeting of the Provincial Government was continued this morning. After the meeting Hon. L. P. D. Tilley, president of the council, said that a part of the morning was occupied in an investigation of the work in Lancaster. Hon. D. A. Stewart, Minister of Public Works, and an engineer of the department visited Lancaster this morning and later made a report to the council.

It was found, he announced, that the late Government had advanced certain sums of money to the municipality to pay for the concrete retaining wall in front of the Simms property. In regard to the widening of the roadway, he said, it was found that most of the expenditure had been made on orders of the late minister of public works, but for which there had not been orders in council.

The Government was going very fully into the matter with a view to ascertaining how far the government was committed for the work which had already been done and for the completion of the job.

The rest of the session was taken up with routine work.

The next meeting of the executive will be at Fredericton on October 5.

BIG FELLOWS ANDREWS' GAME

Pronouncement of U.S. Anti-Liquor Policy Expected Soon.

Agent Gets Dismissal for Wasting Time and Money Over Flask Toter.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24.—The programme for prohibition enforcement being developed by Assistant Secretary Andrews of the Treasury has reached the stage where a pronouncement of a new federal policy may be expected soon. It will delineate the work which the federal government will attempt to do and will emphasize that part of enforcement to be left entirely to state and local authorities.

SILENT ABOUT PLANS.

Mr. Andrews as yet has nothing to say respecting his plans except in the general way that he believes the chief function of the federal government is to stoppage of the sources of the bootleg trade. In this connection it was disclosed that the prohibition field marshal had ordered dismissal of a prohibition agent attached to the New Orleans administration office, for "wasting time and money" in pursuing searching and later arresting a woman motorist when he found she carried a pint flask, perhaps a third full.

As a result of the agent's action, which Andrews regards as having rendered the federal law "unobnoxious and cheap," the assistant secretary has informed all administrators and their deputies of details of the case. This was done, he said, for the guidance of the enforcement personnel, and he described the dismissal as a disciplinary move.

Disclosure of the incident, however, was regarded as the first step by Mr. Andrews to define the work which his reorganized force will be expected to do, and at the same time point out to state and local authorities the part being left to them. Mr. Andrews has believed ever since he took over his enforcement duties that the biggest job the federal corps had to perform was the annihilation of the wholesale and importing businesses handling illicit liquor, and the dismissal of the agent for arrest of a "hip pocket" violator was accepted as meaning that he is now prepared to divide more specifically the enforcement between his own and the state and local forces.
