(Archibald Lampman.) IN MEMORIAM

LEDFORD—In loving remembrance of our dear father, Frank H. Ledford, who died of wounds, April 29, 1917 and was interred in Aubigny Cementery, France Hun shrapnel gave the fatal blow,

The wound was certain, but the effect was slow.

(Archibald Lampman.)

March is slain; the keen winds fly;

Nothing more is thine to do;

April kisses thee good-bye;

Thou must haste and follow too;

Silent friend that guarded well withered things to make us glad,

Shyest friend that could not tell Half the kindly thought he had.

Haste thee; speed thee, O kind snow;

Down the dripping valleys go.
