A LARGE FIELD.

The Rev. A. C. Courtice, before neeting of clergymen in Toronto Mon of Christianity 'n newspape work. He made the following appeal

"While justified in opposing and seeking the defeat of our enemies, we are never justified in hating our enemies. It is so easy for Frenchmen to hate Germans, for Englishmen to hate the French, and the British to hate Boers, but it is positively and awfully perilous and anti-Christian. Journalism that is hysterical, panicky, sensational, fed with strong passions, and ism that is hysterical, panicky, sensational, fed with strong passions, and filled with narrow national pride, is an awful menace to the peace of the world and of communities. Let every newspaper and magazine print frequently in bold headlines the words 'Love your enemies,' and 'let every Canadian newspaper and magazine cease charging other journals with stirring up race strife, and take the positive ground of preaching unity, brotherhood, and good-will."

We trust Bro. Courtice loves every body. He does well to have a sympa thetic oversight of the journalistic fraternity, some of whose members panicky and sensational, and possibly entertain feelings toward persons and ses which could not be described as a loving and brotherly regard.

But there are others. It is feared that clergymen sometimes vield to the purely human feeling of dislike, and tions are occasionally strained. The loves or hates of the humble journalist are as nothing in importance com pared with these. Bro. Courtice has the fifteen officers to be appointed by the Canadian government the New to numbers, should have at least two.

But though applications have gone in from good men, including one who resigned his office in the militia to go as a trooper with the second contingent, the appointments have all gone to other provinces. It may be claimed that provincialism has no place in

But provincialism has gone so far that a certain number of recruits were expected from this province, and it may be assumed that during the time that the constabulary may act in the field as a unit, the New Brunswickers in it will work together as in the other contingents. The New Brunswickers are entitled to their own captain and lieutenants, if these officers are Canadians, and the province has a right to its share of regimental officers. It is not a reasonable thing that the one part of Canada which has contributed menbeyond the demand and expectations of the department should be the one to be excluded in the appointment of officers.

THE LATE D. J. HATTPIELD.

The body of the late D. J. Hatfield crived from St. Stephen on the 12.25 rain today. A number of the deceased's fellow-members of New Brunswick odge, Knights of Pythias, met the body at the depot and eccorted it to its last resting place in Fernhill cemetery. The usual services were held at the grave. Rev. John Read officiated. The floral tributes were as follows:—Shield, New Brunswick lodge, K. of P.; crescent, from Y. P. C. St. John, N. B., coming to this city about eight years ago, since which time he has been in the employ of the Kalish clothing house. He was a man of good habits and made many warm friends on either side of the border who will unite with his relatives in sincerely mourning his death. He was 52 years of age. His remains will be taken to St. John on the early train of Thursday, and will be escorted to the depot by the companies of the uniform rank, Knights of Pythias of Calais and St. Stephen. Deceased was a member of New Brunswick lodge, No. 1, Knights of Pythias, of St. John, N. B., and has been allied with the order for more than 30 years. He leaves a wife and several children, all of whom were present when death occurred.

The recommendation is based upon the befief that $15 would be a sufficient inducement to funiters to make a business of trapping or poisoging wolves. The poisoning is effective when strychnine is used, but it requires about two grains to kill a full-sized wolf, and as these animals often travel a long distance after being poisoned, the hunter frequently has his trouble for his pains, since if snow has recently failen he has very little chance of tracking his quarry.

be for his pains, since if snow has recently fallen he has very little chance of tracking his quarry.

The trapping of wolves is quite a science and is extremely difficult because the wolves seem to know nearly as much about it as the trapper himself. The arimal is seldom deceived by the concealment of a trap, and if he cannot safely remove the bait without becoming entangled he will pass it by no matter how hungry he may be.

New Brunswick appears to be the favorite recruiting ground for the Baden-Powell force. The province furnished its quota, and then a supplementary group, and now is invited to send a third representation. But the government has the appointment of officers, and not a single New Brunscome down.

The bishop's palace was thronged all morning with those who wished to pay their last tributes of respect to one whom they had loved in life.

On a massive catafalque in the palace drawing rooms the remains were lying in state this morning and up to the hour of their removal to their place in the chancel of the cathedral. The remains were robed in the vestments and insignia of the late prelate's office, the white mitre being worn on the head and the body being clad in the Episcopal robe.

The dalmatics (a sort of shoulder cape of the episcopal robe) was of purple plush, edged with gold braid. The Alb or stole was of white linen, and lace, the chasuble of purple and gold and the manuble of the same colorus. Gloves and stockings were of purple silk.

in the herds of deer throughout the country. As these have grown in numbers, so have the wolves that live upon them.

Fleeing from the ravages of the wolves the deer have made their way toward the settled parts of the country, until in many places they have become a nuisance to farmers, in whose fields of oats and other grain they often do considerable damage. As the deer fiee from the wolves, the latter follow on, and so are found much nearer to civilization than in years gone by.

A wolf can go without food for a certain number of days, but he will then run desperate risks in order to obtain food. Hunters say that each wolf consumes on an average, thirty deer in the course of a year. Consequently there is a loud demand for the payment by the government of a bounty for the killing of wolves, but it is not large enough to induce hunters to work for it, the natural cunning of the wolf making it a difficult animal to trap or kill. The North American Fish and Game Protective Association is at present urging the government of the province of Quebec to place a bounty of at least $15 upon wolves, and the government has the matter under consideration.

The recommendation is based upon the belief that $15 would be a sufficient inducement to fundress to make a business of trapping or poisoding wolves. The poisoning is effective wolves. The poisoning is effective from the course of the cate of the Tomorrow's ceremonies will commence at nine o'clock, but detailed arrangements will not be completed until this evening. It is probable the sermon will be pregched by Bishop Casey. The office for the dead will be chanted by the priests. Then requiem mass will be celebrated by one of the visiting bishops, probably Archbishop O'Briem, although this arrangement may be changed, as it is understood the archbishop's health will not permit of his taking any active part. The mass will be followed by five absolutions, and it is expected the service will last two hours and a half.

After the service the remains will be borne to the New Catholic cemetery, where they will be placed in a vault.

An air of solemnity prevades the entire cathedral and one seems to feel instinctively the loss which the Roman Catholic people have sustained in the demise of him who loved all and was by them in turn loved and revered. The full length of the altar rall is heavily draped in lustreless black cashmere double box-pleated and caught up at intervals of four or five feet with large bows of purple ribbon of a slightly flighter shade than that used in the decorations of the body of the church and pillars. From the arches at St. Joseph's altar and the Virgin's chapel are festoons of black. The beautiful main altar lends itself readily to the most graceful decoration in sombre black and purple, showing beautifully against the gilded aitar and makes a beautiful background for the magnificent casket and catafalque. WATER AND SEWERAGE

The water and sewerage board at a meeting yesterday afternoon heard the complaint of W. C. Lord, who asked $200 for darinages done his projerty at Lancaster. Action was deferred. It was decided to recommend that an assessment of $9,000 for sewerage maintenance. In regard to the petition of the Mount Pleasant residents for water supply the engineer reported that to give the supply wanted an expenditure of $21,000 would be necessary at the pumping station and $50,000 improving the little reservoir. Putting down water and sewerage pipes would cost about $6,000. Action was deferred until the residents of Mt. Pleasant can be heard. Daniel C. Clark's request that his water rates be reduced was not acceded now.

Tenders for material to be used in the construction of the Grand Trunk Failway company's 1,500,000 bushel elevator at Portland, Me., are being asked for by J. S. Metcaife, of Chicago, who has been appointed superintendent of construction by the management, and it is thought that building operations will begin within thirty days, with a view to completing the mammoth granary in time for the irovement of the fall crop. The building of this elevator will involve an expenditure of from $400,000 to $450,000.
