Who Will Pack Power Into Its Lightest and Cheapest Form?

CLONGENTRATION CAMPS.

They leave this morning for Prince albert district, where they understand prospects are of the very best. If they decide favorably with regard to the commodules not figure in the Paris to be been asked, did electric automobiles not figure in the Paris to be been asked of electric automobiles not figure in the Paris to be been asked of electric automobiles not figure in the Paris to be been asked of the weight of electric storage. Lord Kelvin, with his wonted prescience for the coming event, attacked this guestion in 1881, and he found that "a Faure accumulator weighing 185b, can store and give out again energy to the extent of an hour's work of one-horse power (2,000,000 foot pounds)." To this Professor Ceborne Reynolds replied that a single pound of ordinary coal held within it 11,000,000 foot pounds of energy, so that it took say over 89th of stored electricity to do the work of 11-2 oz. of coal. The one made a rather bulky pared of practically sixtone weight, the other you could carry in your walstcoat pocket. "Grant-ed." replied Lord Kelvin. "But you can charge your accumulator again and capian from the same source of power—say a waterfall—but you can burn your coal only once." He added: "The problem of converting energy into a preservable and storable form is one of the most important in the whole range of science." There we stand to day. Improvements have been made on Faure's spongy lead battery, but the problem is unsolved. Every year we waste in this country in factory furnace, oven, and kiln heat jahat would be worth millicus of money if we could only catch and store it for future use. In four hundred years Brikain's unrivante how to pack the power of running and falling water, sunlight, wind, and may hap the internal heat of the globe, into its lightest and chapaes; form. But Mother Nature exacts her price for such secrets.

CONCENTRATION CAMPS.

The Bloemfontein Post Shows That the Boers are Well Treated.

LONDON, July 24.-A parliamentary paper issued today gives the numbers of persons in the concentration camps in South Africa in June as follows:

White, 85,410.
Colored, 23,489.
There were 777 deaths among the whites in the camps, the list including 673 children. The deaths among the colored persons numbered five.

the Big Front Windows and Kills Colored persons numbered five.

The Bloemfontein Post of July 11 gives the following particulars of these camps, and answers its own question, "Where in the history of nations has any precedent occurred of an enemy not only harboring, but also feeding—and feeding well, too— teaching, and providing for the wants of the families of their foes?" After stating that on June 1 there were 40,829 refugees, of whom 25,336 are white, the Bloemfontein Post continues: The scale of white refugees' rations, viz., 1-21b. of flour, loz. of coffee, 2oz. of sugar, loz. of salt, and 1-12th part of a tin of condensed milk per head per diem—is more than sufficient to satisfy the requirements of even the most gluttonous. If it be taken into account that a woman with, say, three little children, draws the same amount of rations as four grown-up people would, and that there are very few Boer families indeed who do not exceed that number, it is quite evident that they have any cause of complaint on that score. The monthly fuel-bill for the different camps must also show a pretty large figure, considering that during the month of May not less than 386 tons of coal alone, at 8s. 6d. a ton free in trucks at Springs (Transvaal) was used, in addition to which large quantities of firewood are also distributed.

The camp has been formed at a plea-active it turned sort should forty min.

Sixty tons of coal and £300 worth of firewood were distributed to the inhabitants during the past month. A most comfortable hospital camp has been constructed. This institution consists of four galvanized-iron structures-namely, a ward for grown-up women, one for men, and one for children, the fourth being a large and well-provided kitchen. The nursing establishment is under the personal supervision of Sister A. Kennedy, a lady of great experience and ability. She is assisted by three nurses and a few Boer women anxious to assist in the noble work. Another large iron building, one of those which were originally inhabited by refugee families, has now been cleared and cleaned out, and will, in a few days' time, be ready for the accommodation of at least 100 sick children. It is an ideal ward, well lighted, well ventilated, and abundantly heated. An adjoining special kitchen has also been provided for. A dairy with some seventy-five cows provides fresh milk for the sick and for the baby occupants of the camp.

Those who wish to purchase any luxuries have ample opportunity of doing so in any of four well-stocked stores, where provisions may be bought at prices as regulated by the provost-marshal, the same as are in force in Eloemfontein.

marshal, the same as are in force in Bloemfortien.

It will be noticed from the above that, although many standerous and libellous statements have been made in public and in the renegade press as regards the treatment of refugees, they are, after all, as favorably situated as many true and loyal Britishers, whose daily fare, in many cases, would not compare with that of Boer refugees in South Africa.

(Manitoba Free Press.)
Six farmers arrived from Kansas and Missouri Thursday as delegates from various parts of these twe states. They report that their wheat crop has been harvested, but they have serious misgivings with regard to the corn crop, owing to the long continued drought. They relate that there are some parts so dry that if a match is thrown down the whole field is afire. They leave this morning for Prince Albert district, where they understand prospects are of the very best. If they decide favorably with regard to the district, some will remain and the others go back and report, in which event a large number of Kansas and Missouri farmers will trek this way. Their land in Kansas is selling from $60 to $85 per acre, and they express considerable surprise that Canada so generously offers even better land for nothing, Fit and Coughed it Up Intact.

Elwyn Philips, employed by O. C. Gardner, a baker in Southampton, lost $230 a few days ago and was unable to find any trace of the money. The bills were in a roll held together by an elastic band. One of the baker's horses had a coughing fit a few days later and coughed up the roll of bank notes intact. The rubber band had held them securely, and the money was returned to Philips. He believes that he accidentally dropped the roll from his trousers' pocket, and that the horse picked it up and swallowed the cash.

He said from personal observation he knew it was only too true that the Boers did not treat in a kindly Christian spirit the native population. The Kaffirs were warlike and aggressive and not so ill-treated; but the Hottentots were grossly abused and oppressed. The Boers believed that the natives were given to them as an heritage, and treated the natives accordingly. He feared that the Boers were not swayed by a high humanitarian motive in such matters.
