SAYS FURTHER
WARS TO COME

General Pau Declares Idea of Everlasting Peace is Generous Illusion.

Ottawa, March 4.—Before a splendid gathering of the intellectual portion of the French-Canadian population of Ottawa and Hull, and a good number of English-speaking Canadians, fond of French literature, General Pau spoke in the lecture hall of the Chateau Laurier, under the auspices of the "Alliance Francaise," of Ottawa.

"The great French General did not speak with an oratorical triumph as his objective, but to tell his hearers truths of eminent importance and to express his gratitude towards England and Canada, which has given to France such magnificent and effective support.

"We must not entertain any illusion about war," said the French hero. "There have been wars in the past, and there will be in the future.
There will be war as long as men will not be perfect; and the day when men will be perfect, that very day men shall cease to exist. Everybody on earth is wishing an everlasting peace, as we always tend towards peace, justice and truth, but in this world of ours there is nothing absolute."

General Pau told the audience that he was very sorry to express such painful feelings, but he thought it his duty to tell what long and hard experience has taught him during fifty years of military life.

"Everlasting peace is a generous illusion, but this illusion we have to pay for too often."

"That the morale of France saved her and the whole world is true in part," said General Pau in the second part of his allocution. But justice and civilization own much to the noble allies who since the beginning have come to the rescue and crushed Prussian militarism. "When a country is sending its sons to fight a battle on a foreign soil, it is because they are deeply convinced that they are fighting for a good and noble cause.
This moral and military support has helped France and the Allies to win a tremendous victory," said General Pau amidst hearty applause.

Paid Tribute to Canada.

The General paid a tribute to the great work of the British fleet. With it out her, the Allies were beaten, because they would have been prevented from getting munitions, foodstuffs and soldiers. "The British army," he said, "little contemptible army," had more than once surprised the Germans; think of it. The General extended this life, and the Allies to the British Dominions for the sending of volunteers, and especially to Canada, whose valiant sons had won immortality.

In concluding, General Pau congratulated the "Alliance Francaise" for the work it is doing for the propagation of the French language and literature.

The splendid address of General Pau was followed by close attention and sincere admiration.

Gave All For Victory.

General Pau was introduced by the Postmaster General, Hon. P. E.
Blondin. "General Pau," he said, "is the soul of the bellicious France, the soul of the last fifty years, the artisan of the military organization and resistance before the enemy. At the beginning of the war, on the 26th of August, 1914, General Pau was entering Mulhouse, in Alsacia. Since then this soldier has given his soul, his life, his energy to the build a victory which has been the glory of France and of all the Allies. By this victory France has not only reconquered its territory, but she has won the admiration of the whole world, and of the Canadian people especially.

General Pau was then, in the name of all, by Hon. H. S. Beland, who has passed four years in German prisons. Dr. Beland was very grateful to General Pau for having paid a tribute to the memory of the late Sir Wilfrid Laurier. "General Pau," he said, "is the incarnation of the immortal glory and of the undaunted courage of France." France was entitled to the moral, financial, economic and military support of Canada.

Hon. Dr. Beland made a deep impression on the audience when he stated that in the German prisons he had always prayed for France in order that victory might some day crown her efforts.

Mr. Pau was accompanied by Mr. Andre Siegfried, an Alsatian, the secretary of the French mission to New Zealand, Australia and Japan.
He made a very interesting address on the psychology of the French people during the war. He paid a high tribute to the French soldiers and women who have since August, 1914, been the backbone of the struggle for the national life of the country.

LOGGIEVILLE

Loggieville, N. B., March 3.—The annual wood frolic whereby Knox church is supplied with fuel for one year, was held on the 25th ult. The congregation entered heartily into the movement, and early in the day the men were busy cutting and hauling. About fifty loads of splendid wood has already been secured by the above mentioned enterprise. The workmen return an ideal day's outing.

Mrs. Howard Irving entertained friends at her home, "River Lawn," one evening recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Dickson, who spent the past year with relatives and friends on the Miramichi, returned to the West on Monday.

Mrs. Fred Williamson of Bay Du Vin is a recent guest of her sister, Mrs.
Loggie.

Miss Irene McNaughton of Black River, spent a few days in town recently, guest of her aunt, Miss Katie McMurray.

Mr. and Mrs. Watson Touchie are receiving congratulations over the arrival of a son in their home.

The long-expected and much-delayed Lord Byron entered port yesterday after eleven o'clock Tuesday night and is now docked at the Long Wharf, where she will load deals for a British port.

The Margaret Takes Flour.

The S. S. Queen Margaret, which entered port yesterday, is docked at Berth 15, taking on flour and general cargo for the Canadian Pacific Ocean Service. Her only inward cargo was 217 grain separation cloths, taken from the Valdivia, Arracan and Trethis district.

Last Bermuda Offer.

Bermuda has ceased to be an oiling depot for the Atlantic seaboard. The last tanker, S. S. War Patriot, Mr.
Stoker, who served with the Imperial army for the past four years, will enter the company's Montreal office, where he was attached before the outbreak of hostilities.

The Schooner Aviator.

The Gloucester Times gives the following particulars regarding the loss of the schooner Aviator, halting from Halifax and owned by several parties which is ashore on the Newfoundland coast, about 200 miles from St. John's: The Aviator, in command of Captain Lewis, left Boston three weeks ago for St. John's under charter to carry merchandise and return to this port with a cargo of fish. She carried 1,000 barrels of beef and shipments of lard, oranges, lemons, grapefruit and other merchandise, and has been officially reported as having been coast, about 200 miles from her destination. The ship's cargo received information yesterday that the Aviator drove ashore on the rocky coast at St. Lawrence, Fortune Bay, on Tuesday, and was pounding herself to pieces. The crew was saved and a small portion of the cargo was landed. Information has been received that the vessel is on the rocks, but nothing to indicate that the vessel is a total loss. The craft which is practically a new one is valued at about $75,000. It is said, and the cargo at $100,000, both of which are insured.
