Beneath his straw hat there peered an eye, And his empty stomach grew flabby and dry. He whistled a tune with a vague unrest, And a tear coursed down his yellow-tailed Ic isallied out on the open street, and he sought in vain for a man to treat Some one came, but his pallid cheek Told the playful story he couldn't frepeat. He leaned his frame 'gainst a friendly porch, And his Tclaret-bin shone like a well-lit tore Oft hath he stood 'neath the moon's bright glow. And watched the Policeman come and go. With a shambling gait Jim sauntered along, Humming a bar of a popular song. His ballad grew faint and his breath got shorter When he halted in front of a pestle and mortar And his lips turned white, and he shivered wit chills.

As he modestly saked for a couple of pills.

He looked as wild as an egg hard hoiled.

And he thought of his garments seedy an soiled. Then he threw his pipe and his cup away, and 't' went on a keg" for a year and a day.

Cherry Pectoral

Among the great discoveries of modern science, few are of more real value to mankind than this effectual remedy for all discases of the Throat and Lungs. A vast trial of its virtues, throughout this and other countries, has shown that it does surely and effectually control them. The testimony of our best citizens, of all classes, establishes the fact, that Cherry Protoral will and does relieve and cure the afflicting disorders of the Throat and Lungs beyond any other medicine. The most dangerous affections of the Paimonary Organs yield to its power; and cases of Comsumption, are publicly known, so remarkable as hardly to be believed, were they not proven beyond dispute. As a remedy it is adequate, on which the public may rely for full protection. By curing Coughts, the forerunners of more serious disease, it saves unnumbered lives, and an amount of suffering not to be computed. It challenges trial, and convinces the most sceptical. Every family should keep it on hand as a protection against the early and unperceived states of Pulmonary Affections, which are easily met at first, but which become incurable, and too often fatal, if neglected. Tender lungs need this defences and it is unwise to be without it. As a sateguard to children, amid the distressing diseases which best the Throat and Chest of Childhood, Cherrany Protoral, it invaluable; for, by its timely use, multitudes are rescued from premature graves, and saved to the love and affection centred on them. It acts specify and surely against ordinary colds, securing sound and health-scatoring sleep. No one will suffer troublesome Instruenza and painful Bronchitis, when they know how easily they can be cured.

Originally the product of long, laborious, and successful chemical invastigation, no cost or tolige spared in making every bottle in the utmost possible perfection. It may be confidently relied upon as possessing all the virtues it has ever effected. GERMAIN STREET.
