DEAFNESS AND CATARRH

Successfully treated by "Actina"

Ninety-five per cent. of the cases of deafness brought to our attention are the result of chronic catarrh of the throat and middle ear. The air passages become clogged by catarrhal deposits, stopping the action of the vibratory bones. Until these deposits are removed, relief is impossible.

The inner ear cannot be reached by probing or spraying hence the inability of specialists to always give relief. That there is a scientific treatment for most forms of deafness and catarrh is demonstrated every day by the "Actina" treatment. The vapor generated in the "Actina" passes through the Eustachian tubes into the middle ear, removing the catarrhal obstructions and loosens up the bones (hammer, anvil and stirrup) in the inner ear, making them respond to the vibration of sound. "Actina" is also very successful in relieving head noises. We have known people afflicted with this distressing trouble for years to be completely relieved in a few weeks by this wonderful invention.

"Actina" has also been very successful in the treatment of la grippe, asthma, bronchitis, sore throat, weak lungs, colds, headaches and other troubles that are directly or indirectly due to catarrh. "Actina" will be sent on trial post-paid. Write us about your case. Our advice will be free as well as a valuable book—Prof. Wilson's Treatise on Disease. The Trouble with the Hens.

The poultry editor of a county paper received this letter from a poetical summer cottager:

Dear Editor: What shall I do? Each morn when I visit my hen-house I find two or three fowls on their backs, their feet sticking straight up and their souls wandering through fields Elysian. What is the matter?

The prosaic editor replied by return mail:

Dear Friend: The principal trouble with your hens seems to be that they are dead. There isn't much that you can do, as they will probably be that way for some time. Yrs respitly,

The Same Old Difference.

Two flies stood close together on a screen. "It's pleasant weather," said the first fly. "I'm glad you think so," buzzed the second fly. "It's well enough, I suppose, but it looks like rain."

"Let her rain," said the first fly. "Who cares? I believe in making the best of things. What's the use of kicking all the time?"

"I admit," said the second fly, "that there's no use in kicking, but if you don't kick there's little else to do. I tell you this is a hard world. I see mighty little in it. I'm disgusted with the whole affair."

"The trouble with you is," said the first fly, "that you are a pessimist and I'm an optimist. I naturally look on the bright side of things and you look on the dark. It's a question of temperament. I can't help being happy, and you can't help being unhappy. We were born so. It's fate, pure and simple. That, my friend, is the difference between us."

The second fly buzzed satirically. "That's where you're 'way off,'" he replied. "As a matter of fact, the difference between us is simply this: I'm on the outside, and you're on the inside, of this screen."

A Permit.

Two boys, while intently fishing in strictly preserved water, for which only one was provided with a permit, were quite suddenly confronted by the keeper, whereupon one of them, hastily collecting his tackle, set off at his best speed across the fields, the keeper following.

After covering three or four miles of very heavy country, the angler seated himself, and awaited the panting and angry pursuer.

"Do you know," asked the keeper, "that you are not allowed to fish in that water without permission?"

"Yes," answered the lad, "but I have permission. I've got an order."

"What did you run for, then?" said the astonished and irate keeper.

"Oh, just to let the other lad away—he hadn't got one."

Revenge is Sweet.

A woman entered a railway train crowded with winter tourists and happened to take a seat in front of a newly-married couple. She was hardly seated before they began making remarks about her, which some of the passengers must have heard.

Her last year's bonnet and cloak were fully criticized with more or less giggling on the bride's part, and there is no telling what might have come next if the woman had not put a sudden stop to the conversation by a bit of clever, feminine strategy.

She turned her head, noticed that the bride was considerably older than the bridegroom, and, in the smoothest of tones, said:

"Madam, will you please have your son remove his feet from the back of my chair?"

A Considerate Parent.

Algernon: "Have you any idea, darling, what your father would say if I asked him for your hand?"

Arabella: "No, I haven't. He never uses that kind of language before his family."

Proving by Actual Experiment

This experiment will always interest the children, and will provoke a good deal of thinking. The explanation, of course, is that the lighted piece of paper which is inserted into the inverted glass drives out most of the air, so that when the mouth of the glass is quickly put down into the water there is very little air, and consequently, very little pressure above the water within the glass. Hence, the weight or pressure of the air on the water outside the glass drives the water up into the glass to occupy the space from whence the air was driven by the burning paper.

A practical demonstration of this kind is always more convincing than any mere statement. This is particularly true of medical remedies.

The effect of the anti-toxin treatment for diphtheria is noticeable within a few hours, so that everyone must believe in its virtue. In a similar way, the treatment known as ORANGE LILY gives a practical proof of the progress it is making in curing women's disorders, and that, too, within a few days after commencing its use.

All authorities agree that in every case of women's disorders there exists a congested condition of the womanly organs. The circulation in these parts is sluggish or stagnant, and the result is that the broken-down tissue or waste matter which should be carried off if the blood was circulating freely, remains in these parts, causing inflammation, irritation, oppression of the nerves, etc. ORANGE LILY is not taken internally, but is applied direct to the suffering organs. It is absorbed into the circulation, and its antiseptic properties at once act on the waste matter referred to above. The consequence is that this waste matter, which is causing the inflammation, ulcers, nervous troubles, etc., begins to be discharged, and it continues to be discharged until all the foreign matter is removed from the circulation. At the same time the blood vessels and nerves are toned and strengthened, the nervous trouble disappears, the circulation is restored and good health follows.

Toronto, Ont., June 2, 1909.

Dear Mrs. Currah,—I wish to tell you that Orange Lily is doing me a great deal of good. Those ulcers come away one or two every week, and I have less pain and fewer headaches. I feel sure I will be perfectly cured in a little longer time.

MRS. D. S. T.

The explanation of the wonderful cures performed by ORANGE LILY is very simple. It is a scientific remedy, based on the discoveries of Pasteur and Lister. The conditions existing in all female troubles are alike in character, differing in degree and development only, so that a positive remedy, as ORANGE LILY is, acts with all the certainty of a chemical experiment. In order to convince every suffering woman that ORANGE LILY will cure her, I make the following

KILL THE HAIR ROOT

You cannot permanently rid yourself of disfiguring hair by burning off the exposed part. You must kill the hair root, so that it cannot grow again. The only sure and safe way to do this is by electricity. This method is employed by all reputable physicians and dermatologists. THE MAHLER APPLIANCE is an electrical apparatus embodying the standard recognized method of electrolysis—simplified for home use. This kills the hair root by a steady, constant current of electricity, so faint that it cannot cause the slightest shock or scar, but sufficiently strong to destroy the life of the hair, so it can never grow again. You can use it with absolutely no danger of any kind. No knowledge of electricity required to operate. Send today for our book which fully describes the MAHLER APPLIANCE and contains evidences of the results achieved by women who have used it. This book free on request. We prepay postage in full.
