

the angels desire to look into, which is for us, and which Christ in His love appropriates to us. We find Him with us at Gilgal, a place of no outward show or victory to attract the eyes of men; but where He who is the source of all victory, is found in the power and the communion which enables us to overcome.

ANSWER TO SOME QUESTIONS ON GUIDANCE.

What was it you meant by the sentence in a tract "God will not be a mere director?"—Answer.—As a general truth we may surely look for guidance, and to be filled with the knowledge of His will in all wisdom and spiritual understanding. What I said as to this, was not that God would not direct us, but that, as the general principle, it was not independent of spiritual understanding, that if I were directed right, even in every act as a Roman Catholic, by their confessor, called their director, I should lose by it, it would save me being in a spiritual state myself—though, surely, a more spiritual person might help me because he was so. That God did not mean our perception of His will to be independent of our spiritual state, though He can, of course, lead any, at any given time. Psalm 32 speaks of this also. "If our eye be single, our whole body shall be full of light." But this is always true, that He makes everything work together for good to them that love Him. He overrules as
