

Some farmers are like Gladstone. You will remember he got his exercise by chopping down trees.

Some farmers—a good many of them—are getting theirs like the man in the picture above.

Trundling one wheelbarrow-load after another for half a day from stable to yard is exercise all right. And what a "plug" it is to get a well-filled wheelbarrow up the plank gangway on to the manure heap—especially in winter.

But have you time for this exercise?

Then why do it?

You wouldn't think of sowing or reaping in the old-fashioned way. Then don't make cleaning out stables the exception.

DILLON'S LITTER CARRIER lightens the labors of farmer's boy or hired man. It enables him to finish the stables in a fraction of the time before required.

A trim, well-kept barnyard, too, is the result of using a DILLON LITTER CARRIER. The bucket can be run out over the yard and dumped where desired.

Load of 800 lbs. runs easily along the smooth track.

A boy can work it. It can be fitted up without difficulty. The cost is the minimum for a first-class equipment. We have no Agents—you deal directly with the factory.

Dillon's sell direct to the Farmer. There are no Agents and no Agents' profits. The price is the same to all, and lower than you would expect for such substantial and well-built equipment. DILLON'S BOOK ON CLEAN STABLES gives you an exact idea of what you can accomplish for a small outlay. Write for a free copy.

A Low-ground Plant

Please identify enclosed plant and state whether it is considered a very bad weed or not. H. J. M.

Ans.—The plant is one of the ground cherries, known as common husk, or strawberry tomato, or dwarf cape gooseberry (Physalis pubescens). It is common in low ground, and is not a bad weed.

Root Cellar—Roofing.

1. I am intending re-building a barn, 45 x 30 feet, on a stone wall. The bridge will be in the bank. Can I build my root cellar under the bridge? If so, how can I cover it to prevent frost? The stone wall for barn will be nine feet high, and the natural bank for the bridge is about 50 feet.

2. Do you recommend steel roofing? If so, what make is best? W. W. R.

Ans.—1. Our root cellar at Weldwood is covered with cement. A temporary plank covering was placed over the cellar. Then an inch and a half of cement, mixed one to eight, was spread over the plank, and then six 16-foot lengths of 60-pound steel rails, procured from a railway company, were laid down lengthwise of the span with six inches of each one laying on the front and back walls. The rails were spaced 3 feet 7½ inches apart. The spaces between the rails were filled with cement concrete to very near the top, leaving a slight depression between the rails. Galvanized, woven-wire fencing was then put on crosswise of the rails, the ends of each required length being hooked over upright spikes set in the side walls. More cement was now placed on, making the total thickness of the cement covering about eight inches. Six inches of earth is spread on the cement top. This covering is giving the best of satisfaction.

2. Metal roofing is all right. Good brands are advertised in these columns.

A STAR PUPIL.

A farmer's son came home looking as if he had been through a tornado. His father inquired the cause. The son replied:

"It's that darn correspondence school again. I got a letter from the Sophomores telling me to haze myself."

A countryman applied to a solicitor for legal advice. After he had given the circumstances of the case, the lawyer asked if he had stated the facts exactly as they had occurred. "Oh, yes, sir," replied the applicant. "I thought it best to tell you the plain truth. You can put the lies in it yourself."
