Paupers at the Plough There was an animated debate at Basford (Notts) Guardians meeting on Tuesday over the story of pauper inmates being yoked to a plough at the workhouse. The House Committee reported that the plough was of the kind used by market gardeners and the average age of the men pulling it was forty-five. They were certified by a doctor as able-bodied and physically fit. One guardian said that to ask a man to pull any sort of plough under any circumstances was degrading. The chairman protested that the plough was only used for digging potatoes, and that the men preferred it to spade work. The feeling of most of the members was that, while there had been no hardship, the workhouse master, who was responsible for the incident, had shown "want of tact."

CHICAGO, Nov. 17.—War against "legalized murder" by surgeons who are commissioned to wield the knife before they have been sufficiently trained, was declared at the closing session of the Clinical Congress Saturday.

TO prevent "criminal malpractice" so far as possible, the congress appointed a committee to petition the State Legislatures of this country and the provinces of Canada to urge enactment of the following into law: "Require physicians to have five years' experience in general medical practice before permitting them to practice surgery, ordering that two years of their practice be passed in active hospital work or under the direction of a surgeon generally recognized as of the highest attainments; requiring medical colleges to give full clinical advantages as part of their courses in medicine."

Captain McNabb Is Dead. COLLINGWOOD, Nov. 17.—Captain James McNabb died here yesterday. He was an old master mariner and had served both sailing vessels and steamers. He also was in charge of one of Lord Wolseley's boats in the Red River expedition, and held this medal for this service, which was sent to him by the general personally.

A WONDERFUL COLD CURE. Just think of it, a cold cured in ten minutes—that's what happens when you use "Catarrhzone." You inhale its soothing balsams and out goes the cold—sniffles are cured—headache is cured—symptoms of catarrh and gripe disappear at once. It's the healing pine essences and powerful antiseptics in Catarrhzone that enable it to act so quickly. In distressing cases of influenza, throat, bronchitis, coughs and catarrh it's marvel. Safe even for children. 25c and $1.00 sizes at all dealers.

Constables Acquitted. The trial of two Glasgow constables, Donald Marshall and Andrew Gordon, on charges of criminally assaulting a woman, and assaulting several men while employed on strike duty at Leith in July last, was concluded on Tuesday in Edinburgh.

Englishman Flew Upside Down. VERSAILLES, France, Nov. 17.—Plying head downward and turning somersaults in the air are becoming common in the French aviation field. Hannouille, a French aeroplanist, flew over the aviation field here yesterday for twenty seconds with his machine upside down and then cut two vertical circles in the air.

Englishman Flew Upside Down. Hucks, an Englishman, flew for 35 seconds with his head hanging downward, and he also accomplished four consecutive loops.

Compensation Bill

Industrial diseases are put on the same footing as accidents. Employers must contribute towards the expense of administration. Employers are not unduly or unfairly burdened by the provisions of the bill.

The Provincial Government will make a substantial contribution to the compensation fund. A board will be appointed by the crown to take charge of the administration of the new law.

Contributory negligence is no bar to compensation, but shall be taken into account in the settlement. The crown is not included in the bill, but will call on the board in case of accidents to government employees.

Wilful or serious conduct will mean that no compensation be paid unless death or serious disability results. Highly paid managers will not profit unwarrantably under the new law, as their compensation is limited to $2000 a year.

No hard fast rule is laid down regarding the reserve fund for compensation, this being left to the board to determine. The bill, as drafted by Sir William Meredith, is founded on the German law, and is said to be the most up to date in the world.

The common law, by which an employee takes upon himself risks incidental to his employment, is classed as unfair and is abrogated. Telephone and navigation companies must contribute weekly or periodically to the compensation fund, and keep their workmen insured against accidents.

Farming, wholesale and retail establishments, and domestic service are not included in the bill, but provision is made to bring them in when the board sees fit. The new law defends workmen against unscrupulous employers. No litigation will be necessary in order that an injured man receive compensation. The board's decision will be final, but the crown may state a case for an opinion from the appellate court.

Diseases Are Included. Dealing with industrial diseases the commissioner states that he has followed the English Act putting them on the same footing as accidents. By the draft bill six diseases are named, but the board is given power to add others.

It would, in his opinion, be a blot on the Act if a workman who suffers from an industrial disease contracted in the course of his employment is not to be entitled to compensation," he declares. "The risk of contracting disease is inherent in the occupation he follows and he is practically powerless to guard against it. A workman may to some extent guard against accidents, and it would seem not only illegal but unreasonable to compensate him in the one case and to deny him the right to compensation in the other."

Coming to the scale of compensation, Sir Wm. maintains that the compensation scale of 55 per cent. of the injured employee's earning power at the time of the accident, as long as the employee is debarred from work, is a fair one.
