IRISH REVOLT FAULT OF THE GOVERNMENT

Knew of Rebel Force Being Armed, Yet It Did Nothing.
PRESS KNEW BUT COULD NOT SPEAK
Mr. Birrell Appears to Come Out of Affair With Lowered Prestige.

By Special Wire to the Times.
London, April 27.—"The revolt in Ireland is the natural result of the government's policy in Ireland," says the Daily Mail. "Augustine Birrell, chief secretary for Ireland, and Premier Asquith still and allow the rebel force to be enrolled and armed. They did not move hand or foot against it. On March 17, 1,600 Irish volunteers paraded most armed with rifles, and nobody stopped or challenged them."
"Mr. Birrell never asked why the volunteers existed. He knew it but rather to obstruct the Imperial forces. On December 10, he declared, 'evidence of their disloyalty is voluminous,' yet he did nothing."
"If he had any policy other than merely drifting, it was to turn a blind eye to the disloyal movement. The government persuaded itself that the treason could be overcome by resolutely looking the other way. The government's wait and see policy was complicated by a hide-the-truth policy."
PRESS WAS MUZZLED.
"If the newspapers had been permitted to publish information which things could not have happened. The Irish authorities would have been aroused from their sleeping sickness by the publication of news that something very exceptional was occurring. They might have taken ordinary precautions, but the press was muzzled. It is proof of the gross negligence and obtuseness when four or five parts of a great city can be seized by comparatively a small number of armed men."
"This colossal blunder follows upon and surpasses all other blunders of the war. How much longer is the nation prepared to drift under the domination of leaders who refuse to lead?"
WORSE THAN REPORTED.
The Daily Express says that Augustine Birrell's strange hesitation in informing the House of Commons of the Irish revolt, makes it natural to imagine the situation is worse than officially reported. It is the duty of the government, says the Express, frankly to admit the truth that stern measures must be adopted against the "crass folly of the rebels," and their possibly good intentions cannot be permitted to save them from the consequences of their crime.
The Daily Chronicle says:
"What is more dreaded now is that even the order speedily restored may be at the cost of bloodshed which rankle for generations. One cannot help hearing reaction against the prospects of constitutional home rule."
The Times says:
"The whole marvellous business is a sorry comment upon the complete failure of Mr. Birrell to maintain respect for law and order during the nine years of his weak, callous administration. Such are the fruits of truckling to sedition and making light of contempt for law. This is not the moment for calling to account what cutive ever responsible for Irish affairs. At present it is the duty of all to insist upon firm measures to over-awe sedition and suppress the organization of the Sinn Fein; and Sir Roger Casement's invasion appears to have been the merest opera bouffe, the Times adds, the character of which will be thoroughly appreciated in Ireland. The paper suggests that the Germans had grown tired of him and his boasts and insisted that he redeem his promises."
AN EYE ON AMERICA.
"The Germans may have calculated," continued the Times, "that the rising in Ireland would influence certain kinds of American opinion in their favor at a time when relations with the United States are critical. German societies and Irish societies in America have been working hand-in-glove to prejudice opinion against Great Britain. They doubtless will exert themselves now about Ireland's struggle for freedom. If the cabinet tries to hush up any part of the truth or confine the intelligence reaching America to official communications, doled out by themselves, the German and Irish agencies in the United States, will have a free field for their malign activities; but if the government allows responsible, competent American correspondents to investigate matters freely and unlettered, we are confident the Germans will find they have misunderstood real American opinion."
