

GERMANY NOT TO GET CANADIAN NICKEL

Measures Taken Early in the War to Prevent Export to Enemy Countries.

Ottawa, July 12.—If the German super-submarine Deutschland, now at Baltimore, leaves the United States with a cargo of nickel that nickel will not be Canadian.

A statement issued yesterday afternoon by the Government makes this point clear.

The statement issued yesterday is as follows: "The attention of the Government has been directed to the statement that nickel, which, it is said, will be conveyed by a German submarine from Baltimore to a German port, is from Canadian mines. This allegation is based upon the statement that no nickel is refined in the United States except what is derived from Canada. That this statement is entirely inaccurate, is shown by the following report from Major Graham A. Bell, who, since the early month of the war, has had the duty of examining and supervising the destination and use of all nickel refined in the United States:

"There is a considerable quantity of nickel ore obtained through various copper mines in the United States and this ore is refined principally by the American Smelting and Refining Company. There is also nickel ore obtained from New Caledonia, which is refined by the United States Nickel Co., of New Brunswick, N.J. The quantity, of course, does not compare with the tonnage manufactured from Canadian ores, but there are some hundreds of tons of refined nickel produced yearly from these sources."

"Measures taken by the Government of Canada to control the destination and use of nickel refined from Canadian ores have the complete approval of the British Government. It should be added that the Canadian Government has always been prepared to take any further measures for this purpose which the British Government might suggest, but the last-named Government is satisfied that the precautions taken are sufficient to prevent the enemy from receiving supplies from this source. As a matter of fact, the factories in the United States which are manufacturing guns and munitions for the allied nations depend for their supply of nickel almost wholly, if not altogether, upon the Canadian production. The munitions plants in the British Isles and in other allied countries are also supplied from the Canadian output."

Obituary

J. H. HARLEY.
Old-Time Resident of Burford Has Passed to His Reward.

A large number of relatives and friends assembled at the village of Burford on Monday afternoon, July 10, to pay their last respects to and assist in the obsequies of the late James Howard Harley. In the passing of Mr. Harley, Burford Township has lost one of the last of her pioneers and one who always took a deep and active interest in public affairs.

Born in Toronto (then York) in 1834, left an orphan at the age of four, he came to Burford to the care of relatives in 1838, and spent the early years of his life in the near vicinity of the village (then Clermont). At the age of 17 he went to Hamilton, when he entered the employ of the Great Western Railway Co., which was then engaged in the building of its road with Hamilton as headquarters.

He spent five years with them, after which he went to Ancaster in connection with his brother, the late Archibald Harley, M.P., of the Harley and Wilson, who had the contract for supplying the lumber for the present G. T. R. station at Hamilton.

He married Margaret, daughter of the late Robert Sharpe, of Ancaster, in 1860. They celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of their wedding on April 2, 1910. In 1862 he came back to Burford and settled on a farm in the northwestern part of the township. Here he resided the greater part of his life, leaving a few years ago to take up a larger farm near Falkland and across the line in the township of Blenheim. He retired to the village of Burford some eight years ago and took an interested part in village affairs until forced to retire through ill-health.

An ardent Liberal in politics, he was especially active in elections, and stumped and canvassed the township of Burford during many campaigns, first accompanying the late Hon. Chief Justice E. B. Wood, then the Hon. J. G. Macdonald, and afterwards he threw all his energy into the support of the late Hon. Wm. Paterson and late Hon. S. Hardy so long as they represented the old south Riding of Brant, having for his opponents such well known old-time Conservatives as the late J. J. Hawkins, Peter Dornan, H. McLaughlin, Wilson and Robert Henry, all of whom were his staunch friends. He was appointed a justice of the peace in 1873.

For three years he was tax collector for the south half of the township, afterwards entering the arena of municipal politics. He was a member of the township and county councils for a number of years. For nearly 20 years he was a director and later president of the Brant Mutual Fire Insurance Co., and did much to place it on the basis which its present efficient management so ably maintains.

One of his later interests was the cheese industry with which he became connected over 40 years ago. Being an enthusiast he was one of those who assisted in the organization and helped to establish the Dairy and Cheese Factory in Oxford County, just across the Burford border, near the post office of Muir's on the Hamilton and London Road. He was for a number of years sales agent and treasurer for this factory.

The late Mr. Harley took a deep interest in education, and was for years a public school trustee. In religion he was a Methodist and in his earlier days had been a licensed local preacher in the M. E. church. He leaves to mourn his loss his wife and eight children, A. E. of this city, Archibald, at Gobles, John at St. Johns, Mich., Ernest at Falkland, New York, Mrs. E. A. of New York, Mrs. Chas. Buck, near Paris and Mrs. Wm. Lisk, Mountain Mills, Alberta.

Mrs. J. B. Holt.
Caroline White, widow of the late Mr. J. B. Holt, died yesterday at her residence, 151 Dalhousie street, after a brief illness. She is survived by her daughter, Mrs. Spedding, and two sons, Ernest and Edgar, all of Brantford.

The funeral (private) takes place to-morrow afternoon at Mt. Hope. See Brantford boys at the Brant Theatre. Now showing.

FATHER ANTHONY, THE HERO OF THE JUTLAND BATTLE.
A Roman Catholic naval chaplain with his scars. He was badly burned in saving two sailors from a fire caused by German shells on a British warship in the Jutland battle.

At the Grand
A real musical show of the season will be John P. Slocum's production of the Princess Theatre hit, "Nobody Home," which is announced for Thursday evening, July 13th, at the Grand Opera House.

Mr. Slocum is one of the most lavish producers identified with the American stage and stops at no expense. His cast includes none but Broadway favorites, and as a result his success is always assured. Among those who will make "Nobody Home" memorable in this city will be Chas. McNaughton, Zoe Barnett, Harry MacDonough, Della Niven, Mabel Withee, Roydon Keith, Lew Christie, John Paulson, Seble Layman, Sylvia Chausac and Helen Jost.

There is a charm to be found in "Nobody Home," that is seldom associated with musical comedies just now—the charm of originality. It is so utterly different from the usual run of such plays, at first the public does not know how to take it. But that soon wears off and it does not take long for everybody to get into the spirit of the performance with its dances, the girls and the comedy. And what is more, everybody will have something to say about the story—for there is a story, even if it does get lost in the fun and music as the play progresses. A musical comedy that carried a story that could be traced to the end of the evening would get a Nobel Prize.

Everybody in this city will be whistling the music and everybody will be commenting on the songs, the dances, the girls and the comedy. And what is more, everybody will have something to say about the story—for there is a story, even if it does get lost in the fun and music as the play progresses. A musical comedy that carried a story that could be traced to the end of the evening would get a Nobel Prize.

30,000 IN LINE
AT CAMP BORDEN

Great Ceremonial Parade Before Minister Furnish and Gallant Spectacle.

OFFICERS MARK APPROVAL

Intense Heat and Driving
Dust Cause One Death and Some Prostrations.

Camp Borden, July 12.—Peace and order again reigned in the camp last evening; and with the ceremonial parade, which was one of the chief causes of complaint, and the chief cause of the disaffected men who caused the trouble are accepting things with the knowledge that Brig. Gen. Logie, acting commandant, has promised to do all in his power to satisfy the men fully.

In marked contrast to the night before the camp lines last after sunset scenes of contentment, games of various sorts being in progress on the battalion areas with matches between various neighboring battalions. The duty of seeing that order is kept in the lines has been impressed on the battalion commanders, who have also been told to do all they can for the comfort of their men.

The interesting ceremonial parade, at which the Minister of Militia and a large number of visitors were present, was held with all brigades in line and only a limited number of absentees; and although the intense heat and choking dust of the parade caused a great deal of discomfort to the men, resulting in one death and eleven cases of heat prostration, the men with few exceptions took sufficient pride in their work to uncomplainingly endure the discomfort of disturbance early in the afternoon working itself out after sunset. It does not seem to have caused to-night at the station.

Second Death in Camp
The death yesterday was the second in camp, but the first to occur among the men taken ill in the camp. The dead man was Pte. John Campbell, of the 24th Beavers Battalion, an "old-countryman," whose father, his father, lived in Scotland with a sister, Mrs. John Eddy, living at 45 Dundas Street, Toronto. He had been one of the battalion batmen, and only complained about 6 o'clock, the cause of death being given as heat prostration. In addition to the case that terminated fatally, there were 25 men cared for in the advanced dressing station, which Capt. McWilliams, A.M.C., had set up on the parade ground. Of these eleven only had to be taken to hospital and they will probably be able to return to their units to-morrow.

The visit of Sir Sam Hughes, Minister of Militia, with a large party of guests, including a number of honorary colonels and other prominent visitors from Toronto and Ottawa, was the important event of the day, it being the first official visit paid the camp since the troops had come in. Sir Sam arrived at the camp at 6 o'clock in his private car accompanied by Brig-Gen. Bertram, Brig-Gen. Smith, with officers of his personal staff, and a party of newspapermen. He went at once to breakfast with the camp, and afterwards met the officers of the London units at a short informal conference when he pointed out to them the necessity there had been of bringing their units to Camp Borden, where they would have an adequate training area. He had nothing to say regarding the rioting of the night before, which he was inclined to dismiss as not serious.

FAMOUS POET VISITING JAPAN
Sir Rabindranath Tagore Will Visit United States.
Tokio, July 12.—Sir Rabindranath Tagore, the renowned Indian poet, who has arrived in Japan to study the psychology of the people, will probably leave for the United States by the end of July. He will deliver a series of lectures in the United States, expounding his ideas on literature and art. It is likely that he will spend the winter there, and in the spring, if the war is over, cross to England.
In Tokio the poet seeks to adhere as closely as possible to his normal life. He rises seldom later than 3 o'clock in the morning and passes four hours in meditation. He believes that if by reflection and repose one can still the surface of thought, the deeper sub-conscious ideas come to their own. At 7 o'clock he takes tea and after tea he works till 11, when he bathes and has a meal. He tries to sleep a little in the afternoon and he retires at 10. He is content normally with five hours sleep.
The death occurred at Exeter of Mrs. Agur, wife of Rev. Colin Fletcher, D.D., in her 88th year.

PARIS GAT AS BEFORE WAR
"We Are Within Pistol Shot of Peronne" is the Cry.
By Special Wire to the Courier.
Paris, July 12.—With the progress of the offensive Paris has come gayer than at any moment since the beginning of the war. A notable change has taken place in the last few days. The official parade of July 14, will illustrate the new spirit. On that day following the ceremony at the Invalides, French, British, Russian and Belgian troops from the front will march down the Champs Elysees, through the boulevards, thus participating in the first patriotic demonstration of the war. The silence of the German communications is considered a further good omen, though everyone realizes the great task still ahead, and that the big push cannot be driven home until the German reserves are used up. The byword of the boulevards last night was: "We are within pistol shot of Peronne."
Two Toronto boys were arrested at Port Hope. Both had bad records. B. I. Reilly, principal of the Merivale School, Saskatchewan, enlisted with the Queen's Battery for overseas.

Good Little Elves
By Leona Dalrymple
Author of "Dance of the Green" Etc.

THE LIGHTHOUSE ELF

His mother said it was because he didn't try to sleep and his father said it was because he slept too hard and dreamed. I don't know. I only know that he tumbled out of the window and went a-sailing on Moonlight Sea in a boat made of a giant coconut shell.

He steered by a star in his coconut boat and his name was Peter. On and on he sailed, until he came to a lighthouse with waves of moonlight splashing all around it—and here, somewhat frightened, Peter met the Lighthouse Elf.

"Any night a boat!" called the elf. "Whither away?"

Peter climbed to the very top of the fairy lighthouse and there he met a dream-elf with terrible eyes that stared one from each window and lighted up the sea.

"I—I'm afraid!" said Peter.

"Pooh!" said the Lighthouse Elf. "What are you afraid of? The sea is of moonlight and the rocks are shadows. I must throw a light upon the rocks, with my eyes or the fairy's coconut shell you're in might shipwreck. You're on your way to Dreamland!"

"Dreamland?" said Peter, and then all at once he remembered that he hadn't tied his boat of coconut shell.

"I—I didn't tie my boat!" he cried.

"Didn't tie your boat?" he cried.

"Then you are in a fix. You'll have to stay with me forever."

And do you know, Peter might have had to do that but for the wind that came a-blowing fresh and clear in at the window of the fairy lighthouse.

"Climb on my back, little Peter," the elf whispered. "Climb on my back. My wings are strong and I rove the world."

So Peter travelled back to his home and his bed on the back of the night wind.

BIG SUBS WERE PLANNED BEFORE WAR BROKE OUT

Feats Equal to That of "Deutschland" Already Performed.

By Special Wire to the Courier.
London, July 12.—The Manchester Guardian referring to the German submarine Deutschland, says that plans for submarines of 3,000 to 4,000 tons existed in Germany and England before the war, but that such vessels were not built because of the time required to submerge them and the impossibility of submerging in shallow water. It points out that the Australian submarine A-32 went from Australia, to the Dardanelles and says that the captain and the crew of the Deutschland are members of the Imperial navy the submarine may be dealt with as a naval auxiliary. Otherwise she is a blockade runner which could be ordered to stop, and if she attempted to submerge it would be justifiable to sink her.

"It is unlikely," the Guardian continues, "that the morale of the appearance in American waters of the German submarine will be misused as the threats of Count Von Reventlow and the other Tirpitz writers last spring. They warned America she was not to far away for Germany's arm to reach her. Although the Deutschland may be armed. She is none the less a threat to the American navy."

Ernest Murphy, of Concord, N.H. before starting with guardsmen for Mexico, killed his pet horse, two dogs and a cat rather than leave them to the care of strangers.
