Great Day at Addison

The Old People's Day and Reunion

SUNDAY, OCT. 2

We extend an earnest and cordial invitation to all aged people of all churches, to all the old settlers who have removed to other parts, to all the sons and daughters of this historic neighborhood, and to every one, old and young, to join with us in this grand celebration.

Visitors will be warmly welcomed and entertained in the homes of the neighborhood, so be sure to come for the whole day.

Please put your name on the Visitors' Book, which is to be kept in the parsonage for future reference. If possible, please wear a small white badge on the lapel of your coat in honor of the day.

At the afternoon service there will be presented a morocco bound Bible (large type) to the oldest person attending the services.

PROGRAMME

9.30 a. m.—The old folks will tell the old story in the old way to the young. Special music by the children.

10.30 a. m.—The Old People's Hallelujah Banquet —a feast of good things. Bro. William Robins of Glen Buell has been invited to take charge and the Glen Buell class has been invited to join with us in this service.

2.00 p. m.—Prayer and praise service in charge of the pastor.

2.30 p. m.—The Rev. S. J. Hughes, M.A., pastor of the Athens Circuit, will preach on the old lines. Following this service, there will be a memorial service for those who have died in the neighborhood during the year.

7.00 p. m.—Song service, followed by a service conducted by the pastor in the old fashioned way.

Closing with the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper, in which members of all churches are invited to participate.

Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Davis attended Ottawa fair for a few days.

The farmers here are hurrying with their silo filling before another frost comes, such as we had a few weeks ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Jarvis paid a visit to friends in Seely's Bay, recently.

Mrs. A. Mulyens, Ganavoque, who has been visiting at her parents', has returned home.

A few from here were at Lansdowne fair on the 23rd.

Miss Alice Horton has returned from New Dublin, where she has been visiting friends.

CHARLESTON

Cedar Park hotel closes the last of this month.

There are quite a number of guests at the hotels at present.

J. B. Smith has improved the appearance of his residence by having it painted.

Mrs. S. Cleary and children, Chalk River, are visiting relatives here.

Benjamin Beale, Sr., is very ill.

O. J. Slack attended the Prescott fair last week.

A great many attended the fair at Lansdowne on Friday.

W. F. Johnston is having his house painted.

Corn cutting and potato digging is the order of the day and a great many report potatoes rotten.

A very enjoyable time was spent at the box social at the separate school, Sheatown, on Thursday evening.

A number of young people enjoyed a corn roast at Fortune's school house on Friday evening.

LYNDHURST

On Saturday evening the members of the Baseball Club with their lady friends assembled at the home of Mr.
W. Johnson to spend a pleasant evening and bid a mutual farewell to our mutual friend, Mr. Sovereign, whose genial disposition brought him a wide circle of friends.

Before parting, Mr. Geo. Lee and Mr. Clifford Johnson, on behalf of the Club, presented Mr. Sovereign with a gold locket, engraved, and the following short address:

Lyndhurst, Sept. 24, 1904

Dear Mr. Sovereign,— As your stay in our midst is drawing to a close, the Lyndhurst Baseball Club desires to thank you for the good work you have done as a player, and, especially, for the good influence you have had both on the players and spectators, on the ball field and in your everyday life. During the past season we have been more successful than at first we deemed possible. And it is, in a large part, to your excellent play ing that we owe our success. In this season's work Lyndhurst has won the name of having an honest, upright, and gentlemanly team. Here, again, as well as for work on the diamond, we are indebted to you; for by the example you have set you have helped us attain that name.

Before you leave, we wish you to accept this locket as a token of the esteem in which you are held by us.
And in parting we wish you every success, not only in your college work, but also in your future life.

GLEN BUELL

Arrived home on Monday morning from the far famed Northwest wheat fields, Delbert Westlake. He has been in that section for about thirty days, prospecting and enjoying an outing. While he speaks highly of Manitoba and the great possibilities of that province, he is frank enough to admit the fact that there is no place which has so many charms for him as Point Edward.

Hen roost thieves are doing a thrifty business. A few nights ago they called on James A. Lee and secured his supply of young and old stock.

Two or three nights later, they appropriated John Morden, Jr.'s entire flock, old and young, not even leaving one to announce the time of day.

Not yet satisfied, some persons visited the hen dairy owned and operated by Harvey Brynton & Son and left them without sufficient hens to complete present contracts on hand for eggs.

Mrs. Mary Hays reports thieves in her cellar, who helped themselves to several sealers of preserves. We think it a great shame to thus impose upon a widow woman.

It has been proposed to hold a public indignation meeting to object to the celebrated chimney at the P. S., as it is neither an ornament nor a useful piece of architecture.

The Kirkland Brothers have received their new corn-harvester, which works fine indeed. We are pleased to see these men take so much interest in labor saving machinery.

C. J. Gilroy & Son report having made three or four sales of young stock at Ottawa fair last week.

The innocent and guileless lambs of the Glen made a trip to Ottawa last week and returned in due time, much happier and wiser because of their trip to Parliament Hill.

Corn crops at the Glen look sorrowful indeed; bad company one night was the cause,

OLD BAVARIAN TOWNS.

Many of the smaller ones are merely walled farm villages.

In old Bavarian districts many of the smaller towns are merely walled farm villages. These settlements of agriculturalists reproduce the ancient laager for all. Each is built in the form of a parallelogram, the shorter sides having each a gateway, with double gates, over which rise central square watch-towers capped with conical roofs.
A narrow road or street runs from gate to gate, with old half timber houses set back close to the inclosing wall.
The ground floor of these houses affords stabling for cattle, and from these stables the cows are driven out through the town gates in the morning and brought in at night. Townships like this are merely clusters of houses intimately connected with the farm lands that lie beyond their gates.
The peasantry, whether peasant proprietors or allotment leaseholders, go in and out to their work.

In eastern Bavaria, toward the Danube, where the better class farms are to be seen, one finds farmhouses of wood, a great shingled roof covering—as in Holland—not only the large living apartment, with many bedrooms, but also the stables for the horses and cattle. On such farms much of the farm work is done by girls, who usually wear short petticoats, tight bodices and kerchiefs on their heads.
Most of the men are either in the army or working at trades.

SMOKING A CIGAR.

Some Things That Every User of Tobacco Does Not Know.

"It's really remarkable, considering the 12,000,000,000 cigars smoked in the United States every year, how few men really know how to smoke," said a prominent tobacco dealer. "There is one mistake in particular that even experienced smokers sometimes make—that is in not keeping the tobacco burning properly."

"About 90 per cent, I should say, of all the cigars sold are better on the outside than the inside. This isn't wholly to deceive the prospective buyer. It requires a good quality of leaf to shape the outside of a cigar, while the filler may be more readily composed of inferior tobacco. The smoker who permits his cigar to burn inside the wrapper loses the best part of it. Practically any cigar is rank when smoked through the center. The aroma is lost and the smoke is bitter and acrid."

"Putting on a cigar that is not burning properly only increases the difficulty. The smoker gets more of the smoke of the inside leaves, and the whole cigar becomes hot from the effects of the increased combustion in the center of it. The proper thing—the only thing—to do under the circumstances is to light the cigar again, taking care that wrapper and all are included in the lighting. If this plan were followed a good many smokers wouldn't change their brand of cigars so often."

Looming Mirages.

In what are called "looming mirages" distant objects show an apparent extravagant increase in height without alteration in breadth. Distant pinnacles of ice are thus magnified into immense towers or tall, jagged mountains, and a ship thus reflected from far out at sea may appear to be twelve or fifteen times as tall as it is long. Rocks and trees are also shown in abnormal shapes and positions, while houses, animal and human beings appear in like exaggerated shapes. Before the sandy plains of our southwestern states and territories were converted into verdant fields by the ingenuity and tireless energy of man mirages were very common in those regions, the Indians regarding the phrenomena as being the work of evil spirits.

Reflecting Lighthouses' Origin.
Accident, not necessity, was the parent of the invention of reflecting lighthouses. During a meeting of a mathematical society at Liverpool some years ago one of the members laid a wager that he could read a newspaper paragraph at ten yards distance by the light of a farthing candle. This he succeeded in doing by covering the inside of an earthen dish with putty and sticking bits of looking glass on it and then placing his reflector behind the candle. Captain Hutchinson, a dock master, was present, and from this experiment gained the idea from which he evolved the reflecting light-house as built in Liverpool.

Cheaping.

In parts of Switzerland the baker's wife carries round the bread in a sort of hamper, and she has not a fixed, immutable charge, but chaffers for a price with the customers. The old English word for this process was "cheaping," which in many places in England has been corrupted into clipping. Clipping Norton, for instance, is really Cheaping Norton, or the place where goods were cheapened—that is, sold by chaffer.

A Sad Predicament.

Mabel—I was so mortified at the Pouch mansion the other night. Flo-—What happened? Mabel—I wanted to laugh in my sleeve, but I had on my decolette gown and had to hide the laugh in my glove.

Nothing Free.

Bacon—Do they give you prunes often at your boarding house? Egbert —They give us nothing! We have to pay for prunes, and we get 'em six times a week!

A Remarkable Feat.

Old Salt—Oh, the ocean's a big place, dearie! Why, many's the time I've stood for three days on one tack, and—"My sakes, grandpa! I hope you had your shoes on!"

A Hard Island Coon Hunt

The coons were coming in our corn, Because they like to eat it so—It grows down there behind the barn, Down by the woods, you know.

Two chaps from Union Valley came, Prepared to go and hunt them there;
They brought three splendid dogs along, Least it should prove to be a bear.

Now, Mr. Editor, I say, Don't get me in your song
As tho' I went out hunting too, For I just went along.

But when we got into the woods,
"Way down behind the barn,"
The dogs an awful yelping made A-coming through the corn.

And then the boys, to hear them, sir, You'd think were water-loom, Young Loyd he jumped and yelled,
"Ha, boys,
It's just alive with coons."

One coon ran plunk against the fence, As tho' he couldn't see,
And then he turned his course and made Straight for the nearest tree.

Two dogs, of course, took other tracks And soon were far away, Which left the boys the smallest dog
The captive coon to slay.

So Loyd he climbed into the tree, While Watt a cudgel found And waited 'neath impatiently Till his coonship should come down.

But when his feet one touched the turf For a distant tree he lined, While Watt pursued with club in hand And scarce one jump behind

And stumbling as they reach the tree, In the light of the glimmering moon You scarce could tell for your dear life Which was the boy or coon.

Then up the basswood tree they thought,
Lest he should get away, They'd let his lordly coonship rest Until the break of day.

And you can't guess, dear editor, What solid bliss they found—One leaning up against the tree, One sleeping on the ground.

All Women Are Created Beautiful and they would grow up so if they kept their bodies healthy and their minds free from care. Worry is a disease, which

Dr. Hugo's Health Tablets made from the latest formula known to medical science for the ills of women, will permanently cure.

This medicine is a wonderful tonic and regulator.
It stops all drains on the system.
It makes women regular.
It takes away the tired feeling.
It makes new, rich blood.
It makes a woman cheerful in mind and well in body.
It cures organic female weakness and uterine and womb diseases.
It renders surgical operations unnecessary.

Make Healthy Women
Dr. Hugo, of Paris, would charge you $50 for this medicine. We charge 50 cents for a box of six dozen tablets.

A Husband's Opinion

I wish to congratulate you upon the efficacy of Dr. Hugo's Health Tablets for Women. Mrs.
Baldwin has tested them, and certifies to their virtue. Her experience, together with the testimony of others in this vicinity who have been by them "made healthy women," leads me to recommend you to send three boxes to a relative, Mrs. Martmann, who is a sufferer from the same illness as women, whom physicians and their remedies have thus far failed to cure.—CHAS. E.
BALDWIN. (Mr. Baldwin is Mayor of Baraboo and ex-Warden of Standand County.)
