BITTER FIGHT.

Murder and Riot Over Election of Mayor at Garry.

Chicago, Oct. 22.—One murder, two riots, scores of street fights between citizens and the severance of three business partnerships is the result of four days of intense political strife at Garry, Ind., attendant upon the election of the first Mayor of the "Steel City." The mutilated body of Roda Ivanich, one of the participants in the primary riot of Monday last, was found at daylight yesterday lying in the middle of one of Garry's principal streets. Ivanich had been shot with a revolver through the back of the head. His face was then beaten into an almost unrecognizable mass. Two men are being held as suspects.

Following close upon the disclosure of the Ivanich murder, it was announced that three business firms had dissolved partnerships because of animosity growing out of the bitter Mayorality campaign.

ORGANIZED BIBLE WORK.

Rally of Adult Classes In Charlton Ave. Church.

Frank Yeigh, of Toronto, Gave Capital Address.

Federation of Ten Organized Classes Is Proposed.

The first annual rally of the organized adult Bible classes of Hamilton was held last evening in Charlton Avenue Methodist Church, and an enthusiastic and interested attendance was present. Mr. Byron Smith, principal of Wentworth Street School, occupied the chair, and a splendid musical programme was given by the choir, led by the men's chorus.

The opening address was given by Rev. W. J. Smith, President of the Hamilton Methodist Conference, who spoke a few words of hearty welcome and said the movement was going to prove a veritable revolution of religion of a very far reaching sort. In it was the foundation for the highest citizenship that any land could wish for, as it could not be founded upon a more solid basis--the Bible.

The address of the evening was delivered by Mr. Frank Yeigh, Toronto, on "Federation of Organized Bible Classes." Mr. Yeigh has been connected with Sunday school work for over twenty years, and is ex-president of the Toronto federation. He said he would attempt to do two things: First, to explain the advantages of organized adult Bible classes, and second, to show the advantages to be gained by federation. The difference between the old style class and the new organization was that the old one was a man affair. The teacher did everything and the whole programme was laid down for the scholars, with the result that he performed his part of the work automatically and without any interest. If the scholars had any ideas they were not called for, and consequently became dull and uninterested. In the new scheme all the scholars had a share and they felt personally responsible for the success of the class, as was shown by the remarkable growth of the different organizations. It refused power into the life of the class by each one having an equal share in it, and numerous lines of church activity had been discovered. Men and women were willing to render an adequate Christian service, but it must be one in which they were interested. The organized classes opened a range of Christian opportunities never before possible, and the speaker did not take much stock in any church organization that did not translate their Christianity into deeds, either missionary or otherwise. In speaking of the question of federation, he said he had seen the records of hundreds of the organization that had federated, and every one of them was a success. It brought all the classes together into one body, and put them in a position to do great things. It was not necessary to have a large number of organizations in a large city to make an effective federation, as some of the most successful ones were composed of held the boards at the Grand Opera House last evening, and the large audience that was in attendance seemed much pleased with the show. With patriotism to help it along it was a play to delight the heart of an Irishman, but without this aid it was mediocre. Bernard Daly, in the role of Larry O'Connell, was undoubtedly very good, and his singing would have pleased the most critical, but one man shows are not popular, and consequently "Sweet Innisfallen" did not make as big a hit as it would have had Daly been supported by a better company. James Mace, as Squire Carlton, the villain, made but a poor sort of rascal. Pearl Hart as Grace Moore had little if any dramatic feeling, and was not a success. The remaining members of the cast are not up to standard, but with all these drags Daly makes the show a pleasing one.

Amusements

The Irish Romance, "Sweet Innisfallen,"

HOLIDAY ATTRACTION.

"Girls" the Clyde Fitch comedy which made many friends here last season, will be offered at the Grand again next Monday and Tuesday evenings, with a special matinee on Monday. The company is said to be equal to that of last season, and is the one that presented the play for over five months in Chicago last year, so that theatre goers are assured a good performance, while the piece will be staged in the same elaborate manner as seen here before. Realism may be said to have had a lot to do with making this play a success. The first act, showing the studio of three girls who have proclaimed themselves genuine man-haters, fully eclipses all previous efforts made in this line. Visions of prettiness in dishevelled, making chocolate and eating eclairs before retiring for the night; pink toes peeping out from an all too short coverlet until their snoring owner calls a companion to "tuck" her in; realistic presentation of horrified slumber by the presence of a man in the room--all these and much more, man-aged so cleverly and adroitly that not the slightest hint of offensiveness can be held valid, are among the situations involved in the play.

MARGUERITE CLARK.

Dainty Marguerite Clark will be seen at the Grand on Saturday of next week in her new play, entitled "The Wishing Ring," which is described by the author, Owen Davies, as a phantasmagoria. The piece is in four acts, all of which are laid in Devonshire, England. A powerful company surrounds Miss Clark, and the play is handsomely staged.

WEBER'S TRAVESTY.

The travesties of "The Merry Widow and the Devil," which will be seen here for the first time since Joe Weber's aggregation of laugh-smiths, including Sam Collins, Frank Mayne, Charles Stine, Oscar Ragland, Merita Harris, Marie Naughton, Hazel Tupper and the famous Joe Weber zeany chorus, will take possession of the Grand for two nights, commencing Wednesday evening. The music of the burlesque is the original "Merry Widow" music, and as funny as George Y. Hobart has made the libretto, the beauty of the music remains serious. The story of the burlesque follows the original grooves in general. The stage settings are pretty, and so are the costumes. If the burlesque does not

CAMPAIGN IN WARD 7.

First Meeting Last Evening Was Rather Poorly Attended.

But Workers Are as Enthusiastic as Last Year

When They Carried a Full License Reduction Slate.

Members and supporters of the Citizens' Campaign League in Ward 7 met last night in Victoria Avenue Baptist Church School room. Mr. Ira Green, was in the chair.

The object of the meeting was to organize for the coming municipal campaign. The attendance was rather small and while the meeting was in progress the lights went out, but these incidents did not discourage the workers.

Mr. A. H. Lyle sent in a request to be relieved from the Secretaryship of the Ward Committee, owing to pressure of business. A committee was appointed to get a man to fill the bill and report at the next meeting of the executive.

It was also given out that should any voter in Ward 7 have any likely candidate in view that the name should be submitted to the executive, in confidence.

Ald. Lees advocated the selection of men who will vote for the reduction of licenses, and further all movements for the advancement of the city in the best and noblest interests. He also referred to the excellent results which the oratorical contest, held last Tuesday night, must inevitably bring about for the temperance cause.

Ald. Peregrine said activity must be the war cry and slogan in the coming election campaign. He referred to the good work done by the City Council this year, and hoped to see the taxrate reduced to 20 mills in the course of a few years. He spoke on the drink evil and pointed out how it is eating away the manhood of the country.

He emphasized the pre-eminent importance of individual effort in working for the candidates appointed.

Mr. H. Banwell also spoke much on the same lines as the two previous speakers.

Dr. Williamson said many true things about the evils of the liquor business. He had seen more young men drunk in Hamilton during the last month, than he had during the three years he had lived here. If anything meant defeat it would be indifference and over confidence. Energetic workers in Ward 7 are requested to do some hustling in Ward 6 and endeavor to get the crowd to go to the next meeting in Simcoe Street Methodist School room next Friday evening.

Ward 7 is going to select a strong man to replace Ald. Cooper, who is one of the candidates for controllership.

There was also a meeting in Ward 4 of the Citizens' Campaign Committee and supporters.

The executive committee was authorized to interview possible aldermanic candidates. Speeches were made by Rev. S. B. Russell, Rev. A. H. Going, and Mr. Eric Bower.
