According to a report presented to parliament the premiums paid in Canada for life insurance during 1894 aggregated $3,909,284, an increase of $276,505 as compared with 1893.

An Ottawa despatch says: The government has received advice from a party sent out last year to prospect the oil fields of Athabasca. The reports are very favorable.

Dr. Hingston, of Montreal who was made a Knight Bachelor by Her Majesty, on the last anniversary of her birthday, is one of the foremost surgeons in the British Empire.

A new magazine called the Anti-Confederate has made its appearance in Newfoundland. It is not stated that Sir Richard Cartwright is in any way interested in the new venture.

From a most interesting article entitled, 'Some thoughts on Canada,' contributed by the Marquis of Lorne to the June number of the North American Review, we make the following extract, which we feel sure will be perused with much interest by our readers.

Among the extraordinary complications which from time to time manifest themselves in the conduct of public affairs in the United States, comes just now, a delay and a consequent denial of justice, arising from the failure of Congress to make the necessary appropriation for the ordinary expenses of the judicial machinery.

The division in the House of Commons, on Thursday morning last was a significant one, for more reasons than one. It was, to begin with, the first announcement of the House on the policy of ultra free trade.

would be 57, or 136 Conservatives to 79 Grits. We most respectfully submit that this is a very fair showing, for a Government that, according to our Grit friends, is "tottering to its fall."

Our esteemed and valued contemporary, the Montreal True Witness, has, within the past few weeks, moved into new and more commodious quarters, and donned a new dress of type.

The numerous changes in the trade policy of our Grit friends, makes it a very difficult task for the rank and file of that party to remember the different platforms adopted from time to time, and the utterances of their leaders regarding any particular one.

Although never very robust, Father McElmeel was a very gentle man, and in the discharge of his sacerdotal duties, was unsparring of himself. He possessed first-rate intellectual abilities, and was a fervent and eloquent preacher.

From the time of his death till this morning, the body, encased in a beautiful casket, lay in the possession of the Palace. During yesterday and last night large numbers huddled and viewed the remains.

The budget debate was resumed in the House of Commons on Tuesday May 28th. Several speakers on both sides addressed the House, during the afternoon and evening, including Mr. L. H. Davies.

Rev. P. A. McElmeel.

It is with the deepest regret we chronicle the death of Rev. Patrick A. McElmeel, which occurred, after a few days illness, of pneumonia, at the Episcopal Palace, in this city, at eleven o'clock, on Monday evening last.

Father McElmeel was a native of Hope River, where he was born forty years ago, and died at his aged father, Mr. Peter McElmeel, and several brothers and sisters still reside. Before studying for the priesthood he taught school, and was, for several years, attached to St. Patrick's School, in this city.

and therefore survived the death of its last leader, who has in the national soil, wrapped in the robes of the nation's honor, embalmed in the bitterness of the nation's tears. It was said, continued the secretary of state, that the government ought to go to the country. But when it was thought that this would happen the whole opposition party protested against it, and Mr. Mills discovered a new constitutional reason why dissolution should not take place.

Mr. Montague put on a helpless look and said I beg him gentlemen not to laugh at me. These are words quoted from a speech made in 1876 by the member for North Norfolk (Charlton). One statement made by Dr. Montague of interest to the commercial community is that at present there are one-half million barrels of wheat for sale at advanced prices in the hands of Ontario farmers.

History of the Miramichi.

One more round trip of the Miramichi between this city and the Gulf ports and the staunch old boat's life work will have ended. The quaint side-wheeler of the fashion of a generation ago will give place to the modern screw steamship Compauna which is expected to be a more reliable canal.

On Friday, May 31st, after an hour or two of preliminary complaining over the failure of the opposition to secure all returns asked for without delay, the house got into committee on the estimates. Mr. Mills (Bothwell) brought on a discussion of the cost of the dominion electoral lists. This led up to a debate on the franchise act generally.
