On 419 Special Trains, C. G. Railways

Up to March 1st 757,400 Troops have travelled over Government Railways.

Thousands arrive each week at Halifax and are sent forward to Dispersal Areas.

Since the war began in 1914 up to March 1st, when S.S. Belgic disembarked her returned soldier passengers at Halifax 757,400 troops have been carried on special trains over the Canadian Government Railways.

The first train which carried troops over the Government Railways the year the war was declared was numbered one and all special troop trains to and from Halifax since that time have been numbered consecutively. The last train from the Belgic was on Saturday No 1279. Each train averages about twelve cars with an average of 50 men to a car, which figures up a total of 787,400 men carried. Of course in addition to this thousands of soldiers have journeyed between Montreal and Halifax by regular trains during the past four years.

The movement of troops back to Canada is now approaching its greatest activity. Last Sunday 5000 arrived at Halifax by the transports Lapland and Belgic and fifteen special trains were despatched westward inside of fourteen hours.

S. S. Magentic with soldiers and dependants arrived Wednesday and S. S. Adriatic due Sunday. The movement of returning men is to be kept up actively all summer.

The process of disembarkation at Halifax is being carried on without a hitch, and there is a fine system of co-operation between the Military and the Railway officials.

Minard's Liniment Co., Limited.

Gentle—I have used your MINARD'S LINIMENT in my family, and also in my stable for years, and consider it the best medicine obtainable.

Yours truly, ALFRED ROCHAY, Proprietor Buxton Ford Hotel and Livery Stables.

Look! Read! Realize.

We cater to the men's trade, and no other. If you were sick you wouldn't call to see a Tailor, or a Blacksmith, about the condition of your health. Of course not; you would call to see a Doctor

If you wanted a Suit or an Overcoat would you go to see a Doctor, or a Shoemaker? Not at all. You would go to see a First Class Tailor.

WELL, there's where we shine!!! We study the business. We know what suits a young man we know what suits a middle-aged man, and we know what suits the old gentleman—both in goods and in style. It does not make any difference whether you want your clothes Ready-to-Wear, or Made-to-Order. We are equally in a position to suit you. We do not let a suit or overcoat leave our establishment until it suits and fits the man who is buying. Our prices are always right when you take the quality into consideration.

Do not forget that we are sole agents for the famous W H Leishman & Co., Wholesale Custom Tailors. We have an elegant stock of Overcoats to show you at the present time.

Overcoats, Made-to-Order-from... $30.00 to $48.00

Overcoats, Ready-to-Wear..... $15.00 to $36.00

The White Sisters

Heroic efforts are being made by the White Sisters of the Sahara to save their little charges among the Arabian children from a plague of blindness that is sweeping the oasis towns of the Sahara desert. Already thousands have lost their sight.

Eight out of ten children are being affected, and with the services of the French military doctors required to prevent the spread of the disease among the French colonial troops, the burden of the fight to save the children has fallen upon the White Sisters.

With Biskra, the "Garden of Allah" oasis, as their headquarters, the Sisters tour the desert on camels, visiting the oasis towns where the plague is at its worst.

The plague has not affected the adult population to the same extent as it has the children as yet, but it is feared with the approach of the hot months the disease will become even more widespread. The fifth of the oasis towns and the uncovered camel markets breed countless millions of flies, even during the winter months, and these are believed to carry the germs of the granular trachoma with which the Arabian children are afflicted.

The work of the White Fathers and the White Sisters in Africa has increased greatly in extent since the former order was founded under the patronage of Cardinal Lavergie in 1868 for the immediate purpose of taking care of the Arabian children left orphans by the famine of 1867, and for the wider purpose of educating and Christianizing the children of the Northern Africa districts.

In 1908 the order had 135,000 neophytes in all its vicariates, and there were 151,480 preparing for baptism.

The White Fathers have associated with them a lay brotherhood, which devotes its attention to teaching agriculture and trades to the young blacks.

The White Sisters came into existence at the instance of Cardinal Lavergie, and are formally designated as the Missionary Sisters of Our Lady of Africa. The general character of their work is related by a young New York girl who joined their number, as follows:

"Here in Northern Africa we cannot openly teach our holy religion, but we labor on in spite of many difficulties, endeavoring to improve the girls and women who will frequently frequent our workrooms. We teach them plain sewing, carpet weaving, embroidery and lacework. Thus they are enabled to earn a small sum every week, the salary varying according to their ability.

"Many of our Sisters have returned from France, where they had been engaged as Red Cross nurses during the war. We hope to open new stations if we can get the means. If the benefactors would like to spread the gospel amongst our negroes they can do so quite easily by adopting a Sister of Our Lady of Africa or by contributing to establish mission stations."

Sister Mary Xaverine, the writer of the letter, is an Irish American, but many French-Canadian young ladies have joined the order, since a Postulate was first opened in Canada fifteen years ago.

The Louvain Library

High testimony is again borne in the Times Belgian Number to the attitude of Cardinal Mercier during the German occupation. We are told that he and Burgomaster Max typify the Belgian international resistance as no other men can. No one can read Cardinal Mercier's correspondence without coming under the spell of the utter devotion to duty and high patriotism which these letters breathe. And the Number is all the more striking from the fact that it contains an article from the Cardinal himself, in

Head Ached So Bad

HAD TO GO TO BED.

When the liver becomes sluggish and inactive it does not manufacture enough bile to thoroughly act on the bowels and carry off the waste matter from the system, hence the bowels become clogged up, the bile gets into the blood, constipation sets in and is followed by sick and bilious headaches, water brash, heartburn, floating specks before the eyes, and painful internal bleeding or protruding piles.

Milburn's Lax-Liver Pills regulate the flow of bile so that it acts properly on the bowels and stirs the sluggish liver into activity.

Mrs. E. Bainbridge, Amherst, N.B., writes—"I take pleasure in writing you of the good I received by using Milburn's Lax-Liver Pills for headache. I was so bad I had to go to bed, and could not sit up. A friend told me about your wonderful medicine, and two vials have made me as well as I can be."

viatication. But what is good policy as respects our private character may not be wise as respects our public character or the reputation of movements or causes in which we are engaged. Here a more zealous and instant course of action seems to be advisable.

A Long Trip

It took Father Peter Hipp just four years to get from India to California, and now that he's there with the old padre he says he's going to stay. The aged priest was chaplain to a British regiment in Bengal when the war broke out. Being a German the Indian papers caused his resignation. The war department told him that he could go anywhere he wished, and he chose California. His nationality was such a handicap for him that he had to spend months in Hong Kong, where he was the only German to walk the streets free during the war, and to remain in Manila till the armistice was signed.

From Manila to Monterey it took him over a year because of passport difficulties.

The Downside Benedictines of England have been welcomed back to Cambridge University. With Dom Bede Cunn at their head they have opened a house in Park Terrace. They are taking an active part in Catholic activities at the ancient university.

Bishop of North Pole.

The Bishop of the North Pole, whose duty it is to care for the Catholics in those vast reaches of frozen lands that lie north of the sixtieth degree of latitude, east of the Yukon and west of the one hundredth degree of longitude is a visitor in New Orleans.

He is the Right Rev. Gabriel Breynat, D. D., of the Oblates of Mary Immaculate, Vicar Apostolic of Mackenzie. Under his jurisdiction are eighteen Oblate priests and thirteen churches, with a Catholic population of about 4,500.

When Bishop Breynat sets forth upon a pastoral visit, it is with a team of dogs dragging a snow sledge, and the realization that before he completes his journey he must be prepared to face treacherous quagmires, nights in the open air, piercing wind and rain, ice that comes too soon and snow that comes too late, snowstorms, wreck and almost unbearable cold.

How To Deal With Slanders

When Plato heard it was reported that he was a very bad man, he said: "I shall take care so to live that none will believe it." A very excellent recourse for all good men in the face of false accusation. Only the base believe what the base utter. Friendships easily estranged are just as well lost. The sparks of slander if not fanned by undue notice, will soon die out. Had we to chase down every reflection, life would become a flea hunt. Alexander Dumas thought that the best way to check slander was to despise it. Truth is a child of time; she may be slow, but she is sure later on with her an Eat Anything Now.

How Many Dyspeptics Can Say This?

The sufferer from dyspepsia and indigestion who has to pick and choose his food, is the most miserable of all mankind. Even the little he does eat causes such torture, and is digested so imperfectly that it does him little good.

What dyspeptics need is not dieting or rigid fasts, but something that will put the stomach right so it will manufacture its own digestive ferments. For over 40 years Burdock Blood Purifiers has been restoring stomachs to a normal, healthy condition so that the food no longer causes distress, but is thoroughly digested and assimilated, and the dyspeptic can eat what he pleases without any suffering.

Mr. F. Dalton, Collingwood, Ont., writes—"I was troubled with dyspepsia and was induced to try Burdock Blood Purifiers. I took three bottles and am now entirely cured; my stomach is free of all pain; I can eat anything I wish, and I no longer feel any bad effects."
