MT. FOREST CORRESPONDENCE.

The Municipal Elections now absorb all the attention of the free and indepen-dent, particularly the knowing ones, who have certain claims to the title of politi-cal and municipal jockeys. Indeed, the crop of candidates is large, and promises to increase on or before the day of nomi-nation, and if the business talent possessed by the candidates is only equal and in proportion to the humber seeking election, this quarter of the Dominion will be well represented for the year 1868. It is yet hard, to determine who will contest the Reeveship of our village. Messrs. Swan, David Yeomans, Naismith, Scott, and McMillan are named as eligible; for the Council, in fact their name is legion, but the probability is that a majority of the old Council will be re-elected for the village. For the township of Normanby Messrs McMahon and Hendry for the Reeveship, and a dozen or so for the Council. In Egremont there are about a dozen aspirants for the Reeveship, and at two or more in each concession for the Council. In Arthur township, Messrs Small and R. Morrison, senr., for the Reeveship; for Deputy Reeve. Messrs Alex. Allan and Gordon. Candidates for Council quite numerous. The By-law for granting the sum of $10,000 to aid the construction of the Wellington, Grey and Bruce Railway was submitted to the ratepayers of Mount Forest on the 16th inst., and was carried almost unanimously, as there were only five nays recorded by the Returning Officer. The township of Normanby will submit their railway by-law after the elections are over; the amount named is $50,000. The market here has been very lively during the past few days, owing to the abundant fall of snow which caused a sudden change in, the locomotion of the farmers—a change which all seem to-enjoy, and no doubt will now make I siness extra brisk until long after the happy times of Christmas and New Year.—It may not be inopportune to mention that farming operations have been carried on in this section in vigorous skyleduring the fall, such as ploughing, fall wheat sowing, fencing, draining, building, etc. The fall wheat looks splendid, and is now covered with snow for winter protection. There is evidence that the big prices now paid out for all kinds of farm produce has even stimulated the laxy drones who claim to be farmers, and has induced them to give to the soil a vigorous kick, so that their sporans may be well lined with "siller

The Victuallers Association in a New Character.

To the Editor of the Mercury.

SIR.—Some days ago the Adverticer published a series of resolutions passed at a late meeting of the Licensed Victuallers Association, but as they studiously omitted one of the resolutions passed at that meeting, and as I am desirous of giving the public all the information concerning its doings that I can, I copy the following from a note which I received on the 19th over the signature of Mr E. Grand, Secretary of the Association, addressed to me. It reads as follows: "At a meeting of the Licensed Victuallers Association, held at Mr. Wald's last evening, it was moved and seconded that on account of the course you saw fit to adopt at the recent election, your name be erased from the books of the society as a member."

They might have saved themselves the trouble, for I had ceased some time ago to be a member of this precious Association, having voluntarily withdrawn myself from it when I found that its objects were not so much to watch over and protect the interests of tavern and saloon keepers, but more of a political organization, banded together to support a man who had by his own written confession become their slave, and had promised to do anything they asked on condition that they would give him their influence and support. Well, we all know what that influence and support amounted to. Simply next to nothing, although such high flown orators as Jas. O'Neil, stumped the Riding in his behalf, and such prejudiced and bigotted whippers-in as John Hewer ran about like a man out of his senses. I joined the Victuallers Association and paid my share to its support until I was asked to pledge myself along with the other tavern keepers of the town that I would give §5 to pay Mr. Leslie's expenses in case he was defeated. To this I decidedly objected, for I refused to be bound down by the society becoming a political organization for that was foreign altogether to its original intentions. I therefore would have nothing to do with it, for I rather chose to conduct my business in the way it best suited me without being

Guelph Dec. 21st, 1867. STILTON CHEESE.--Ingersoll Fac-tory Cheese at John A. Wood's. MUNICIPAL NOMINATION.

THE MAYOR, REEVE & DEPUTY REEVE

The nominations of Mayor, Reeve and Deputy Reeves, for the corporation of the Town of Guelph, took place in the Town Hall to-day (Monday) at 10 a.m. James Hough, Esq., Returning Officer, read the notice convening the meeting, but nearly twenty minutes were allowed to elapse before anything else was done. The attendance was moderately large.

Mr. P. Gow, at the expiration of the period we have mentioned, cane on the platform and said the time had again come round to elect a chief magistrate, a reeve, and two deputy reeves. He had much pleasure in rising to nominate as his successor a gentleman who, he felt certain, would give universal satisfaction to the ratepayers. The position is one of responsibility, and he believed that before any person were elevated to it he should be able to show that he had done the municipality and the State some service—Col. Higriphotham hed least and fatthfully performed his duty in the Council, and had been for a lengthened period an active and energetic member of the Volunteer force. He thought that all parties, without distinction of politics, creed or nationality, would say that the Colonel was well deserving of the position, Indeed it was the prevalent opinion that the honour should have been conferred upon him ere now, but he had declined on the grounds that he could not spare time from his business to attend to the duties of a situation with which were joined at that time the functions of Police Magistrate. He would not make any lengthened remarks about municipal affairs, but he would just again urge the necessity that there was for the Mayor, and Reeve and Deputy Reeves to see that something were done immediately to place the town in a safer situation with regard to fires. He closed by expressing the extreme pleasure he felt in nominating Col. Higinbotham as his successor to the Mayoralty.

Mr Peterson, in the absence of the gentleman who it had been agreed was to the extreme passare he eit in nominating Col. Higinbotham as his successor to the Mayoralty.

Mr Peterson, in the absence of the gentleman who it had been agreed was to second the nomination, had much pleasure in doing what he should have done.

Mr Peterson endorsed the remarks of Mr Gow, and although we might regret that he was retiring, still that regret would be somewhat assuaged by the hope that a gentleman so worthy as Col. Higinbotham would be his successor. If long service can entitle any man to an exalted position, the Col. was certainly deserving, and the manner in which he had served the town in the capacity of Councillor would be a guarantee for his conduct in the future.

Mr. F. W Galbraith nominated Robert Melvin Esq. as Reeve for the current year.

Mr. Geo. Howard seconded the nomina-

Mr. Geo, Howard seconded the nomination, and said that they could get no on better fitted to represent them in the Coun

Mr. John Stephens nominated H. W. Peterson Esq. as Deputy Reeve.

Mr. Holden seconded the nomination.

Mr. John Harvey nominated Richard Mitchell Esq. as Deputy Reeve.

Mr Thos. Holliday seconded the nomination.

Mitchell Esq. as Deputy Reeve.

Mr Thos. Holliday seconded the nomination.

There being no other nominations for the present, the Candidates were then asked to address the ratepayers.

Mr. Higinbotham said that since the appointment of Police Magistrate had relieved the Mayor of the heaviest part of his duties, he had no hesitation in appearing before them as a candidate for that important and responsible office, and could assure them that he should devote all the time necessary in the discharge of his duties and in watching over the interests of the ratepayers. As he had not been in the Council for a year or two, he would leave to others to discuss the subjects that had come under their notice. With regard to the means for putting out fires, the subject was of great importance to every ratepayer, and he should with pleasure support any plan which would be efficient, and not entail too heavy a burden on the town. Something must be done and very soon. The expenditure on roads and bridges this last year may have perhaps been extravagant, and to that matter also he would, if elected, give his attention. The general course he had pursued in the Council in previous years be intended again to follow out. He would act with impartiality towards all parties whatever might be their station or religion. He thanked them for the position which they were about to confer on him—that of the Chief Magistrate of this rising and prosperous town, and he could assure them that he would endeson hin—that of the Chief Magistrate of this rising and prosperous town, and he could assure them that he would endeavour to discharge its duties with a single eye to the interests of the town and the ratepayers generally.

Mr. Melvin thanked the electors for the honour they had done him in again nominating him as a candidate for Reeve.—

honour they had done him in again nom-nating him as a candidate for Reeve.—
He thought that on the whole the Coun-cil had very few sins to answer for, that they had done their duty. As an individ-ual he had tried to do his. The expendi-ture this year was after all not so great when they took everything into account. Last year the town paid for debentures to maturing and interest $7,430. This year they paid for the same $8,342. This in nade a material difference. Complaint had been made by some that the expen-diture on roads and bridges was large.— But they must recollect that some seven or eight years ago a very large sum was diture on roads and bridges was large.—
But they must recollect that some seven or eight years ago a very large sum was expended on necessary repairs, and now a number of the roads and bridges were getting out of repair, and he did not think that for some time to come they could get along with less, if they wished to keep the roads in an efficient state.—
Besides this, they had the additional cost of lighting a much larger number of lamps than in the year before. The members of the Council had every incentive to be as economical as the ratepayers, for their interests were identical with those of the Council. He then touched on the defects of the present Assessment Act, and showed wherein it was defective. As regards the fire department he had always done what he could to render it efficient, and he was willing to adopt any system of water works commensurate with our means. With respect to the County Council he thought we had realised all than we could expect. Of the total amount expended on roads during the year, $12,539 out of the $16,80 had been expended on roads cluding directly into the town, and all this had been done without any log rolling or being obliged to give grants for opening up side-roads. Should he be a gain elected he would endeavour faithfully to de

Mr. Peterson said that the observations made by Mr. Melvin were in the main correct. As one of the representatives of the town he had endesvoured both at the Council Board and in the County Council to promote the interests of the town, and ahould he be elected he would do his best to follow out the same course. They had been able during the year to get the Erin Road extended, and to secure a grant for a line which would form part of the Erin Road extended, and to secure a grant for a line which would form part of the Erin Road. He hoped that during the coming year they would be able to do still more in extending these roads. He made some remarks with regard to the Houses of Refuge, which by the terms of the new Act, Counties were obliged to provide for the homeless and indigent. The present Legislature would require to take the matter up and devise something of a more definite character. He very much questioned whether we required such Houses in Canada yet. As regarded the water works he thought the ratepayers were not so much to blame, because this was mew matter, involving a large expenditure. We required some scheme that would combine a supply of water for suppressing fire and also be collinary purposes. If again elected he would endeavour to do his duty both to the County and Town.

Mr. Chas. Davidson said he would nominate a party for Reeve who had acted last year as Deputy Reeve—Mr. Richard Mitchell. There had been a good deal said about contracts binding as regards the Mayor, but nothing about any other party being required to carry it out. In coming up the stairs to-day, he had seen the iron plates on them marked Mills & Melvin. He considered that Mr. Melvin was to all intents and purposes a contractor. He was sorry to find that the Mayor elect had been brought out for a political purpose, and for placing him there as one of a political party. Such being the case it was time to enquire why these plates were cast at the foundry of the Chairman of the Market House Committee, and it was time for us to know and Mr. Mitchell as Deputy Reeves for the current year.

Mr. Higinbotham, in thanking them for the honor they had done him, said they made a great mistake in not electing Mr. Davidson, Mayor or Reeve or Deputy Reeve, for he combined the whole wisdom of the Council in himself. (Laughter.)

Mr. Melvin was sorry, or rather glad, to say that the only littleness displayed to day was by Mr. Davidson. He (Mr. Melvin) never got a cent for these plates. The work was not done by him, and it only showed how great Mr. Davidson was in small things to bring up such a matter.

was in small things to bring up such a matter.

Mr. Mitchell, in thanking them for the honor they had done him, defended his conduct during the year as Chairman of the Kead and Bridge Committee. He said we had altogether 28 miles of roads and streets, and 12 miles of sidewalks, and it was no easy matter to keep these in repair, considering the vast amount of travel on them. The expenditure would be large for some years, if they did not wish to see the roads and sidewalks get out of repair.

wish to see the roads and sidewalks get out of repair.

Mr. Davidson instanced the case of Mr. James Armstrong, who, while in the Council, was not allowed to do a cents worth of work for it.

Mr. Melvin said he had no interest whatever in the work referred to.

Mr. George Bruce, Jr.—I put in the plates, what have you got to do with them? I could have got them if I liked from Inglis & Co.

Mr. Davidson, yes, but you was employed by the Chairman of the Market House Committee.

Mr. Melvin—He was employed by the Committee.

Mr. Melvin—He was employed by the Committee.

Mr. Bruce—You had better stop Charles you know too much. (Laughter.)

Mr. Higinbotham moved, seconded by Mr. Pirie, that the hearty and cordial thanks of the electors are tendered to P. Gow, Esq., for the ability and courtesy with which he has discharged the duties of Mayor for the past two years.—Carried unanimously.

The Mayor briefly returned thanks. A cordial vote of thanks was also passed to the Returning Officer for his able conduct in presiding, which having been duly acknowledged, the meeting after giving three hearty cheers for the Queen, broke up.

The nominations for councillors in the room of those retiring took place at 12 o'clock.
