—Conductor McAuliffe, of the Grand Trunk, was shrown from his train in Windsor yard the other night. He had one rib broken and received a long gash on his skull. He is 60 years old and the accident may result seriously. He was cosductor of the train that killed Jumbo, the elephant, at St. Thomas. Conductor McAuliffe, of this cicy, is a son of the injured man, and has gone to Windsor.

—George Graham, a Hamilton road hotel-keeper, was before Squire Jarvis on Saturday afternoon charged with assauling Michael Caven. The latter says he asked for some whisky to mix with a glass of heer he was drinking, but Graham refused to let him pour it out himself. The complainant then picked up his money and attempted to walk out without paying for the drink, when Graham threw him against the wall and rapped him severely on the head with a atick. Graham denied the story and said he had witnesses to prove it. He consented to pay the costs of the trial, however, as the complainant's counsel had the information changed to aggravated assault, which would entail greater expense in a higher court.

The Anti-Huckstering Bylaw.

The adjourned hucksters' cases came up at the Police Court yesterday. Ed. Meredith appeared for the defendants and T. G. Meredith appeared for the defendants and T. G. Meredith for the city. The charge against John Eggett, sen., was withdrawn, as John, jun., is the man wanted. Ed. Ross denied being an offender against the bylaw, and said he had neither bought nor solid anything illegally since its passage. His transactions on the market consisted in buying chickens for Gatecliffe, the butcher, for which he received an additional 8 cents a pair for picking and cleaning. The case was adjourned at the request of the city solicitor, who wished to ascertain in the meantime the feeling of the aldertemen in regard to this especial matter.
