has been experienced and previous prices cally maintained. Recondary cattle continue to be sold at disappointing irrecs. Supplies from Ireland have been lairly large, but included many cattle of moderate quality, which have made less money. Fat cows made about last weeks rates.

The made racer more money; inferior slightly cheaper.

Canadian cattle have sold the turn in favor of buyers. The last outgoing ship from the Clirich has left for Montreal, and her return will mark the close of the Canadian trade for the season, which has been a very unsatisfactory one.

Sheep have been shown in average numbers and of exceedingly good quality. A fair demand has been experienced and prices well as made has been experienced and prices well as the been shown in average numbers and of exceedingly good quality. A fair demand has been experienced and prices well as the been shown in average numbers and fexceedingly good quality. A fair demand has been experienced and prices well as the been shown in average numbers and is superienced, and prices continue very high.

For the best class of store sheep an active demand is experienced, and prices continue very high.

For store cattle of good quality trade has been rather better and prices the turn higher. Rougher descriptions continue to be neglected. With Hallow Fair next week, the store cattle season will practically close.

—The majority of the policemen are wearing their overcoats for the fourth winter, though three years has been the limit hitherto. As these garments are used eight months in the year, in every kind of weather, they are pretty well played out and are very shabby in appearance. The men keep the buttons well polished to try to set them off, but that doesn't, "offset" the discomfort of old clother. Perhaps the commissioners are waiting to give them a commissioners are waiting to give them Christmas present.

Christmas present.

—St. Thomas Times: Our Port Stanley correspondent writes: "Superintendent Woolatt and three others of the D. R. and L. E. R. party were here on Saturday evening or at least afternoon. They took a look over the L. and P. S. R. property. A number of the representative men and business men held an interview with Superintendent Woolatt. He proved himself a very genial official. He said he would be ready to do all the business they could get, and after Tuesday night's ratification of the lease by the board would be able to talk more definitely about rates and such like."

St. Andrew's Festival.

The festival of St. Andrew will this year The festival of St. Andrew will this year be celebrated by a dinner on the 30th inst. (St. Andrew's Day) at the City Hotel. At the last meeting of the dinner committee of St. Andrew's Society it was reported that a large number of citizens had promised to join with Scotsmen and their descendants in celebrating the event. The pipers' band will be in attendance, Gaelic and other rongs will be sung, and there will be haggis in plenty for those who like that sert of thing. A most successful celebration is assured.

Early Morning Fire.

About 4 o'clock yesterday, a pedestrian passing in the vicinity of George Collins residence, 212 Mt. Pleasant street, a continuation of Piccadilly, west of Richmond, noticed a glare from Collins' barn. The firemen were soon on the spot, but could not save the barn and contents on account of the headway which the fire had gained. The building, together with a valuable horse belonging to Mr. Joseph Mitcheltree (by whom Mr. Cellins is employed), two buggles, a wagon, a sleigh, two sets of harness, a saddle, and a large quantity of hay were consumed. A shed belonging to Mrs. McLean in an adjoining yard was also destroyad, while a number of buildings in the vicinity were more or less damaged by the fire. Had the alarm been given a few minutes later the destruction of other barns in that vicinity would have been inevitable. The fire is supposed to be of incendiary origin, as when Mr. Cellins retired at 9 o'clock last night everything was inspected. The loss will reach $500, with no insurance.
