Sparkles.

An old tin kettle may not point a moral, but we have frequently known it to adorn a tall.
With a woman wants to be pretty she bangs her hair, and when she wants to be ugly she bangs the door.

A boy that was kept after school for bad orthography excused himself to his parents by saying that he was spell-bound.

"No, sir," said the practical man, "no bric-a-brac on the mantle for me! It's a nuisance. Where's a man to put his feet?"

EVERY man who carries a pistol ought to be obliged by law to wear it in a belt at his side, and have it labelled "emotional insanity."

THE newspapers often print the "last words" of men, but never those of women. The latter would take up too much room and crowd out all the advertisements.

Mrs. HORNSPUN, who has a terrible time every morning to get her young brood out of their beds, says she cannot understand why children are called the rising generation.

An Irish peasant being asked why he permitted his pig to take up quarters with the family, replied: "Why, not? Doesn't the place afford every convenience that a pig can require?"

TWO Irishmen were travelling, when they stopped to examine a guide-post. "Twelve miles to Portsmouth," said one. "Just six miles apiece," said the other. They trudged on, apparently satisfied at the distance.

DUDES who chew the heads of their canes are advised by a medical editor to have the same of soft rubber instead of silver. It makes less wear and tear on the gums, and helps the teeth to come through just as well.

A TEMPERANCE exchange heads a column with a patent medicine advertisement, underneath which is a large glass with a serpent coiled around it, and the motto: "Touch not, taste not, handle not." This is good advice.

AN English nobleman said to a brother peer, who was complaining of the coldness of the House of Lords whenever he addressed it:—"I am becoming accustomed to it, but at first I felt like speaking to grave-stones in a cemetery."

NEVER despise small things. The mosquito that sings sweetly by your bedside, becomes a power when it gets its work in. The little tack that lies so meekly on the floor, may turn in an unguarded moment, and make you howl with pain.

A "WHISTLING BUOY" has been placed in the ocean at Southeast Ledge. That's right, says the "Narristown Herald" there are a number of whistling boys in the town who should also be placed in the ocean—as near the bottom as possible.

An old farmer said to his sons, Boys, don't ever ever spekerlate or wait for something to turn up. Yer might jest as well go and sit down on a stone in the middle of a meadow, with a pail 'twixt yer legs, and wait for a cow to back up to yer to be milked."

A LITTLE girl unconsciously and touchingly testified to the excessive drudgery of her mother's life, when, on being asked, "Is your mamma's hair grey?" she replied: "I don't know. She's too tall for me to see the top of her head, and she never sits down."

If you wish to know whether you are an honest man don't ask your mother, for she will be partial and blind, and don't ask yourself, for you are a very poor judge, but seek the candid opinion of the man to whom you have sold a horse, and you will surely get at the bottom facts of the case.

A MAN fished a rich old gentleman out of a mill pond and refused the offer of two shillings from the rescued miser. "Oh, that is too much!" exclaimed he; "I don't want it;" and he handed back one and elevenpence, saying calmly, as he pocketed the penny, "That's about right."

"Is it becoming to me?" asked she, as she paraded in the costume of one hundred years ago, before the man who is not her lord and master but her husband. "Yes, my dear," said he meekly. "Don't you wish I could dress this way all the time?" "No, my dear," he answered, "but I wish you had lived when that was the style."

A LITTLE girl recently went to see her grandpa in the country. She is fond of milk, but firmly refused to drink any while there, without giving any reason. When she returned, she was asked, "You had nice milk there to drink, didn't you?" "I guess I didn't drink any of that milk!" she indignantly replied. "Do you know where grandpa got it? I saw him squeeze it out of an old cow."

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND.
