A NEW YEAR'S GREETING.

Seated by the cheerful fire side, and looking back over the closing year, we once more wish our many friends, known and unknown, a happy New Year. For five long years some of us have journeyed on together along the path of life. Let us hope that "looking to Jesus" we all may run our course with patience and win our crown.

The "Juvenile Presbyterian" now enters upon its sixth volume, having reached an age its early friends scarce anticipated. When the first number, amid the doubt and hesitation attending a new experiment, was issued, the writer expressed the hope that it "would be the means of good," and he trusts it has been of some little service to our church.

The paper was designed "to present to the children, an object of missionary labour, to be a welcome visitor to the Christian family, and an attractive journal to the Sabbath School." These objects have been hitherto and will be still kept in view. The Juvenile Mission finds its appropriate organ in this little paper, which tells of the orphans in India, and of the Canadian School in Calcutta, to many a child in quiet nooks in this great new country, and encou-
