

achievement of self-government, the resolution of land claims, the clarification of treaties, the development of reserve economies, Indian control of Indian education and the revival and protection of indigenous languages and culture.

We are making progress but we have a lot of work to do and we are determined to do it.

Madam Chairman, finally, I would like to inform you that my delegation will be depositing several documents outlining Canada's record respecting indigenous people. We expect that these will be helpful to the Working Group in the course of your deliberations. Thank you.