

department, the Canadian Museum of Civilization, the Canadian Centre for Architecture, the National Gallery of Canada and the Canada Council as well as the participants in the various committees and competitions. Such partnerships, including those involving the private sector, have proved to be highly effective and should be reinforced so as to ensure greater international exposure of Canadian accomplishments.

Thank you.