Marshall, Spader & Co. wired J. G. Beaty, King Edward Hotel, at the close of the market:

Wheat—There was a temporary dip in wheat prices at the outset because of fine rains thruout the wlater and spring wheat territory, the large delivery, over 2,000,000 bush, on May contracts, and tail end liquidetion by scattered commission house longs in May wheat. The wheat delivered went into strong hands. Some of the ele-vator and cash firms took in a part of what the other elevators sent out. Several large commission concerns took in wheat for customers. It is claimed that only a small customers. It is claimed that only a small portion of the cash wheat was taken in for secount of country millers. The small deliveries meanwhite at Minneapolis, 3,000,000 hushels, were taken in by millers and the market there advanced. The market also developed increasing strength, hears were timid about hammering it, and it become more responsive to bullish than to bearish news. The latter included large arrivals at Winnipeg, where wheat is going forward on May shipping sales undisturbed by the strike.

Ing forward on May shipping sales undisturbed by the strike.

Ennis & Stoppani wired to J. L. Mitchell, McKinnon Bullding:

Wheat—Despite the large deliveries of cars of wheat the market opened a shade higher and under the influence of buying by shorts, who were disappointed at the action of the market, early prices advanced still further. The demand for May, however, was not of a very stable character and it gradually receded to a half cent discount under July and closed at about the opening prices. Crop news was excellent, the rains in district where needed having removed the probability of the cry of drought.

Corn-Ruled strong on light offerings and corn—Ruled strong on light otherings and big demand. All local traders were arrayed on the bull side.

Oats—Was steady at fair advance, with fair offerings. Armour and elevator crowd were good buyers.

Provisions—Steady and a shade higher, with good demand by packers.

Mr. Gooderham agreed to have his loan refunded out of these commissions as they were paid. In 1899 a resolution was passed, giving Mr. Gooderham, who was resident, an honorarium of $5000 a year, instead of $2000, in order to pay a debt to Mr. Gooderham. "The witness then fold how the debt which Mr. Gooderham advanced in the carly days of the company, it had advanced to its agents and help develop the agencies. These had not proven successful, and the company had taken over the accounts. There was a large business done and a large impairment of capital. The shareholders raised $100.000 by paying a bonus on their shares, and the directors paid over $30,000 themselves.

"Then there was no truth in the figment about these being commuted commissions to the extent of $30,000?"
