WHOLESALE FRUIT AND VEGETABLES

Tomatoes were the feature on the wholesale fruit market yesterday. They were shipped in heavily and declined, and it was not a slight decline, either, the bottom simply falling out of the market. the morning they were rather a slow sale at 75c to $1 per 11-quart basket, but in the afternoon they dropped still lower, selling at 50c to 75c per 11-quart basket. Raspberries.

Raspberries were quite scarce, only one or two crates being shipped in in the morning, and only a very few in the afternoon. They advanced in price, selling at 20c to 22c per box.

Thimbleberries.
Thimbleberries were only shipped in lightly also, and they, too, were quite firm, at 20c per box.

Cherries.
The supply of cherries was also quite small, so the price was firm at $1.40 to $1.50 per 11-quart basket, and 75c to 80c per six-quart basket.

Currants.

per six-quart basket.

Currants.

Black currants mostly sold at $2 per 11-quart basket, a few of rather poor quality selling at $1.75.

The red ones were very scarce, and sold at 75c per 11-quart basket, and $1 to $1.25 per 11-quart basket.

Blueberries.

Blueberries were more plentiful, and kept about stationary in price at $1.25 to $1.75 per 11-quart basket, an odd one of extra choice quality bringing $2.

Plums.

Plums also sold at practically unchanged prices, bringing from 75c to 90c per 11-quart flat basket, and 90c to $1.10 per 11-quart leno basket, some extra choice ones in well-filled 11-quart lenos bringing $1.25; also 65c to 75c per six-quart leno.

Cantaloupes.

bringing $1.25; also 65c to 75c per sixquart leno.

Cantaloupes.

Canadian cantaloupe shipments are generally increasing, and they now sell at 75c to $1 per 11-quart basket.

Peaches.

Peaches brought from 20c per sixquart flat basket to 50c to 75c per sixquart leno, and 50c to $1 per 11-quart
leno, according to quality, none of them being especially choice.

Apples.

Apples sold well, the 11-quart flats bringing from 60c to $0c, and 11-quart lenos from 30c to $1, while the six-quarts sold at 40c to 45c.

Pears were only shipped in in very small lots, and principally sold at 75c per 11-quart basket, and 45c per six-quart
basket.

FIVE VEINS FOUND ON BILSKY PROPERTY

Diamond Drills Prospecting Claim at Depth.

Highly encouraging results have been obtained in the work on the Bilksy claim by the Apex to date. According to Mr. A. M. Bilsky, who is managing director of the Apex, the surface operations on the Bilsky claim have revealed five distinct veins varying in width up to twenty feet. The veins all lie east and west across the property. Samples from these veins have been assayed which re-turn a fair grade of ore running around $12 to the ton. The surface showings, however gratifying in themselves, are not sufficient, and in order to test the values Sapper T. Palin, who was reported wounded some time ago, has since died of his injuries. He went overseas in October, 1916, with a Toronto Battation commanded by Col. Levesconte, and has been in the Levesconte and has been in the Le five degrees, so that all five veins will be cut, tho at different depths, providing they persist. If the drills sub-stantiate at depth, the promise of the

AT WHELPDALE CLAIMS

It is reported that the Whelpdale Mines are making very satisfactory progress, with gratifying results. Active development was commenced or this property about June 1, when four veins had been located. Trenching was commenced sunk, with the result that eight more promising veins were discovered averaging in width from three fourteen feet and giving assays of sufficient value to warrant the most aggressive development. Four of these veins have been traced for nearly half a mile on the property.

A suitable plant has recently been installed to meet all requirements for the present, and with a night and day crew working a shaft is being rapidly sunk to the hundred-foot level. The formation of these weens is said to be identical in appearance to that of the Hollinger and the McIntyre, and on account of its close proximity to these great producers Whelpdale development will watched for results.
