has been much discussion over the cost of this largely ornamental office week of the second of the second week of the second of the second of the formation of a series of commons for the formation of a series of commons for the formation of a series of commissions conducting the war. The measures of the mem government for the control of food supples will be preceded by one for the second of the liquor trade, according to well-informed sources. About a prohibition of the consumption of spirits, except medicinally, and restriction on the beer trade are expected. The whole resources of the spirit state control early in the new year and the accumulated stocks diverted. and the accumulated stocks diverted to other purposes than drink. The distillation of whiskey and gin will be prohibited.

French Surprise Teutons by Attack in Champagne-Foe Becomes Restless. Assaulting Allies in Vesges.

Special Cable to The Toronto World. London, Dec. 10.—Various points behind the German line were heavily bombarded by the British today in retaliation for the same practice by the Germans. South of the Ancre intermittent hostile shelling prevailed. Much trench-mortar activity has been the feature about Ypres. Trench raids were made by the British in the region north of Arras and a ma-raids were made by the British in the region north of Arras and a ma-chine gun was cartured. In Champagne the French made a surprise attack on the Germans near the Butte de Mesnil. They destroyed mine galleries. The Germans in the Vosges attacked, in a surprise affair, one of the French trenches about Col Sainte Marie, in the Vosges, and they were repulsed. French aviators bombarded last night German stations and military establish-ments at Matigny, Sanet and Mons-en-Chaussee.

What is now going on in the Carpathians and in Rumania is a main Russian offensive of slow progression in the Carpathians, and a Rumanian withdrawal of the left wing, now about complete, because that wing was thrust out too far in advance of the right wing and the centre to stand the strain of attack. The Russo-Rumanian front facing towards Budapest is now about straight and the regiring Rumanians are beginning to move forward in line with the advancing Russians in the mountains. The allies probably plan to hold the enemy and to prévent him from attacking the Serbians and the rest of the allies before Salonica, as well as to recover western Wallachia.

In the Balkans the chief proceeding is cannonading. Owing to the prospect of more balkans the chief proceeding is cannonading. Owing to the pros-pect of more trouble with Greece Gen. He offered, at an audience with the British and the Russian ministers, to withdraw two regiments from Thessaly and to entrust the guarding of the Corinth Canal and the Chalois bridge to French destroyers. His majesty also declared that he entertains no hostile intentions. This change in attitude betrays the probable arrival of a message from the kalser that he is not yet able to help Constantine and advising him to continue his present method of assisting Germany as long as the allies will allow him. present method of assisting Germany as long as the allies will allow him.

On the British front these days cannonading by day and extremely active trench raiding by night are the features. Where one trench raid is mentioned in the official report, one hundred, it seems, are carried out. The trench-mortars also go in for heavy work. In brief, the object is to worry the thermany without consing and the Common for heavy with trench-mortars also go in for heavy work. In brief, the object is to worry the Germans without ceasing and the Germans for peace will dig deeper and deeper into the ground, in spite of strenuous orders to the contrary from their chiefs. The result is that when the time comes for storming the foe's posi-tions, the Tentons will be so low down in the contribut their will be so low down in the contribution will be so low down in the contribution will be so low down in the contribution. there is the result is that when the time comes for storming the foe's posi-tions, the Teutons will be so low down in the earth that they will be unable to come up before being surrounded and taken prisoner. In fact this has been the experience of the Germans on the Somme.

Some activity on the part of both the French and the German infantry Some activity on the part of both the French and the German infantry is being reported from the Vosges these days. This is the beginning of the usual winter fighting in this region. The Germans are afraid of a French advance thru Alsace, across the Rhine, and the prospects of such action compels them to immobilize large forces in the lost French provinces.
