Call First Three Classes At Same Time

Government Accepts Liberal Amendment to Conscription Bill—Strong Criticism of Latest Clause

Ottawa, July 13.—(Special)—Just before adjournment at 1 o'clock this morning Hon. Mr. Meighen announced that the proposal, suggested by Hon. Mr. Graham and E. W. Nesbitt and supported by many members at yesterday's sitting, to call out the first three classes together for the first draft had been adopted by the government. This includes all single men and widowers without dependents, from the ages of 21 to 34, inclusive.

The government first proposed to call only the first class, from 21 to 24, inclusive. The government first proposed to call only the first class, from 21 to 24, inclusive. The government first proposed to call only the first class, from 21 to 24, inclusive.

The government exercised diplomacy in taking the handling of the clauses out of the hands of Hon. Arthur Meighen, the solicitor-general, whose manner is inclined to be dogmatic and irritating, and placing the responsibility in the hands of the more persuasive minister of justice, Hon. C. J. Doherty, who was largely responsible for the measure made.

The premier also rendered his assistance during the long night sitting. There were some fireworks. Mr. Oliver described the clause as a law intended to terrorize the people and "force a conscription upon a disfranchised public."

Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux described it as "a political measure passed by a moribund government."

Mr. Macdonald spoke of it as a political attempt to destroy free discussion and to take away the report of legitimate criticism of those entrusted with the conduct of public affairs.

Hon. Mr. Doherty said the provisions were necessary by reason of the fact that certain persons were already "boasting of their intention to hinder the operation of the act and asserting how easily it would be made inoperative."

Quebec Member's Threat. Ernest Lapointe (Kamouraska) pointed out that the bill was to make the issue of a general election and the provisions seemed to be an attempt to prevent opponents of the bill presenting their case to the electors. When the British conscription bill was before the British house a member of the government said it would be a national crime and folly to apply it to Ireland at the present juncture. He believed that the attempt of a moribund government to impose conscription on Canada without a mandate from the people was a folly and a national crime, "and," added Mr. Lapointe, "I intend to say so to my electors."

"Then you'll go to jail," commented Mr. Robb.

"The question of press censorship and the handling of newspapers occasioned prolonged discussion. Mr. Oliver persisted that it was a "censorship against criticism of the government policy and administration which was the right and proper business of every patriotic newspaper published in the country."

The government had already given evidence of partisanship of its censorship administration by suppressing a paper at St. John's and permitting a Montreal paper carrying continuous articles of a scurrilous character to proceed unmolested.

"To what paper does the honorable member allude?" asked Mr. Morphy.

"The paper to which I allude is Le Devoir," replied Mr. Oliver, "which, to my mind, has published articles of a scurrilous tendency, and is the paper which was largely responsible for the return of the present government at the last general election. One notes the discrimination in the manner in which the St. John's paper was suppressed and the failure to suppress the paper."

which was largely responsible for the election of this government." George H. Boivin (Shefford) suggested that the press censorship involved in the bill be in the hands of the judges of the supreme court, while D. D. MacKenzie (Cape Breton) suggested that no proceedings against any person or paper under the provisions of the bill be permitted without the consent of the minister of justice. The premier promised to take both suggestions under advisement.

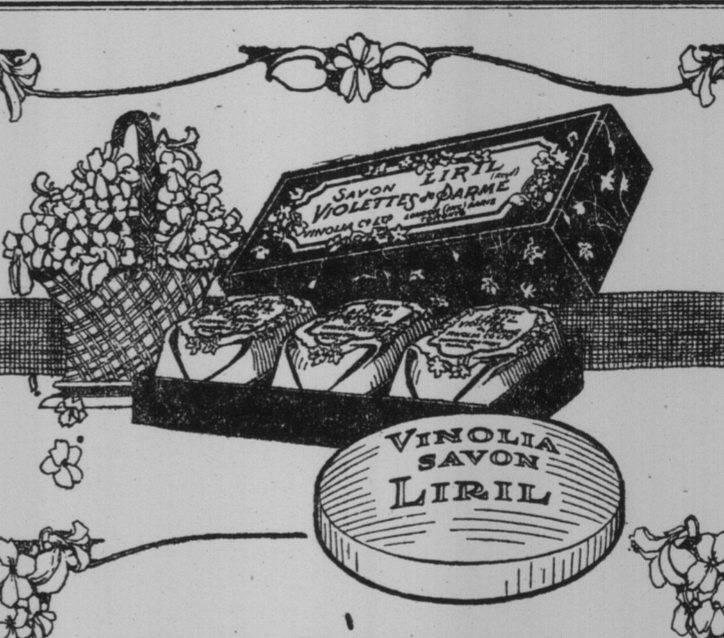

SECRETARY FOR INDIA
RESIGNS HIS OFFICE
London, July 12.—J. Austen Chamberlain, secretary for India, has resigned as a result of the revelations of the commission which recently reported after investigation of the first British Mesopotamian expedition.

Mr. Chamberlain was one of the group of civil and military officials on which fell the most scathing criticism in the report of the commission.

The report found that the India office in London was responsible for the policy pursued, although the report attaches less blame to Mr. Chamberlain's part in the enterprise than to that of the others concerned.

It was announced yesterday that all the officers involved had ceased to exercise any function in connection with the government and that a judicial inquiry into their conduct would be made.

What Is 'Well-Favoured'?

"Leah was tender eyed, but Rachel was beautiful and well-favoured."

Bacon says "Beauty of feature is greater than beauty of favour."

But as a matter of fact, most people find the fine complexion (beauty of favour), the more attractive. It means health and a body sweetly clean.

How splendid to think that anyone may have beauty of favour!

The face exposed to dust of every day life should be cleansed with a pure soap.

The right Soap should dissolve readily and have creamy, soothing softness, owing to rich oils, while strong enough to clear off grime.

VINOLIA LIRIL SOAP

There is one Soap which proves perfect for daily toilet use and is made entirely from pure, sweet Vegetable Oils which are side to a clean and beautiful complexion.

It is the moderately priced Vinolia Liril sweetly scented with Violette de Parme.
