GOOD PICTURE AT QUEEN SQUARE

Katherine MacDonald at Best in "Her Social Value."

Katherine MacDonald has hit the bull's-eye once more. The latest production of this remarkable star, "Her Social Value," began a two day engagement at Queen Square theatre yesterday, and proved to be a rare entertainment. It is a First National picture.

It is a delight to watch the performance of this actress on the screen, for she has such a deft touch in delineating character that her work cannot be classified other than as art. Each succeeding picture shows an improvement in her histrionic ability, and it is small wonder that no other star outranks her in popularity.

"Her Social Value" is that perfect combination of a good story and good acting, in addition to masterly direction. From the first scene to the unexpected ending the story moves forward smoothly and logically, holding the suspense of the spectator at a white heat until the denouement is reached. It is pictures such as this that increase the ranks of the motion picture fans by the hundred and thousand.

The interest of the spectator is heightened by the inclusion of a number of novel features in the production of this story, and all in all it is one of the most satisfactory features we have beheld in a long time.

An adequate cast supports Miss MacDonald, including such celebrities of the screen as Roy Stuart, Bertram Grassby, Betty Ross Clarke, Winter Hall, Joseph Girard, Lillian Rich, Vincent Hamilton, Helen Raymond and Violet Phillips. Little Arthur Gibson, who is but one year old, is also in the cast and is bound to create a following of his own.

The manager of the Queen Square theatre is to be congratulated for booking pictures such as "Her Social Value" and others in which this talented star appears. Miss MacDonald is a favorite with the patrons of the theatre, judging from the numbers which visited it yesterday.

Shown for the last three times today.
